Cyprus Peace Talks Collapse

Britain's Threat To Use Military Draws Defiance

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—Britain announced tonight the collapse of negotiations to bring peace to troubled Cyprus.

And a threat by Prime Minister Eden's government to use its military might to enforce law and order on the eastern Mediterranean island colony drew immediate defiance from Cypriot leaders.

"We shall in no circumstances strike the flag of self determination," Archbishop Makarios, leader of the island's Union-with-Greece movement, told a news conference at Nicosia.

"We shall struggle to the last, resisting passively illegal sovereignty over the island."

"Intransigence" Charged

Makarios accused British representatives at the negotiations of intransigence and of showing no understanding of the Greek Cypriot point of view.

The breakdown of the talks was announced to the House of Commons here by Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd.

He said Britain had offered the Cypriots a wide measure of self-government but made it clear the Eden government could not accept all of the demands presented by Makarios, American - educated leader of the 400,000 Greek-speaking residents who are demanding the right of self-determination leading to eventual union with Greece.

50,000 Troops On Cyprus

"As to the future," Lennox-Boyd said, "the first and most important duty is to restore law and order. For this we have the resolution and the force—and it will be done."

Britain has about 50,000 troops on Cyprus, headquarters of its Middle East air and land forces.

Lennox-Boyd blamed Archbishop Makarios for collapse of the five-month-old negotiations. He said the archbishop greeted each new British concession with new difficulties. He charged bitterly that the Greek Orthodox Church leader encouraged violence on the island "by his failure to condemn" it.

SEATO Strategy Sessions Begin

KARACHI, Pakistan, March 5 (AP)—Foreign ministers of the eight SEATO nations today informally threshed over suggestions for countering Russia's economic drive into Southeast Asia.

Although no details of the discussions were disclosed, statements by two of the leaders—U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau—gave some indication of the direction any new moves might take.

The delegates gathered here on the eve of the opening of the annual three-day meeting of what has become known as the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. The conference is scheduled to work out a program to meet the current Soviet peace drive.

Speaking privately to both American and Pakistan employes of the U.S. Embassy and other agencies here, Dulles warned that Moscow's new foreign policy might contain less violence but more guile. This appeared to forecast a greater emphasis in SEATO on counter-subversion measures.

Dulles credited the ring of collective security arrangements built by the free countries with forcing Russia to adopt a policy of less open violence and intolerance.

Pineau said SEATO must recognize that social and economic problems, as well as military requirements, must be solved.

Ike, Kefauver Enter Maryland Primary Races

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) were entered today as candidates in the May 7 Maryland presidential primaries.

Eisenhower's papers were filed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, who nominated the President in the 1952 Republican National Convention. It was the tenth primary in which the Eisenhower's name was entered.

Kefauver's entry forms for the Democratic race were brought from Washington by William A. Roberts, treasurer of his campaign. This became the eighth primary entered by Kefauver.

Demos Seek "Favorite Son"

News of his filing touched off a flurry of activity by some state Democratic leaders hoping to find a Marylander to run against him as a "favorite son" candidate.

This was designed to withhold Maryland's 18 votes in the national party convention from any of the top candidates, leaving the state's delegation free to bargain. Under state law the primary winner must be supported by the delegation as long as he has a reasonable chance of being nominated.

Kefauver won the 1952 Maryland primary while running against an "uninstructed delegation" slot on the ballot.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, Democratic national committeeman, told Kefauver last fall Maryland leaders preferred to remain uncommitted. He made the same statement to representatives of Adlai Stevenson and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Deadline Passes

D'Alesandro was reported among those looking for a home-grown candidate to file against Kefauver before the deadline at midnight tonight.

In submitting the candidate's certificate, $270 filing fee and loyalty affidavit on behalf of Eisenhower, McKeldin took over from Thomas E. Stephens, the President's former appointment secretary, who brought them to Annapolis.

Iowa Lawyer Did Not Relay Offer To Solon

Incident Slipped His Mind, Lobbyist Tells Special Committee

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—An Iowa lawyer swore today that lawyer-lobbyist John M. Neff offered $2,500 for Sen. Hickenlooper's vote in favor of the natural gas bill.

Wendell T. Edson of Storm Lake, Iowa, told a special Senate committee that Neff visited him last fall as a representative of the Superior Oil Co. of California and offered to drop the money in Hickenlooper's campaign kitty if the Iowa Republican voted for the bill.

Neff, called back before the investigators, acknowledged that Edson's story was essentially correct.

"I would say from his point of view it was substantially true," Neff said.

Edson testified he considered the offer "a hot potato" and that he never told Hickenlooper about it. The inquiry has brought out that no money was ever contributed by Neff to Hickenlooper's campaign fund.

Senator Voted For Bill

Hickenlooper voted for the gas bill, a controversial measure to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal price control.

When the legislation reached the White House last month, however, President Eisenhower vetoed it with a slap at the "arrogance" and "highly questionable activities" of some of its advocates.

Neff was confronted today with his prior testimony that, as far as he could recall, he had told the committee about "every offer... every undertaking" in connection with the gas bill. Charles W. Steadman, committee counsel, asked him why he hadn't mentioned his visit to Edson.

"I had not thought of the Storm Lake incident," the Lexington, Neb., lawyer, replied.

Probe Apparently At End

Neff said he couldn't recall any other "incidents" of that nature about which he has not already told the senators. He added that he has not been employed by anyone except Superior Oil and "Mr. Keck" in connection with the gas bill.

On that note, the special committee's inquiry apparently ended. Chairman George (D-Ga) announced that as far as he now knows there will be no further public hearings.

The four-man committee was appointed by the Senate last month to investigate Neff's offer of $2,500 for the campaign fund of Sen. Case (R-SD) during the debate on the gas bill. Case rejected the offer and voted against the measure.

Ike Will Be Entered In Indiana Primary

INDIANAPOLIS, March 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower's name will be formally entered tomorrow in Indiana's new presidential preference primary May 8, Gov. George N. Craig said late today.

Craig said he and Republican State Chairman Alvin C. Cast will take the filing petition to Secretary of State Crawford F. Parker's office and Craig will sign it as the President's representative.

No other candidate in either party has indicated intention to enter the Indiana primary, presenting the strong possibility of a no-contest vote. The filing period closes March 29.

Massachusetts' Rep. Lane Indicted For Tax Evasion

BOSTON, March 5 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted veteran Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass) on charges he and his wife, filing jointly, evaded $38,542 in income taxes from 1949 through 1951. His wife was not indicted.

The indictment charged that the 57-year-old lawyer, a congressman since 1941, evaded $18,532.44 in income taxes in 1949, $9,485.83 in 1950 and $10,524.53 in 1951 by failing to report true income.

Lane's Washington office said he would have no comment.

Federal Judge Charles E. Wyzanski warned the 23 grand jurors that "when you gave your oath you were reminded that grand jury proceedings were secret," and he warned newsmen:

"This court does not intend to allow a repetition of what happened in the U.S. court to Delaney (Denis J. Delaney, former collector of internal revenue at Boston, who won a new trial on tax evasion charges because of undue publicity).

"The press is free to print the indictment but I warn if it prejudices a fair trial they will be held responsible."

Lane and Delaney, who was reconvicted in a second trial, are cousins.

U. S. Atty. Anthony Julian said Lane would not be arraigned "until later in the week."

The 57-year-old Lane, who has never been defeated in a political campaign, was elected to Congress in 1941, succeeding Lawrence J. Connery of Lynn. Previously he had served as a state representative from 1927 to 1939 and as state senator from 1939 to 1941.

State Takes Over Baltimore Transit Company

On the left is Frank Baummer, president of the union which has been on strike for 36 days, and on the right is Dale W. Barratt, president of the Baltimore Transit Co. McKeldin acted under a three-day-old Maryland law. Union officials indicated service should be restored within 48 hours. Barratt said full service will be resumed at 3 a. m. Friday. (AP Photofax)

Court Extends Segregation Ban To Universities

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The Supreme Court today extended to tax-supported colleges and universities its ban on racial segregation in public schools.

It did so without a spoken word and in a manner usually reserved for routine cases.

The court's brief order said, in effect, the historic doctrine of "separate but equal" also is dead in the field of higher education supported by taxpayers.

It was included in a three-page list of orders, mostly in rather ordinary cases, which was made public by the court's clerk.

As in its May 17, 1954, decision striking down segregation of Negro pupils in public schools, the court's action today was unanimous.

Lower Court Upheld

Other unanimous decisions have outlawed segregation in public parks, playgrounds and golf courses.

Affirmed in 13 words was a decision by a special three-judge federal court in Greensboro, N.C., which ordered three Negroes admitted to the University of North Carolina.

The lower court rejected as "without merit" the contention of university officials that the 1954 decision did not apply in colleges and universities.

The three-judge court said the Supreme Court's 1954 decision was limited to the facts before it, "but the reasoning on which the decision was based is as applicable to schools of higher education as to schools on the lower level."

Reversal Requested

University officials, in appealing from the ruling, asked the Supreme Court to reverse itself and wipe out its original segregation ruling "because it is not within the power and authority of this court to amend the Constitution; that power is given only to the people and their elected representatives."

Counsel for the three Negroes involved in the litigation asked the high court in a brief to affirm the decision of the special court at once without the customary hearing of arguments. This the court did, saying: "The motion to affirm is granted and the judgment is affirmed."

Mutual Gives Demos Free Broadcast Time

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—The Mutual Broadcasting System reversed itself today and gave free air time to the Democratic party to reply to President Eisenhower's speech of last week announcing he would seek a second term.

It was the only radio or television network to do so. Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) was chosen as the Democratic spokesman to make the reply.

Mutual and the other outlets turned down the original Democratic request for equal radio-TV time to answer the President. Mutual said it still doesn't feel any legal obligation to grant the time. But it said it now is willing to do so "because of public service considerations."

Syrian Guns Bring Down Israeli Plane

Incident Adds To Fear Of General War

JERUSALEM, March 5 (AP)—Syrian gunfire downed an Israeli plane today in the tense Galilee region.

On other sides Israeli and Jordan forces clashed briefly in the southern Negeb and there were exchanges of Israeli-Egyptian gunfire.

Fears again mounted over possibility of general Arab-Israeli warfare.

Israeli officials said the plane was machine-gunned while flying over its own territory in upper Galilee. They said the pilot was wounded and the plane made an emergency landing on the Israeli side.

A Damascus communique said Syrian antiaircraft guns opened fire on the Israeli plane when it made a low level flight over Syrian territory.

The gunfire drove the Israeli plane back to its own territory, where it landed "leaving a trail of smoke behind," the Syrian communique added.

It was the second incident in two days in that area. Yesterday three Israeli policemen were killed and a fourth wounded in an Israeli clash on the northeast shore of the sSea of Galilee.

The incidents brought fear of war to a new pitch because they followed close on the heels of the firing of Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb as British commander of the Arab Legion—Jordan's armed force. Jordan said King Hussein dismissed Glubb because he defied orders to reorganize the legion to meet the threat of an Israeli attack.

The Jordan-Israel clash was the first reported since the firing of Glubb.

An Israeli statement said an Israeli patrol exchanged fire with a group of Jordanians who penetrated into Israel near the Biblical city of Lachish, now called Tell Ed Duweir. This is about 25 miles southwest of Jerusalem near the edge of the Negeb Desert.

The Israelis forced the Jordanians to retreat, the Israeli account said. It made no mention of casualties.

Westinghouse, Striking Union Delay Decisions

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Both the company and union involved in the 141-day Westinghouse strike tonight delayed their decisions on a government package plan for settling the long dispute.

Federal mediators who drafted the plan spent five hours with company and union representatives answering questions about it, then arranged to meet for an hour with the union alone.

James B. Carey, president of the striking International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), was reported objecting in the closed sessions to at least some phases of the settlement proposal.

The plan has not been made public, but some details have leaked out. It includes a proposal that the company reinstate 59 strikers fired for alleged violence, with arbitrators to decide whether 36 other should be restored to their jobs.

Carey reportedly insisted that the remaining 36 also be reinstated without arbitration. Both sides were to meet again with the mediators tomorrow morning.

Mediators were said to feel that while there were some roadblocks to acceptance of the plan, they could be overcome.

Robert D. Blasier, company vice president and chief management negotiator, was reported balking at any change in the plan's terms and insisting that company and union should either accept or reject the entire package deal.

A meeting of the union's 75-man Westinghouse Conference Board, summoned to consider the plan, was postponed from tonight until tomorrow.

Sears Sales Set Record

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP) — Sears, Roebuck and Co. today reported February sales totaled $217,627,711, a new record for the month and up 14.2 per cent from sales of $190,575,995 in February, 1955.

Radioactive Material Missing After Blaze

TORONTO, March 5 (AP) — Some radioactive material is missing after a fire in the University of Toronto mining building last night.

The material, polonium, could be a "very serious hazard," university officials warned. It emits alpha rays. About a tenth of the university's supply is unaccounted for.

Officials feel sure that all the missing material is scattered in the wreckage.

Thirty firemen who fought the blaze were checked afterward for radiation.

The fire broke out after university research workers left. Damage was estimated at $8,000.

BTC Taken Over By State; Service To Resume Soon

BALTIMORE, March 5 (AP)—Gov. Theodore McKeldin, playing his last card in an attempt to get streetcars and buses running here after 36 days of idleness, today seized the Baltimore Transit Co.

Moments later an official of the AFL-CIO union representing the company's 2,000 striking employes said service should be resumed within 48 hours.

McKeldin had announced he would take over the company under a three-day-old Maryland law unless its contract dispute with the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes were settled.

Strike "Intolerable"

He had described the strike, which deprived the metropolitan Baltimore area and its 1,200,000 residents of their chief means of public transportation, "intolerable."

The union had asked for a 25-cent hourly increase, then lowered this to 10 cents now and 10 cents more next July. The company's top offer was 18 cents spread over three years, but this offer was withdrawn after the union failed to accept it by the Feb. 26 deadline by the BTC.

Under the seizure law enacted by the Legislature last Thursday—the last day of its 1956 session—and signed by McKeldin on Friday, the state takes over operation of the company's facilities.

Allen Named Administrator

McKeldin named Joseph Allen, chairman of the State Tax commission, as the "emergency utility administrator" to operate the BTC.

Employes who refuse to work for the state can be fired. Otherwise, they return under provisions of the old contract, which gave them an average hourly wage of $1.90.

Frank P. Baummer, president of the union local, said he will urge workers at a meeting tomorrow to return to their jobs. Baummer said about two days will be necessary to get the buses and streetcars back in operating shape.

Dale W. Barratt, president of the transit company, said later full service will be resumed at 3 a.m. Friday.

Kefauver Reports Russia Has 'Supersonic Bomber'

ROCHESTER, N. H., March 5 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said tonight Russia is now producing a "supersonic bomber" which "can out-run the fighters now available."

"We have no such bomber even on the drawing boards as far as I am aware," the Democratic presidential contender declared as he wound up a five-day barnstorming campaign for votes in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary a week from tomorrow.

Kefauver charged that President Eisenhower's "failure" to make decisions and the Republican administration's desire for a balanced budget in this election year has enabled the Soviet Union to surpass this nation by a better than 4-1 margin in production of supersonic fighters.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a dinner meeting of his supporters here, Kefauver said:

"The Soviet Union is far in the lead of the United States in the production of supersonic fighters—fighters designed to bring down bombers carrying atomic and nuclear weapons. It is estimated by one source that at the end of the current year the Soviet Union will have produced as many as 8,000 of these supersonic fighters.

"Unless I am wrongly informed, the Soviet Union at the end of this year will have available four times as many of these supersonic fighters as we will have available at the end of next year.

"As far as a better plane than the F100 is concerned—and the F100 is our best supersonic fighter—we have not moved beyond designs on the drawing boards."

Top Military Commanders In Puerto Rico

Intensive Restudy Of Nation's Defense Strategy Under Way

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—America's top military commanders have assembled secretly in Puerto Rico for an intensive "new look" at this country's defense strategy in the light of changing world conditions.

News that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had left for a week-long huddle was confirmed tonight by the Pentagon.

A spokesman there said the military chiefs flew to a secluded rendezvous in Puerto Rico last Saturday. Confirmation of the meeting came after reporters noted the absence of the chiefs and began asking questions.

The meeting, the first of its kind to be held in such secrecy, is taking place at Ramey Air Force Base at the northwestern tip of Puerto Rico, a commonwealth associated with the United States. The sessions are under the chairmanship of Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs.

Wilson Ordered Restudy

Presumably the whole range of U. S. military forces, their size and disposition, and all manner of new atomic age weapon developments are under resurvey.

Secretary of Defense Wilson disclosed last Jan. 12 that he had ordered the new study. He said then that defense planning must be on a continuing long-range basis, "characterized by a stability which is not materially disturbed by every propaganda effort of unfriendly nations or wishful thinking on the part of ourselves or our allies."

There have been sharp complaints by some Congress members that this country's defense efforts are lagging, particularly in the development of new missiles and high speed planes. The Senate Armed Services Committee has set up a special subcommittee to look into the situation.

The Defense Department said, in response to inquiries, that the military chiefs left "with the approval of Defense Secretary Wilson."

"Whole Flock Of Problems"

It said that at Ramey Field "they will be able to devote their full time for this week without interruption to Joint Chiefs of Staff business."

A spokesman said that the military "new look" is not the "exclusive" reason for the secret departure and secluded conference of the chiefs. He said there is a "whole flock of problems," that the military strategists have to consider.

Wilson told the Senate Armed Services Committee in a statement on Jan. 12 that he was requesting the Joint Chiefs and the military departments to make a "complete and careful evaluation of the size, nature and composition of forces likely to be required for the nation's security during the next three years."

Wilson said also that this "longer range study" would provide a sound basis for planning future buying of weapons and other military programs.

Mideast Peace Quest Renewed

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — The United States, Britain and France called another meeting for tomorrow in their search for ways of preserving the Palestine truce.

New upheavals in the Middle East added to the urgency.

The meeting, scheduled for 4 p.m. at the State Department, was disclosed by Lincoln White, department press officer. He told his news conference it will be a continuation of "similar meetings held from time to time to discuss the situation in the Middle East."

This was the background for the session:

1. American optimism over prospects for a Middle East settlement was on the wane.

2. Prime Minister Eden ordered the recall of all 15 senior British officers in Jordan in reaction to Jordan's ouster of Lt. Gen. John Glubb as head of Jordan's Arab Legion.

3. New border clashes were reported between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

4. High level U. S.-British-French consultation on the question of shipping French jet fighters to Israel was indefinitely postponed.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower's name will be formally entered tomorrow in Indiana's new presidential preference primary May 8, Gov. George N. Craig said late today.

Craig said he and Republican State Chairman Alvin C. Cast will take the filing petition to Secretary of State Crawford F. Parker's office and Craig will sign it as the President's representative.

No other candidate in either party has indicated intention to enter the Indiana primary, presenting the strong possibility of a no-contest vote. The filing period closes March 29.

Mutual Gives Demos Free Broadcast Time

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—The Mutual Broadcasting System reversed itself today and gave free air time to the Democratic party to reply to President Eisenhower's speech of last week announcing he would seek a second term.

It was the only radio or television network to do so. Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) was chosen as the Democratic spokesman to make the reply.

Mutual and the other outlets turned down the original Democratic request for equal radio-TV time to answer the President. Mutual said it still doesn't feel any legal obligation to grant the time. But it said it now is willing to do so "because of public service considerations."

State Takes Over Baltimore Transit Company

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland (center) announces state seizure of Baltimore's buses and streetcars, terming it a "sad" duty. On the left is Frank Baummer, president of the union which has been on strike for 36 days, and on the right is Dale W. Barratt, president of the Baltimore Transit Co. McKeldin acted under a three-day-old Maryland law. Union officials indicated service should be restored within 48 hours. Barratt said full service will be resumed at 3 a. m. Friday. (AP Photofax)

Court Extends Segregation Ban To Universities

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The Supreme Court today extended to tax-supported colleges and universities its ban on racial segregation in public schools.

It did so without a spoken word and in a manner usually reserved for routine cases.

The court's brief order said, in effect, the historic doctrine of "separate but equal" also is dead in the field of higher education supported by taxpayers.

It was included in a three-page list of orders, mostly in rather ordinary cases, which was made public by the court's clerk.

As in its May 17, 1954, decision striking down segregation of Negro pupils in public schools, the court's action today was unanimous.

Lower Court Upheld

Other unanimous decisions have outlawed segregation in public parks, playgrounds and golf courses.

Affirmed in 13 words was a decision by a special three-judge federal court in Greensboro, N.C., which ordered three Negroes admitted to the University of North Carolina.

The lower court rejected as "without merit" the contention of university officials that the 1954 decision did not apply in colleges and universities.

The three-judge court said the Supreme Court's 1954 decision was limited to the facts before it, "but the reasoning on which the decision was based is as applicable to schools of higher education as to schools on the lower level."

Reversal Requested

University officials, in appealing from the ruling, asked the Supreme Court to reverse itself and wipe out its original segregation ruling "because it is not within the power and authority of this court to amend the Constitution; that power is given only to the people and their elected representatives."

Counsel for the three Negroes involved in the litigation asked the high court in a brief to affirm the decision of the special court at once without the customary hearing of arguments. This the court did, saying: "The motion to affirm is granted and the judgment is affirmed."

Syrian Guns Bring Down Israeli Plane

Incident Adds To Fear Of General War

JERUSALEM, March 5 (AP)—Syrian gunfire downed an Israeli plane today in the tense Galilee region.

On other sides Israeli and Jordan forces clashed briefly in the southern Negeb and there were exchanges of Israeli-Egyptian gunfire.

Fears again mounted over possibility of general Arab-Israeli warfare.

Israeli officials said the plane was machine-gunned while flying over its own territory in upper Galilee. They said the pilot was wounded and the plane made an emergency landing on the Israeli side.

A Damascus communique said Syrian antiaircraft guns opened fire on the Israeli plane when it made a low level flight over Syrian territory.

The gunfire drove the Israeli plane back to its own territory, where it landed "leaving a trail of smoke behind," the Syrian communique added.

It was the second incident in two days in that area. Yesterday three Israeli policemen were killed and a fourth wounded in an Israeli clash on the northeast shore of the sSea of Galilee.

The incidents brought fear of war to a new pitch because they followed close on the heels of the firing of Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb as British commander of the Arab Legion—Jordan's armed force. Jordan said King Hussein dismissed Glubb because he defied orders to reorganize the legion to meet the threat of an Israeli attack.

The Jordan-Israel clash was the first reported since the firing of Glubb.

An Israeli statement said an Israeli patrol exchanged fire with a group of Jordanians who penetrated into Israel near the Biblical city of Lachish, now called Tell Ed Duweir. This is about 25 miles southwest of Jerusalem near the edge of the Negeb Desert.

The Israelis forced the Jordanians to retreat, the Israeli account said. It made no mention of casualties.

Westinghouse, Striking Union Delay Decisions

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Both the company and union involved in the 141-day Westinghouse strike tonight delayed their decisions on a government package plan for settling the long dispute.

Federal mediators who drafted the plan spent five hours with company and union representatives answering questions about it, then arranged to meet for an hour with the union alone.

James B. Carey, president of the striking International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), was reported objecting in the closed sessions to at least some phases of the settlement proposal.

The plan has not been made public, but some details have leaked out. It includes a proposal that the company reinstate 59 strikers fired for alleged violence, with arbitrators to decide whether 36 other should be restored to their jobs.

Carey reportedly insisted that the remaining 36 also be reinstated without arbitration. Both sides were to meet again with the mediators tomorrow morning.

Mediators were said to feel that while there were some roadblocks to acceptance of the plan, they could be overcome.

Robert D. Blasier, company vice president and chief management negotiator, was reported balking at any change in the plan's terms and insisting that company and union should either accept or reject the entire package deal.

A meeting of the union's 75-man Westinghouse Conference Board, summoned to consider the plan, was postponed from tonight until tomorrow.

Sears Sales Set Record

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP) — Sears, Roebuck and Co. today reported February sales totaled $217,627,711, a new record for the month and up 14.2 per cent from sales of $190,575,995 in February, 1955.

Radioactive Material Missing After Blaze

TORONTO, March 5 (AP) — Some radioactive material is missing after a fire in the University of Toronto mining building last night.

The material, polonium, could be a "very serious hazard," university officials warned. It emits alpha rays. About a tenth of the university's supply is unaccounted for.

Officials feel sure that all the missing material is scattered in the wreckage.

Thirty firemen who fought the blaze were checked afterward for radiation.

The fire broke out after university research workers left. Damage was estimated at $8,000.

Kefauver Reports Russia Has 'Supersonic Bomber'

ROCHESTER, N. H., March 5 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said tonight Russia is now producing a "supersonic bomber" which "can out-run the fighters now available."

"We have no such bomber even on the drawing boards as far as I am aware," the Democratic presidential contender declared as he wound up a five-day barnstorming campaign for votes in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary a week from tomorrow.

Kefauver charged that President Eisenhower's "failure" to make decisions and the Republican administration's desire for a balanced budget in this election year has enabled the Soviet Union to surpass this nation by a better than 4-1 margin in production of supersonic fighters.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a dinner meeting of his supporters here, Kefauver said:

"The Soviet Union is far in the lead of the United States in the production of supersonic fighters—fighters designed to bring down bombers carrying atomic and nuclear weapons. It is estimated by one source that at the end of the current year the Soviet Union will have produced as many as 8,000 of these supersonic fighters.

"Unless I am wrongly informed, the Soviet Union at the end of this year will have available four times as many of these supersonic fighters as we will have available at the end of next year.

"As far as a better plane than the F100 is concerned—and the F100 is our best supersonic fighter—we have not moved beyond designs on the drawing boards."

BTC Taken Over By State; Service To Resume Soon

BALTIMORE, March 5 (AP)—Gov. Theodore McKeldin, playing his last card in an attempt to get streetcars and buses running here after 36 days of idleness, today seized the Baltimore Transit Co.

Moments later an official of the AFL-CIO union representing the company's 2,000 striking employes said service should be resumed within 48 hours.

McKeldin had announced he would take over the company under a three-day-old Maryland law unless its contract dispute with the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes were settled.

Strike "Intolerable"

He had described the strike, which deprived the metropolitan Baltimore area and its 1,200,000 residents of their chief means of public transportation, "intolerable."

The union had asked for a 25-cent hourly increase, then lowered this to 10 cents now and 10 cents more next July. The company's top offer was 18 cents spread over three years, but this offer was withdrawn after the union failed to accept it by the Feb. 26 deadline by the BTC.

Under the seizure law enacted by the Legislature last Thursday—the last day of its 1956 session—and signed by McKeldin on Friday, the state takes over operation of the company's facilities.

Allen Named Administrator

McKeldin named Joseph Allen, chairman of the State Tax commission, as the "emergency utility administrator" to operate the BTC.

Employes who refuse to work for the state can be fired. Otherwise, they return under provisions of the old contract, which gave them an average hourly wage of $1.90.

Frank P. Baummer, president of the union local, said he will urge workers at a meeting tomorrow to return to their jobs. Baummer said about two days will be necessary to get the buses and streetcars back in operating shape.

Dale W. Barratt, president of the transit company, said later full service will be resumed at 3 a.m. Friday.

Top Military Commanders In Puerto Rico

Intensive Restudy Of Nation's Defense Strategy Under Way

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—America's top military commanders have assembled secretly in Puerto Rico for an intensive "new look" at this country's defense strategy in the light of changing world conditions.

News that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had left for a week-long huddle was confirmed tonight by the Pentagon.

A spokesman there said the military chiefs flew to a secluded rendezvous in Puerto Rico last Saturday. Confirmation of the meeting came after reporters noted the absence of the chiefs and began asking questions.

The meeting, the first of its kind to be held in such secrecy, is taking place at Ramey Air Force Base at the northwestern tip of Puerto Rico, a commonwealth associated with the United States. The sessions are under the chairmanship of Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs.

Wilson Ordered Restudy

Presumably the whole range of U. S. military forces, their size and disposition, and all manner of new atomic age weapon developments are under resurvey.

Secretary of Defense Wilson disclosed last Jan. 12 that he had ordered the new study. He said then that defense planning must be on a continuing long-range basis, "characterized by a stability which is not materially disturbed by every propaganda effort of unfriendly nations or wishful thinking on the part of ourselves or our allies."

There have been sharp complaints by some Congress members that this country's defense efforts are lagging, particularly in the development of new missiles and high speed planes. The Senate Armed Services Committee has set up a special subcommittee to look into the situation.

The Defense Department said, in response to inquiries, that the military chiefs left "with the approval of Defense Secretary Wilson."

"Whole Flock Of Problems"

It said that at Ramey Field "they will be able to devote their full time for this week without interruption to Joint Chiefs of Staff business."

A spokesman said that the military "new look" is not the "exclusive" reason for the secret departure and secluded conference of the chiefs. He said there is a "whole flock of problems," that the military strategists have to consider.

Wilson told the Senate Armed Services Committee in a statement on Jan. 12 that he was requesting the Joint Chiefs and the military departments to make a "complete and careful evaluation of the size, nature and composition of forces likely to be required for the nation's security during the next three years."

Wilson said also that this "longer range study" would provide a sound basis for planning future buying of weapons and other military programs.

Mideast Peace Quest Renewed

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — The United States, Britain and France called another meeting for tomorrow in their search for ways of preserving the Palestine truce.

New upheavals in the Middle East added to the urgency.

The meeting, scheduled for 4 p.m. at the State Department, was disclosed by Lincoln White, department press officer. He told his news conference it will be a continuation of "similar meetings held from time to time to discuss the situation in the Middle East."

This was the background for the session:

1. American optimism over prospects for a Middle East settlement was on the wane.

2. Prime Minister Eden ordered the recall of all 15 senior British officers in Jordan in reaction to Jordan's ouster of Lt. Gen. John Glubb as head of Jordan's Arab Legion.

3. New border clashes were reported between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

4. High level U. S.-British-French consultation on the question of shipping French jet fighters to Israel was indefinitely postponed.

Britain Shifts To Idea Mideast War Threat Stems From Arabs

Eden Recalls Top Officers Of Arab Legion In Jordan

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—An angry Prime Minister Eden today recalled the top British officers of Jordan's Arab Legion. The sharp action was taken because the Foreign Office has concluded for the first time that the danger of aggression arises from the Arab side in the Middle East dispute with Israel.

Eden's announcement in the House of Commons was a direct retort to the summary dismissal last Thursday of Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb, the creator of Jordan's desert army. Eden charged Jordan's young Hashemite King, Hussein, had been ungenerous in his treatment of the legendary "Glubb Pasha."

The 15 officers on the active list of the British army who are serving in Jordan are being withdrawn, Eden said. These men were in the top echelon of command. The future of about 50 other junior officers who have contracted with the Jordan government for their services will be discussed with Amman, the Prime Minister added.

He refused to discuss for now the further matter of Britain's annual military subsidy of more than 22-million-dollars-a-year to Jordan.

The implications in the thinking of the Foreign Office, reflected in the decision to withdraw the top British officers, could be far-reaching. It could mean the British will no longer use their influence against a flow of defensive weapons to Israel.

As long as Glubb was in command in Jordan, Britain felt the Arab Legion was a restraining hand on extreme nationalists on the Arab side. In the past the Foreign Office view has been that the danger of Middle East war stemmed from the Israeli side. Now the thinking is that the Arab Legion might be used by Arab politicians aiming to destroy Israel.

The shift in opinion took place as new incidents disturbed relations between Israel and her Arab neighbors. The Israelis reported Syrians fired on an Israeli plane in the Galilee area today, forcing the wounded pilot to land his plane in Israeli territory. Yesterday three Israeli police were killed and another wounded in the "hot corner" of Galilee.

Mortar fire again shook Israel's Gaza frontier with Egypt. Israelis expressed "serious concern" over concentrations of Egyptian troops in the Gaza strip—troops presumably equipped with new Communist-made weapons.

Ike Practices Golf

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — President Eisenhower practiced golf shots in springlike weather this afternoon on the south lawn of the White House.

Henry Winston, Last Of Fugitive Reds, Gives Up

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Communist leader Henry Winston surrendered by taxicab for imprisonment today, ending five years as a fugitive from the FBI. He gave no hint where he had been hiding.

Winston was the last of four American Red leaders who jumped bonds of $20,000 each in 1951 after their conviction and sentence as revolutionary conspirators. Gilbert Green surrendered voluntarily a week ago. The other two were recaptured by the FBI.

A flying wedge of federal law enforcement officers whisked Winston into the Federal Courthouse at Foley Square before he could address a crowd of about 500 who were awaiting his arrival.

Winston, like Green, announced his surrender several days in advance in letters to newspapers and wire services. Both men said they felt the political climate in the nation is more amiable than when they were sentenced to five year prison terms in 1949.

Winston, the party's former organization secretary, was held for a contempt hearing March 19. Green faces a similar hearing March 12. Both men must serve their five years terms. They also face additional sentences as fugitive bail jumpers.

Winston, 45-year-old Negro, missed a planned reunion with his white wife when he was hustled into the courthouse.

U. S. Marshal Thomas J. Lunney later allowed Winston a brief get-together with his wife, Edna, their children, Larry, 9, and Judith Anne, 5, and Winston's mother, Lucille.

"I have not seen Henry since July 2, 1951," Mrs. Winston told newsmen.

House OKs Hike In Health Funds

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — The House voted a big boost today in federal funds to combat cancer, heart disease and other ailments.

It added nine million dollars to operating funds for the National Health Institutes as it passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate a bill to appropriate $2,296,981,781 to finance the Labor and Health departments for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The total is $66,666,619 less than President Eisenhower had requested for the combined agencies, although $171,000 more than the House Appropriations Committee had recommended last week. The extra $171,000 was provided for the Mediation and Conciliation Service.

The National Health Institutes were alloted $135,525,000 instead of the $126,525,000 requested by the President.

Marland Plans Industrial Trip To New England

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 5 (AP)—Gov. William Marland will follow up his three-day industrial campaign trip to New York this week with a swing into New England next month, he said today.

Marland told his 30-member Statewide Industrial Development Committee that the arrival of spring would find him again undertaking a "personal and active" campaign to attract new plants to West Virginia.

He will be accompanied on his new trips by Executive Director Andrew V. Ruckman of the Industrial and Publicity Commission, and by representatives of Arthur D. Little, Inc., Cambridge, Mass., consultant engineers.

Marland engaged the Massachusetts firm more than a year ago to make a detailed study of the state's industrial potential.

The swing through New England —Marland's first sales jaunt to that section of the nation — is scheduled for April 16-20, with visits planned to such cities as Boston and Providence.

April 26 and 27 will find the Marland entourage in Appleton, Wis., also "new territory," for a meeting with representatives of the pulp and paper industry.

A trip into Upper New York State, New Jersey and to Baltimore, Md., is set for May 14-18, with a return trip to Chicago and Detroit, and a jump over to Toledo, Ohio, scheduled for June 4-8.

Wife Wants Out Of Gilded Cage

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP) — Betty Mae Janis is sick of being a bird in a gilded cage. She'd like to turn parakeet, talk a little and buzz around a bit.

That's what the 21-year-old housewife told the Superior Court today. Judge Harry G. Hershenson agreed she has problems and proposed a second period of courtship to save the Janis marriage.

Mrs. Janis' lawyer said that her husband, Stanley, 41, a real estate salesman, behaved like one of the crusaders of old who locked up their wives while they marched off to the Holy Land.

From the day of their marriage Nov. 20, 1954, until their separation Feb. 26, the wife complained, Janis locked her in their home when he left for work in the morning. Then he'd drop in two or three times a day to see if she stayed there.

The court awarded Mrs. Janis $30 a week temporary support and directed Janis to court her again. He has until Easter Sunday to win her back by demonstrating his love in more up-to-date ways.

Adlai Hits GOP On Farm Issue

[By The Associated Press]

Adlai Stevenson yesterday blasted the Republicans on the farm issue, in his current efforts to win Minnesota's 30 votes in the Democratic presidential convention.

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, the only other announced candidate for the Democratic nomination, planned to interrupt his New Hampshire campaign to contest with Stevenson in Minnesota.

Stevenson spoke at Marshall, Minn., in the fourth day of his five-day drive for support in Minnesota's March 20 presidential primary. Kefauver, who has been busy drumming up support in the March 13 New Hampshire primary, arranged to fly out to Minnesota.

There were advance reports that Kefauver would attack the record Stevenson made as governor of Illinois before he accepted the 1952 Democratic nomination that Kefauver tried hard to win for himself.

Man, 71, Rescues Dog From Cliff

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 5 (AP) —With his age against him but with his weight in his favor, Frank Mascia argued himself into the rescuer's role today as four City Park Department employes retrieved a 6-months-old pup from the face of a high cliff.

The job required lowering a man 80 feet from the top of West Rock, a 365-foot cliff near the Yale Bowl. Mascia's fellow workers didn't want him to do it. He's 71 years old; but he weighs only 135 pounds, lighter than the others. That, he insisted, made him the logical man for the job.

Down the cliff he went, a rope about his waist. He was hauled back up, cradling in his arms the whimpering pooch that had spent the night on a ledge.

The dog, "Soot," was reunited with his master, Robert Sokol, who lives near the base of West Rock.

Edmund Purdom's Wife Granted Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif., March 5 (AP)—Tita Purdom today won a divorce from British actor Edmund Purdom after testifying that he brought her home from a party and then went back alone.

The party, she later told newsmen, was at the home of actress Linda Christian, with whom Purdom has been keeping company.

"We went to the party," she said, "shortly after I conceived my second child. I was extremely sick since it was the first part of my confinement and we left the party at the normal time.

"As we drove into the garage he told me to go upstairs and pay off the baby sitter while he parked the car. I never saw him until he climbed in a window at 7 a.m."

Mrs. Purdom, 27, did not identify Miss Christian by name during her testimony but when asked by reporters she replied: "Certainly it was Linda Christian. Can there be any doubt?"

Government Sweeps Election In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, March 5 (AP)—Government candidates swept Sunday's Constituent Assembly election as returns poured in today.

With nearly three million votes counted, pro-government candidates were reported easy winners except in a few spots.

At least three Communist Vietminh agents were arrested for agitating against election of the Assembly that is to write a constitution for Free Viet Nam. Four persons were reported killed.

The vote was less than the anticipated six million, running about 15 per cent under the October referendum when President Ngo Dinh Diem was named chief of state and ousted ex-Emperor Bao Dai.

President Diem is expected to control at least 100 of the Assembly's 123 seats.

Eden Recalls Top Officers Of Arab Legion In Jordan

LONDON, March 5 (AP)—An angry Prime Minister Eden today recalled the top British officers of Jordan's Arab Legion. The sharp action was taken because the Foreign Office has concluded for the first time that the danger of aggression arises from the Arab side in the Middle East dispute with Israel.

Eden's announcement in the House of Commons was a direct retort to the summary dismissal last Thursday of Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb, the creator of Jordan's desert army. Eden charged Jordan's young Hashemite King Hussein, had been ungenerous in his treatment of the legendary "Glubb Pasha."

Now the thinking is that the Arab Legion might be used by Arab politicians aiming to destroy Israel.

The shift in opinion took place as new incidents disturbed relations between Israel and her Arab neighbors. The Israelis reported Syrians fired on an Israeli plane in the Galilee area today, forcing the wounded pilot to land his plane in Israeli territory. Yesterday three Israeli police were killed and another wounded in the "hot corner" of Galilee.

Mortar fire again shook Israel's Gaza frontier with Egypt. Israelis expressed "serious concern" over concentrations of Egyptian troops in the Gaza strip—troops presumably equipped with new Communist-made weapons.

Ike Practices Golf

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — President Eisenhower practiced golf shots in springlike weather this afternoon on the south lawn of the White House.

Henry Winston, Last Of Fugitive Reds, Gives Up

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Communist leader Henry Winston surrendered by taxicab for imprisonment today, ending five years as a fugitive from the FBI. He gave no hint where he had been hiding.

Winston was the last of four American Red leaders who jumped bonds of $20,000 each in 1951 after their conviction and sentence as revolutionary conspirators. Gilbert Green surrendered voluntarily a week ago. The other two were recaptured by the FBI.

A flying wedge of federal law enforcement officers whisked Winston into the Federal Courthouse at Foley Square before he could address a crowd of about 500 who were awaiting his arrival.

Winston, like Green, announced his surrender several days in advance in letters to newspapers and wire services. Both men said they felt the political climate in the nation is more amiable than when they were sentenced to five year prison terms in 1949.

Winston, the party's former organization secretary, was held for a contempt hearing March 19. Green faces a similar hearing March 12. Both men must serve their five years terms. They also face additional sentences as fugitive bail jumpers.

Winston, 45-year-old Negro, missed a planned reunion with his white wife when he was hustled into the courthouse.

U. S. Marshal Thomas J. Lunney later allowed Winston a brief get-together with his wife, Edna, their children, Larry, 9, and Judith Anne, 5, and Winston's mother, Lucille.

"I have not seen Henry since July 2, 1951," Mrs. Winston told newsmen.

House OKs Hike In Health Funds

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — The House voted a big boost today in federal funds to combat cancer, heart disease and other ailments.

It added nine million dollars to operating funds for the National Health Institutes as it passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate a bill to appropriate $2,296,981,781 to finance the Labor and Health departments for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The total is $66,666,619 less than President Eisenhower had requested for the combined agencies, although $171,000 more than the House Appropriations Committee had recommended last week. The extra $171,000 was provided for the Mediation and Conciliation Service.

The National Health Institutes were alloted $135,525,000 instead of the $126,525,000 requested by the President.

Marland Plans Industrial Trip To New England

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 5 (AP)—Gov. William Marland will follow up his three-day industrial campaign trip to New York this week with a swing into New England next month, he said today.

Marland told his 30-member Statewide Industrial Development Committee that the arrival of spring would find him again undertaking a "personal and active" campaign to attract new plants to West Virginia.

He will be accompanied on his new trips by Executive Director Andrew V. Ruckman of the Industrial and Publicity Commission, and by representatives of Arthur D. Little, Inc., Cambridge, Mass., consultant engineers.

Marland engaged the Massachusetts firm more than a year ago to make a detailed study of the state's industrial potential.

The swing through New England —Marland's first sales jaunt to that section of the nation — is scheduled for April 16-20, with visits planned to such cities as Boston and Providence.

April 26 and 27 will find the Marland entourage in Appleton, Wis., also "new territory," for a meeting with representatives of the pulp and paper industry.

A trip into Upper New York State, New Jersey and to Baltimore, Md., is set for May 14-18, with a return trip to Chicago and Detroit, and a jump over to Toledo, Ohio, scheduled for June 4-8.

Government Sweeps Election In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, March 5 (AP)—Government candidates swept Sunday's Constituent Assembly election as returns poured in today.

With nearly three million votes counted, pro-government candidates were reported easy winners except in a few spots.

At least three Communist Vietminh agents were arrested for agitating against election of the Assembly that is to write a constitution for Free Viet Nam. Four persons were reported killed.

The vote was less than the anticipated six million, running about 15 per cent under the October referendum when President Ngo Dinh Diem was named chief of state and ousted ex-Emperor Bao Dai.

President Diem is expected to control at least 100 of the Assembly's 123 seats.

Wife Wants Out Of Gilded Cage

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP) — Betty Mae Janis is sick of being a bird in a gilded cage. She'd like to turn parakeet, talk a little and buzz around a bit.

That's what the 21-year-old housewife told the Superior Court today. Judge Harry G. Hershenson agreed she has problems and proposed a second period of courtship to save the Janis marriage.

Mrs. Janis' lawyer said that her husband, Stanley, 41, a real estate salesman, behaved like one of the crusaders of old who locked up their wives while they marched off to the Holy Land.

From the day of their marriage Nov. 20, 1954, until their separation Feb. 26, the wife complained, Janis locked her in their home when he left for work in the morning. Then he'd drop in two or three times a day to see if she stayed there.

The court awarded Mrs. Janis $30 a week temporary support and directed Janis to court her again. He has until Easter Sunday to win her back by demonstrating his love in more up-to-date ways.

The contest, in which there were 20,800 aspiraats originally, was conducted by Science Clubs of America through Science Service. The scholarship awards were made by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation which is supported by the Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Curbstone Lender Now Millionaire

ST. LOUIS, March 5 (AP) — Sam Bronstein, who got his start by lending small sums to old-time newspapermen awaiting paydays, told today how he made close to a million dollars in the Missouri Pacific railroad reorganization.

The 77-year-old former curbstone money lender, known to thousands as Sammy, 18 years ago invested $3,600 in securities of the bankrupt railroad. He will receive securities in the newly reorganized railroad with a stated value of $970,000, paying interest of about $30,000 a year.

Sammy hasn't forgotten the newsmen whose weekly financial plight gave him his start. The principal of a trust he created for members of his family eventually will go to the University of Missouri School of Journalism.

Adlai Hits GOP On Farm Issue

[By The Associated Press]

Adlai Stevenson yesterday blasted the Republicans on the farm issue, in his current efforts to win Minnesota's 30 votes in the Democratic presidential convention.

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, the only other announced candidate for the Democratic nomination, planned to interrupt his New Hampshire campaign to contest with Stevenson in Minnesota.

Stevenson spoke at Marshall, Minn., in the fourth day of his five-day drive for support in Minnesota's March 20 presidential primary. Kefauver, who has been busy drumming up support in the March 13 New Hampshire primary, arranged to fly out to Minnesota.

There were advance reports that Kefauver would attack the record Stevenson made as governor of Illinois before he accepted the 1952 Democratic nomination that Kefauver tried hard to win for himself.

Man, 71, Rescues Dog From Cliff

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 5 (AP) —With his age against him but with his weight in his favor, Frank Mascia argued himself into the rescuer's role today as four City Park Department employes retrieved a 6-months-old pup from the face of a high cliff.

The job required lowering a man 80 feet from the top of West Rock, a 365-foot cliff near the Yale Bowl. Mascia's fellow workers didn't want him to do it. He's 71 years old; but he weighs only 135 pounds, lighter than the others. That, he insisted, made him the logical man for the job.

Down the cliff he went, a rope about his waist. He was hauled back up, cradling in his arms the whimpering pooch that had spent the night on a ledge.

The dog, "Soot," was reunited with his master, Robert Sokol, who lives near the base of West Rock.

Niagara Falls' giant hydro-electric plants account for nearly half of the total water power capacity of New York state.

Edmund Purdom's Wife Granted Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif., March 5 (AP)—Tita Purdom today won a divorce from British actor Edmund Purdom after testifying that he brought her home from a party and then went back alone.

The party, she later told newsmen, was at the home of actress Linda Christian, with whom Purdom has been keeping company.

"We went to the party," she said, "shortly after I conceived my second child. I was extremely sick since it was the first part of my confinement and we left the party at the normal time.

"As we drove into the garage he told me to go upstairs and pay off the baby sitter while he parked the car. I never saw him until he climbed in a window at 7 a.m."

Mrs. Purdom, 27, did not identify Miss Christian by name during her testimony but when asked by reporters she replied: "Certainly it was Linda Christian. Can there be any doubt?"

Pratt Library To Request Loan At Special Session

BALTIMORE, March 5 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro today approved a request by the trustees of Enoch Pratt Library for a $3,500,000 loan to be put before a special session of the General Assembly Thursday.

Director Amy Winslow of the library said the loan would provide seven new branch libraries, enlargement of at least two present branches and new lighting in the central building.

The special session has been called to consider a new port authority bill, but there are also plans to submit requests for a $15,000,000 school loan and a $6,000,000 loan for a civic center and arena.

Approval of the library loan by the City Planning Commission, the Commissioners of Finance and the Board of Estimates is necessary before it can go before lawmakers at Annapolis.

Miss Winslow said the last library loan — one of $3,000,000 granted in 1947—was not enough to keep up with needs caused by increased construction costs and the expansion of population in the outlying areas. She said the new loan would finance a building program to run over a period of 10 to 12 years.

The new branches are planned for Southwest Baltimore, East Baltimore, Cherry Hill, Waverly, Howard Park and the upper Park Heights Avenue and upper Loch Raven Boulevard sections.

The Gardensville and Brooklyn branches would be enlarged.

Highway Graft Trial Launched

ROCKVILLE, Md., March 5 (AP)—State's Attorney Alger Y. Barbee told a jury today he will prove that Ben du Pre and two other men bilked Maryland out of "thousands of dollars" in "manipulations" of land deals.

The Montgomery County prosecutor made the statement as the fraud-conspiracy trial of Constas Gus Basiliko and Max Offenberg opened in Circuit Court.

Du Pre himself, former Maryland Roads Commission right-of-way engineer, has been indicted for conspiracy along with the Basiliko and Offenberg, but he has reportedly fled to his native Mexico.

The roads commission fired Du-Pre on grounds that he was tipping off private land speculators as to where Maryland planned to build new roads.

Acting on this information, the commission said, the speculators would buy the land cheap and sell it for a high price to the State.

There was one surprise development just before the trial opened this morning.

Two other men named in the indictment—Jerry Goldberg and Robert J. Rosenfeld—were freed and made witnesses for the State.

Barbee told the court that these men had not expected to be indicted and that investigation had convinced him they were innocent of the conspiracy charges.

Transfer Of Meckling Trial Is Requested

BALTIMORE, March 5 (AP)—Lawyers for John Henry Meckling, of Annapolis, today asked the Federal Court to transfer out of Maryland his trial on charges of negligence in the operation of a passenger schooner on the Chesapeake Bay if prosecutors insist that a jury hear the case.

Fourteen lives were lost in the Aug. 12 disaster which led to the charges against Meckling, accused of operating the schooner, the Levin J. Marvel, when it was in an unseaworthy condition.

Meckling's attorneys asked that the trial be transferred to the United States Court of Western Pennsylvania. They claimed their client could not get a fair jury trial on the eastern seaboard.

They asked for a trial without a jury because of published accounts of the disaster which they said cited Coast Guard sources on Meckling's "poor judgment."

Visitors' Board Launches Naval Academy Check

ANNAPOLIS, March 5 (AP) — The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame, was elected chairman of the board of visitors to the U.S. Naval Academy today as it began a five-day annual inspection.

Rear Adm. Walter F. Boone, Academy superintendent, greeted the seven members who were present for the first meeting and reported to them on the Academy's overall operation.

They will be joined later in the week by others from the 15 man board appointed each year by the President and Congress to look into operations of the Academy.

The board organized into four separate committees to facilitate its inspections and after initial meetings visited Bancroft Hall, the dormitory housing the 3,500-man brigade of midshipmen.

Board members had lunch with the midshipmen after witnessing their noon meal formation.

Dietrich Divorce-Alimony Hearing Takes Odd Twist

BALTIMORE, March 5 (AP) — A divorce-alimony hearing on the cross suits of steel company executive H. Buckley Dietrich and his wife came to a temporary halt today when Mrs. Dietrich told the judge she would like to have her husband back.

Dietrich is seeking an absolute divorce. His wife is asking permanent alimony.

Judge Herman A. Moser interrupted preliminary testimony of Mrs. Dietrich and asked: "Do you still want him back?"

Mrs. Dietrich began a reply about "kindly feelings," but the judge asked for a point-blank answer. Mrs. Dietrich paused and then gave a firm, "Yes."

Judge Moser then called "a short recess of court, in order to have counsel get their clients to exercise good judgment in this matter." At the end of a half-hour conference, he called a recess until tomorrow morning.

Dietrich and the former Miss Elizabeth Tubman of Cambridge were married in 1928. They have a grown daughter.

Mrs. Dietrich began drawing temporary alimony of $260 a month last July. She still lives in the family home in Baltimore.

Last June 3 Mrs. Dietrich filed suit for partial divorce and permanent alimony. Dietrich countered with a suit for an absolute divorce and named an acquaintance of Mrs. Dietrich as correspondent. Mrs. Dietrich later amended her suit, charging misconduct and also naming a correspondent.

She was the first witness today.

She said a string of race horses and resultant acquaintanceships in racing circles caused the rift in their marriage.

She said the race track associations began about 1948. After that she said Dietrich "began associating with entirely different kinds of people."

W. Lee Elgin, head of the county board, had refrained from voting when the Commissioners last week passed a resolution to ask the county's lawmakers to seek the repeal of State legislation which requires publication of county financial trnsactions.

County auditor John K. Baker 3d, had informed the board that publishing the county's financial transactions was an overly expensive project which costs about $1,000 per year.

Employe Is Injured In Freak Accident At Proving Grounds

ABERDEEN, Md., March 5 (AP)—An employe at Aberdeen Proving Grounds was critically injured today when the recoil mechanism of a 105-millimeter howitzer flew apart.

The victim was identified by the proving ground information office as Charles Gentry, 34, a civilian employe from Bel Air. He was in critical condition at the post hospital with a severe head injury.

Officials said Gentry was taking the artillery piece apart in the post disposal salvage yard when it "disintegrated." A piece of flying metal from the gun struck him in the forehead. Another piece struck another civilian, Robert D. Carr, in the hand some 50 feet away.

Heavy springs in the recoil mechanism apparently caused the accident.

You: I've got less money in the till than I ought to have. Any suggestions?

We: Draw up a chair. Let's assume your bills are paid. And you have provided for family emergencies. Now you're ready for an interesting journey.

You: Where to?

We: To where you want to get: Ahead. Begin by considering investing in good common stock. The idea is not to try to make a killing—but to get a good return on your money.

You: Stocks? You've got the wrong man, pal. I'm not rich.

We: Neither are most stockholders. Three out of four people who own stock have incomes under $10,000 a year. Many under $5,000. They own their share of American business. Because when you own stock you're part owner of the company and you share in its profits by way of dividends. If it grows your investment can grow too.

You: Now you're getting somewhere. But how do I make sure the company will pay those dividends?

We: You can't. Sometimes a company doesn't make a profit from which to pay a dividend. Fact is, though, around 500 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange have paid dividends every year for 20 to more than 100 years.

You: So I ought to buy stock only with my eyes wide open?

We: Now you're getting somewhere. Bear in mind that a stock can go down as well as up. Start by getting facts and sensible advice. You'll find both if you drop in on a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. They'll welcome your visit and help you get information about both stocks and bonds.

You: Haven't you got anything for me to read?

We: We sure have. An interesting little booklet called "Investment Facts about Common Stocks and Cash Dividends." Gives dividend records of several hundred companies, tells you how to open an account, and describes the wonderfully convenient Monthly Investment Plan, which enables you to buy stock in some of America's greatest companies for as little as $40 every three months.

You: Where can I get that booklet?

We: Easy. Drop in on, or telephone, or mail a card to any Member Firm. Or send the coupon direct to Dept. 6E, New York Stock Exchange, Box 252, New York 5, N. Y.

What you should know about insuring your child

The right plan now is your best vote of confidence in his future...

It's a rare parent who can predict what his toddler will be doing in 20 years. All parents, however, hope their youngsters will learn, as they grow older, to cope with life's ups and downs.

They train the child to help him meet life's frequent disappointments...but they also prepare the child to greet opportunity when it knocks for him. With the right kind of life insurance, taken out at an early age, many parents have found an important way to prepare their youngsters for a future full of opportunity.

TAKE COLLEGE, FOR EXAMPLE...

It's a fact that the average college man earns $100,000 more in his lifetime than the average high school graduate. And 1 out of every 3 eighteen-year-olds now registers for college. More and more parents are discovering that a life insurance plan, started early in life, is one of the best ways to provide college money when their child is ready to enroll.

WHAT KIND OF PLAN?

Many families are using ordinary or straight life insurance—on the life of the father, in an amount that will cover college expenses if he dies. If he lives, he can borrow against the policy's cash values to supplement his earnings when college expenses come along.

Other families buy endowment policies, which come of age when their boy or girl is ready to enter college. These policies, too, are generally on the life of the father; if he dies prematurely, the money would still be available to pay for his child's education.

IS COLLEGE THE ONLY GOAL?

It shouldn't be. What happens after college, when the graduate wants to start a professional practice, or a business? What of the many young people who do not go to college? And what about starting their own families? To find the best solution to these needs many parents have become interested in the type of policy known as...

JUVENILE INSURANCE

The juvenile policy which has become very popular in recent years, insures the life of the child, rather than the parent. It can continue throughout life—and it can be used in many ways: as a source of money for college, for setting up a business, for starting a career, or as a base for his own family's protection when the child reaches adulthood.

It also assures the child permanent protection throughout life at "bargain counter" rates. Ask the man in his thirties or forties if he would like to have his present life insurance at the rates of a 6-year old ...and you'll quickly see how important these low rates can be later in life.

And finally, many children later become uninsurable because of health reasons. With a juvenile policy started early in life, he'll always have some protection regardless of his health.

NATIONWIDE'S "JUMPING JUNIOR"

This popular new juvenile policy by Nationwide Life Insurance Company starts out with a small amount, and grows with your child!

For example, let's say your child is 9 years old and you buy $1,000 of Jumping Junior protection. (Children 14 and under are eligible.) When your child turns 15, the policy automatically jumps 2½ times its original face amount to $2,500. Then, at age 21, it jumps 5 times to $5,000. Yet the low premium always remains the same! And when your child reaches 65, premium payments are completed...and he has a fully paid-up policy.

HIGH CASH AND LOAN VALUES

Cash values on the Jumping Junior build quickly, providing a source of funds for career or business opportunities later in life. Or its high loan values can help pay for your child's education. Or ...it can provide an excellent base for the protection of his own family.

Here is one of the finest investments you can make in your child's future...one that will grow in value as he grows older. And remember, too, it makes an ideal gift for your grandchild or godchild. For all the facts, just contact the Nationwide office nearest you, listed below—or the Nationwide representative in your community.

"IN SERVICE WITH PEOPLE"

That's the slogan of Nationwide Insurance. It means we believe that: People can achieve anything they want to by working together with others...people's money should be invested in activities which serve them better...and people should have an active voice in the affairs of any companies they own.

That's why we assist voluntary self-help groups: invest in businesses which directly help policyholders and the public; and give our policyholders a chance to speak up through their ADVISORY COMMITTEES OF POLICYHOLDERS.

At these Committee meetings our policyholders tell us what their needs are and suggest ways of filling them. In this way many beneficial products and services have resulted.

If you'd like to know more about Nationwide's POLICYHOLDER ADVISORY COMMITTEES, or if you'd like to attend one of the meetings—whether or not you're now a policyholder—a free pamphlet is yours for the asking. Just drop a card to:

Pratt Library To Request Loan At Special Session

BALTIMORE, March 5 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro today approved a request by the trustees of Enoch Pratt Library for a $3,500,000 loan to be put before a special session of the General Assembly Thursday.

Director Amy Winslow of the library said the loan would provide seven new branch libraries, enlargement of at least two present branches and new lighting in the central building.

The special session has been called to consider a new port authority bill, but there are also plans to submit requests for a $15,000,000 school loan and a $6,000,000 loan for a civic center and arena.

Approval of the library loan by the City Planning Commission, the Commissioners of Finance and the Board of Estimates is necessary before it can go before lawmakers at Annapolis.

Miss Winslow said the last library loan — one of $3,000,000 granted in 1947—was not enough to keep up with needs caused by increased construction costs and the expansion of population in the outlying areas. She said the new loan would finance a building program to run over a period of 10 to 12 years.

The new branches are planned for Southwest Baltimore, East Baltimore, Cherry Hill, Waverly, Howard Park and the upper Park Heights Avenue and upper Loch Raven Boulevard sections.

The Gardensville and Brooklyn branches would be enlarged.

Highway Graft Trial Launched

ROCKVILLE, Md., March 5 (AP)—State's Attorney Alger Y. Barbee told a jury today he will prove that Ben du Pre and two other men bilked Maryland out of "thousands of dollars" in "manipulations" of land deals.

The Montgomery County prosecutor made the statement as the fraud-conspiracy trial of Constas Gus Basiliko and Max Offenberg opened in Circuit Court.

Du Pre himself, former Maryland Roads Commission right-of-way engineer, has been indicted for conspiracy along with the Basiliko and Offenberg, but he has reportedly fled to his native Mexico.

The roads commission fired Du-Pre on grounds that he was tipping off private land speculators as to where Maryland planned to build new roads.

Acting on this information, the commission said, the speculators would buy the land cheap and sell it for a high price to the State.

There was one surprise development just before the trial opened this morning.

Two other men named in the indictment—Jerry Goldberg and Robert J. Rosenfeld—were freed and made witnesses for the State.

Barbee told the court that these men had not expected to be indicted and that investigation had convinced him they were innocent of the conspiracy charges.

Transfer Of Meckling Trial Is Requested

BALTIMORE, March 5 (AP)—Lawyers for John Henry Meckling, of Annapolis, today asked the Federal Court to transfer out of Maryland his trial on charges of negligence in the operation of a passenger schooner on the Chesapeake Bay if prosecutors insist that a jury hear the case.

Fourteen lives were lost in the Aug. 12 disaster which led to the charges against Meckling, accused of operating the schooner, the Levin J. Marvel, when it was in an unseaworthy condition.

Meckling's attorneys asked that the trial be transferred to the United States Court of Western Pennsylvania. They claimed their client could not get a fair jury trial on the eastern seaboard.

They asked for a trial without a jury because of published accounts of the disaster which they said cited Coast Guard sources on Meckling's "poor judgment."

Visitors' Board Launches Naval Academy Check

ANNAPOLIS, March 5 (AP) — The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame, was elected chairman of the board of visitors to the U.S. Naval Academy today as it began a five-day annual inspection.

Rear Adm. Walter F. Boone, Academy superintendent, greeted the seven members who were present for the first meeting and reported to them on the Academy's overall operation.

They will be joined later in the week by others from the 15 man board appointed each year by the President and Congress to look into operations of the Academy.

The board organized into four separate committees to facilitate its inspections and after initial meetings visited Bancroft Hall, the dormitory housing the 3,500-man brigade of midshipmen.

Board members had lunch with the midshipmen after witnessing their noon meal formation.

GAZA, Egypt-held Palestine, March 5 (AP)—Military authorities announced they will confiscate any currency larger than a 10 pound— $28 — note found on any resident of Gaza.

Dietrich Divorce-Alimony Hearing Takes Odd Twist

BALTIMORE, March 5 (AP) — A divorce-alimony hearing on the cross suits of steel company executive H. Buckley Dietrich and his wife came to a temporary halt today when Mrs. Dietrich told the judge she would like to have her husband back.

Dietrich is seeking an absolute divorce. His wife is asking permanent alimony.

Judge Herman A. Moser interrupted preliminary testimony of Mrs. Dietrich and asked: "Do you still want him back?"

Mrs. Dietrich began a reply about "kindly feelings," but the judge asked for a point-blank answer. Mrs. Dietrich paused and then gave a firm, "Yes."

Judge Moser then called "a short recess of court, in order to have counsel get their clients to exercise good judgment in this matter." At the end of a half-hour conference, he called a recess until tomorrow morning.

Dietrich and the former Miss Elizabeth Tubman of Cambridge were married in 1928. They have a grown daughter.

Mrs. Dietrich began drawing temporary alimony of $260 a month last July. She still lives in the family home in Baltimore.

Last June 3 Mrs. Dietrich filed suit for partial divorce and permanent alimony. Dietrich countered with a suit for an absolute divorce and named an acquaintance of Mrs. Dietrich as correspondent. Mrs. Dietrich later amended her suit, charging misconduct and also naming a correspondent.

She was the first witness today.

She said a string of race horses and resultant acquaintanceships in racing circles caused the rift in their marriage.

She said the race track associations began about 1948. After that she said Dietrich "began associating with entirely different kinds of people."

Elgin Would Continue County Payment List

HAGERSTOWN, March 5 (AP) — The president of the Washington County Board of Commissioners today said he believed the county ought to continue to list all of its financial payments.

W. Lee Elgin, head of the county board, had refrained from voting when the Commissioners last week passed a resolution to ask the county's lawmakers to seek the repeal of State legislation which requires publication of county financial trnsactions.

County auditor John K. Baker 3d, had informed the board that publishing the county's financial transactions was an overly expensive project which costs about $1,000 per year.

Employe Is Injured In Freak Accident At Proving Grounds

ABERDEEN, Md., March 5 (AP)—An employe at Aberdeen Proving Grounds was critically injured today when the recoil mechanism of a 105-millimeter howitzer flew apart.

The victim was identified by the proving ground information office as Charles Gentry, 34, a civilian employe from Bel Air. He was in critical condition at the post hospital with a severe head injury.

Officials said Gentry was taking the artillery piece apart in the post disposal salvage yard when it "disintegrated." A piece of flying metal from the gun struck him in the forehead. Another piece struck another civilian, Robert D. Carr, in the hand some 50 feet away.

Heavy springs in the recoil mechanism apparently caused the accident.

BAYSHORE, N. Y., March 5 (AP)—Massed pickets surged around the Fairchild Airplane and Engine Co. plant today, and disorders led to the arrest of 22 strikers.

Several cars were damaged and police said they were shoved by pickets as a majority of the union's 540 members at Fairchild massed around the plant.

You: Stocks? You've got the wrong man, pal. I'm not rich.

We: Neither are most stockholders. Three out of four people who own stock have incomes under $10,000 a year. Many under $5,000. They own their share of American business. Because when you own stock you're part owner of the company and you share in its profits by way of dividends. If it grows your investment can grow too.

You: Now you're getting somewhere. But how do I make sure the company will pay those dividends?

We: You can't. Sometimes a company doesn't make a profit from which to pay a dividend. Fact is, though, around 500 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange have paid dividends every year for 20 to more than 100 years.

You: So I ought to buy stock only with my eyes wide open?

What you should know about insuring your child

The right plan now is your best vote of confidence in his future...

It's a rare parent who can predict what his toddler will be doing in 20 years. All parents, however, hope their youngsters will learn, as they grow older, to cope with life's ups and downs.

They train the child to help him meet life's frequent disappointments...but they also prepare the child to greet opportunity when it knocks for him. With the right kind of life insurance, taken out at an early age, many parents have found an important way to prepare their youngsters for a future full of opportunity.

TAKE COLLEGE, FOR EXAMPLE...

It's a fact that the average college man earns $100,000 more in his lifetime than the average high school graduate. And 1 out of every 3 eighteen-year-olds now registers for college. More and more parents are discovering that a life insurance plan, started early in life, is one of the best ways to provide college money when their child is ready to enroll.

WHAT KIND OF PLAN?

Many families are using ordinary or straight life insurance—on the life of the father, in an amount that will cover college expenses if he dies. If he lives, he can borrow against the policy's cash values to supplement his earnings when college expenses come along.

Other families buy endowment policies, which come of age when their boy or girl is ready to enter college. These policies, too, are generally on the life of the father; if he dies prematurely, the money would still be available to pay for his child's education.

IS COLLEGE THE ONLY GOAL?

It shouldn't be. What happens after college, when the graduate wants to start a professional practice, or a business? What of the many young people who do not go to college? And what about starting their own families? To find the best solution to these needs many parents have become interested in the type of policy known as...

JUVENILE INSURANCE

The juvenile policy which has become very popular in recent years, insures the life of the child, rather than the parent. It can continue throughout life—and it can be used in many ways: as a source of money for college, for setting up a business, for starting a career, or as a base for his own family's protection when the child reaches adulthood.

West Falls Back On Defensive Strategies In New Phase Of Its Conflict With Russia

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — The United States, Britain and France are apparently being compelled to fall back on defensive strategies in the new phase of their conflict with Russia because they have been unable to work out countermoves for Europe, South Asia and the Middle East.

As a result, several situations are getting out of hand from the Western point of view and there is a probability of increasing tensions among the three allies.

Here is the evidence of trouble in the making:

1. In the Middle East Soviet arms sales are overturning the balance of power and the danger of war there is great. Israel has the military edge over the Arab bloc and will have it for another six months or so. After a year authorities estimate it will shift to Egypt because of Egypt's purchase of Communist arms. The Western policy is to avoid a Middle East arms race with Russia, but many officials say privately that a one-sided race is going on anyway.

2. In South Asia Russia's economic and political bids to the neutrals have brought an upsurge of talk here that the Western Powers must realize that neutrality can be a good thing. This means abandoning efforts to win over the neutrals as allies. There is growing, defensive acceptance of the fact that countries which are primarily pro-Western nevertheless will accept Soviet money, science and advisers and try to "get the best of both worlds."

3. In Europe the Communists are now concentrating on their drive for a united front with the Socialists. Secretary of State Dulles conceded at a news conference last week that the situation was so delicate that he did not want to talk about it. If the Western governments are doing anything effective to counter the Reds' united front appeal and help to reinforce the opposition of anti-Communist Socialists, there is no sign of it.

French Foreign Minister Christain Pineau said in a sharply critical speech in Paris Friday that he thought the Western Powers have relied too much on military force and talk of force since Russia switched its main offensive to economics and politics.

Although State Department officials displayed no alarm over Pineau's bluntness, they conceded it will dramatize his meeting with Dulles at Karachi, Pakistan, this week during the Southeast Asia Treaty conference. Dulles has been an outspoken advocate of force as the basis of Western defense against Soviet power.

Diplomatic experts say the British government, if it had to take sides, would probably come closer to sharing Pineau's views than Dulles'. British opinion has usually reacted violently against Dulles' references to such ideas as "brink of war" and "masive retaliation."

On the other hand in the Middle East crisis Britain and the United States stand much closer together than either of them stands with France. France, for example, has been a foe of the Baghdad Pact which the United States sponsored and Britain joined along with Middle Eastern countries. British efforts to maneuver Jordan into the pact two months ago contributed to Britain's loss of Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb from the command of Jordan's Arab Legion Friday.

All these factors make it more difficult for the three governments to produce, discuss and agree on fundamentally new, bold and dramatic policies for fighting the Soviet thrusts. Many veteran diplomats here are worried about what they conceive to be a sense of drift in Western policy and a sense of uncertainty on the part of the United States in grappling with the situation.

GOLDWATER TALKS WITH CONGRESSWOMAN—Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) talks with Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore) after attending a closed meeting of a Senate Interior subcommittee yesterday. Goldwater told reporters that "Hell no" he is not going to withdraw from a lobby investigating committee because he received a $250 campaign gift from the Keck family which controls Superior Oil Company of California. Goldwater also said: "I am not going to get off the committee and if they want a fight, let them try to throw me off." (AP Photofax)

Medical Reports By Presidents Urged

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Rep. Zelenko (D-NY) called yesterday for legislation to require the President to make regular public medical reports on his health.

Zelenko said that President Eisenhower in his Feb. 29 television speech waived "any confidential privilege between himself, as the patient, and his doctors" in reporting on his physical condition.

He said Eisenhower, a candidate for re-election, did this to assure the people that he is able to carry out presidential duties.

But, Zelenko said, Eisenhower "inadvertently failed to state what his course of action would be in the event that he receives an adverse medical report in the future."

The New York Democrat said he will therefore introduce a bill tomorrow to require a health report from any president within six months after his inauguration and at "regular intervals" thereafter.

Ill Woman Spends 39 Hours In Bath Tub

BOSTON, March 5 (AP) — A 72-year-old woman who became ill while taking a bath spent 39 hours in the tub until she was rescued yesterday by fire fighters.

The fire fighters were called to the Roxbury home of Mrs. Stella Crowley, a widow, by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Hawkins of Brookline, who found the doors locked when she arrived for her usual Sunday visit.

Mrs. Crowley was quoted by the firemen as saying she became so ill after entering the tub Friday night she couldn't muster the strength to get out.

Her only complaint, however, after being rescued was: "I'm hungry."

The principal head covering of Greek and Roman ladies was a veil, supplemented in cold or wet weather by a hood of linen or wool.

Science Careers More Popular

EVANSTON, Ill., March 5 (AP) — The majority of America's most brilliant high school seniors are aiming for careers in science and engineering.

This was disclosed today in a survey by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. of survivors in the nationwide search for the most able high school seniors.

The 5,078 semi-finalists who are competing for some 400 to 500 college scholarships this fall were questioned about their careers.

Results showed:

Fifty-six per cent of the boys and 16 per cent of the girls questioned plan on becoming engineers or scientists.

Thirty-six per cent of the girls plan to become teachers.

About 10 per cent of both boys and girls would like to follow careers in medicine or other health fields.

Business careers appeal to 8 per cent of the boys and girls.

Law attracts 8 per cent of the boys, but only 5 per cent of the girls.

Twelve per cent of the girls and 4 per cent of the boys want careers in arts or letters.

Three per cent of the boys and 4 per cent of the girls want to specialize in either religious or social service careers.

Key Provisions In Social Security Bill Face Defeat

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The two major provisions in a House-passed Social Security bill may be headed for the Senate Finance Committee's wastebasket.

Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) a committee member, said yesterday that after more than a month of hearings "I am more encouraged that we can report out the bill without these provisions."

These two key sections would lower from 65 to 62 the age at which women become eligible for Social Security retirement benefits and set up a system of payments as a matter of right for totall disabled persons of 50 or older.

A check of the 15 Finance Committee members indicated considerable opposition to the two provisions, particularly among the seven Republicans, although many of them declined to be committed publicly.

One GOP member said one or two Democrats probably would be willing to join with the Republicans to knock out both provisions.

"But if the Democrats plan to make a big fight over this on the floor, I'm not sure we can prevent the provisions from being put back in there," this member said.

There was some evidence the Democrats were ready to do just that.

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) has put Social Security legislation at the top of his program for this session.

Sen. George (D-Ga), a powerful figure on the Finance Committee, has lent his support to the two major sections of the bill and, in fact, this week he proposed an amendment to broaden one of them a great deal.

His proposal would strike out the arbitrary age 50 requirement in the disability section, and extend the benefits to any person totally disabled, no matter at what age.

The Finance Committee has almost completed its public testimony on the bill, which the House passed 372-31 last July.

So far the bulk of the witnesses have opposed it. The administration still has taken no position on the measure.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 5 (AP)—Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr., appointed Thomas A. Wofford, Greenville lawyer, to the U. S. Senate today to succeed Strom Thurmond, who has resigned, effective April 4.

Wofford's appointment was a surprise. Timmerman had given no indication of how he intended filling Thurmond's seat for the interim term but it was expected that he would name Thurmond, who has announced he will seek nomination in the June 12 Democratic primary.

Plan now to meet unexpected hospital expenses! Join the 941,000 Marylanders now protected against the expenses of sudden illness or emergency by the non-profit BLUE CROSS Plan.

That's why broad, realistic protection is available to every BLUE CROSS subscriber at a surprisingly low cost. Only BLUE CROSS is officially approved by the American Hospital Association. Through unique working agreements with Maryland member hospitals, BLUE CROSS sees to it that subscribers get the hospital care benefits they need, including all the basic hospital services, full coverage for room and board in semi-private accommodations, and, with a family membership, a liberal maternity benefit for the wife.

BLUE CROSS is easy to join. If there are five or more people where you work, ask your employer about BLUE CROSS. If not, you may be able to qualify for non-group enrollment. A quick look at the phones shown here will give you an idea of a few of the new telephones you can have now. Any telephone employee will be glad to tell you about others. Or, call your Service Representative in our Business Office for full information.

West Falls Back On Defensive Strategies In New Phase Of Its Conflict With Russia

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP) — The United States, Britain and France are apparently being compelled to fall back on defensive strategies in the new phase of their conflict with Russia because they have been unable to work out countermoves for Europe, South Asia and the Middle East.

As a result, several situations are getting out of hand from the Western point of view and there is a probability of increasing tensions among the three allies.

Here is the evidence of trouble in the making:

1. In the Middle East Soviet arms sales are overturning the balance of power and the danger of war there is great. Israel has the military edge over the Arab bloc and will have it for another six months or so. After a year authorities estimate it will shift to Egypt because of Egypt's purchase of Communist arms. The Western policy is to avoid a Middle East arms race with Russia, but many officials say privately that a one-sided race is going on anyway.

2. In South Asia Russia's economic and political bids to the neutrals have brought an upsurge of talk here that the Western Powers must realize that neutrality can be a good thing. This means abandoning efforts to win over the neutrals as allies. There is growing, defensive acceptance of the fact that countries which are primarily pro-Western nevertheless will accept Soviet money, science and advisers and try to "get the best of both worlds."

3. In Europe the Communists are now concentrating on their drive for a united front with the Socialists. Secretary of State Dulles conceded at a news conference last week that the situation was so delicate that he did not want to talk about it. If the Western governments are doing anything effective to counter the Reds' united front appeal and help to reinforce the opposition of anti-Communist Socialists, there is no sign of it.

French Foreign Minister Christain Pineau said in a sharply critical speech in Paris Friday that he thought the Western Powers have relied too much on military force and talk of force since Russia switched its main offensive to economics and politics.

Although State Department officials displayed no alarm over Pineau's bluntness, they conceded it will dramatize his meeting with Dulles at Karachi, Pakistan, this week during the Southeast Asia Treaty conference. Dulles has been an outspoken advocate of force as the basis of Western defense against Soviet power.

Diplomatic experts say the British government, if it had to take sides, would probably come closer to sharing Pineau's views than Dulles'. British opinion has usually reacted violently against Dulles' references to such ideas as "brink of war" and "masive retaliation."

On the other hand in the Middle East crisis Britain and the United States stand much closer together than either of them stands with France. France, for example, has been a foe of the Baghdad Pact which the United States sponsored and Britain joined along with Middle Eastern countries. British efforts to maneuver Jordan into the pact two months ago contributed to Britain's loss of Lt. Gen. John Bagot Glubb from the command of Jordan's Arab Legion Friday.

All these factors make it more difficult for the three governments to produce, discuss and agree on fundamentally new, bold and dramatic policies for fighting the Soviet thrusts. Many veteran diplomats here are worried about what they conceive to be a sense of drift in Western policy and a sense of uncertainty on the part of the United States in grappling with the situation.

GOLDWATER TALKS WITH CONGRESSWOMAN—Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz) talks with Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore) after attending a closed meeting of a Senate Interior subcommittee yesterday. Goldwater told reporters that "Hell no" he is not going to withdraw from a lobby investigating committee because he received a $250 campaign gift from the Keck family which controls Superior Oil Company of California. Goldwater also said: "I am not going to get off the committee and if they want a fight, let them try to throw me off." (AP Photofax)

Science Careers More Popular

EVANSTON, Ill., March 5 (AP) — The majority of America's most brilliant high school seniors are aiming for careers in science and engineering.

This was disclosed today in a survey by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. of survivors in the nationwide search for the most able high school seniors.

The 5,078 semi-finalists who are competing for some 400 to 500 college scholarships this fall were questioned about their careers.

Results showed:

Fifty-six per cent of the boys and 16 per cent of the girls questioned plan on becoming engineers or scientists.

Thirty-six per cent of the girls plan to become teachers.

About 10 per cent of both boys and girls would like to follow careers in medicine or other health fields.

Business careers appeal to 8 per cent of the boys and girls.

Law attracts 8 per cent of the boys, but only 5 per cent of the girls.

Twelve per cent of the girls and 4 per cent of the boys want careers in arts or letters.

Three per cent of the boys and 4 per cent of the girls want to specialize in either religious or social service careers.

Key Provisions In Social Security Bill Face Defeat

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The two major provisions in a House-passed Social Security bill may be headed for the Senate Finance Committee's wastebasket.

Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) a committee member, said yesterday that after more than a month of hearings "I am more encouraged that we can report out the bill without these provisions."

These two key sections would lower from 65 to 62 the age at which women become eligible for Social Security retirement benefits and set up a system of payments as a matter of right for totall disabled persons of 50 or older.

A check of the 15 Finance Committee members indicated considerable opposition to the two provisions, particularly among the seven Republicans, although many of them declined to be committed publicly.

One GOP member said one or two Democrats probably would be willing to join with the Republicans to knock out both provisions.

"But if the Democrats plan to make a big fight over this on the floor, I'm not sure we can prevent the provisions from being put back in there," this member said.

There was some evidence the Democrats were ready to do just that.

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) has put Social Security legislation at the top of his program for this session.

Sen. George (D-Ga), a powerful figure on the Finance Committee, has lent his support to the two major sections of the bill and, in fact, this week he proposed an amendment to broaden one of them a great deal.

His proposal would strike out the arbitrary age 50 requirement in the disability section, and extend the benefits to any person totally disabled, no matter at what age.

The Finance Committee has almost completed its public testimony on the bill, which the House passed 372-31 last July.

So far the bulk of the witnesses have opposed it. The administration still has taken no position on the measure.

S.C. Governor Names Wofford To Senate

Medical Reports By Presidents Urged

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Rep. Zelenko (D-NY) called yesterday for legislation to require the President to make regular public medical reports on his health.

Zelenko said that President Eisenhower in his Feb. 29 television speech waived "any confidential privilege between himself, as the patient, and his doctors" in reporting on his physical condition.

He said Eisenhower, a candidate for re-election, did this to assure the people that he is able to carry out presidential duties.

But, Zelenko said, Eisenhower "inadvertently failed to state what his course of action would be in the event that he receives an adverse medical report in the future."

The New York Democrat said he will therefore introduce a bill tomorrow to require a health report from any president within six months after his inauguration and at "regular intervals" thereafter.

Ill Woman Spends 39 Hours In Bath Tub

BOSTON, March 5 (AP) — A 72-year-old woman who became ill while taking a bath spent 39 hours in the tub until she was rescued yesterday by fire fighters.

The fire fighters were called to the Roxbury home of Mrs. Stella Crowley, a widow, by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Hawkins of Brookline, who found the doors locked when she arrived for her usual Sunday visit.

Mrs. Crowley was quoted by the firemen as saying she became so ill after entering the tub Friday night she couldn't muster the strength to get out.

Her only complaint, however, after being rescued was: "I'm hungry."

IMPORTANT NEWS is coming your way

Cadillac

At Home...Among Strangers!

You're going to get a wonderful thrill when you take the wheel of your first Cadillac and head out into the country—a long, long way from home.

We're not just talking about the car's wonderful performance and its extraordinary riding and handling ease—satisfying and inspiring though these are bound to be.

No, we're talking about something more.

We're talking about the friendliness you're going to encounter—how you'll be driving among people who seem to know something about you, and who are ready to trust and respect you as if they had known you for a long, long time.

This is true, of course, because Cadillac quality and goodness have made it the overwhelming preference of people of judgment and discrimination—and the whole world has come to know and understand this and to appreciate what it means.

Yes, your best foot is forward when it rests on the throttle of a 1956 Cadillac.

This great personal benefit is strictly a plus value when you take the title of the "car of cars." It comes in addition to the long-known Cadillac virtues: matchless beauty and luxury and comfort, and safety and long life.

Why not consider a Cadillac for your next car?

It is a logical choice—not only for quality and goodness and prestige—but for economy of ownership and operation as well.

We suggest that you come in soon and see for yourself. We'll be happy to give you a personal demonstration at the wheel . . . and to explain why this is such a wonderful time to make the move from every standpoint.

Cadillac

At Home...Among Strangers!

You're going to get a wonderful thrill when you take the wheel of your first Cadillac and head out into the country—a long, long way from home.

We're not just talking about the car's wonderful performance and its extraordinary riding and handling ease—satisfying and inspiring though these are bound to be.

No, we're talking about something more.

We're talking about the friendliness you're going to encounter—how you'll be driving among people who seem to know something about you, and who are ready to trust and respect you as if they had known you for a long, long time.

This is true, of course, because Cadillac quality and goodness have made it the overwhelming preference of people of judgment and discrimination—and the whole world has come to know and understand this and to appreciate what it means.

Yes, your best foot is forward when it rests on the throttle of a 1956 Cadillac.

This great personal benefit is strictly a plus value when you take the title of the "car of cars." It comes in addition to the long-known Cadillac virtues: matchless beauty and luxury and comfort, and safety and long life.

Why not consider a Cadillac for your next car?

It is a logical choice—not only for quality and goodness and prestige—but for economy of ownership and operation as well.

We suggest that you come in soon and see for yourself. We'll be happy to give you a personal demonstration at the wheel . . . and to explain why this is such a wonderful time to make the move from every standpoint.

Director Discusses Mozart

Charles I. Sager, director of the Cumberland Choral Society, gave a brief talk on Mozart, preceding the rehearsal of the "Requiem in D. Minor," last evening at the city hall.

He reminded the choral society that Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart," a musician extraordinaire, was equally versatile as a performer and composer; his performances were tremendous and his compositions incomparable. Besides his operas as The Marriage of Figaro, Don Juan and finally The Magic Flute, further proof of Mozart's universatality is in his church music, chamber music and in the concert hall.

"The death of Mozart, before he passed his 35th year is perhaps the greatest loss the musical world has ever suffered. To his last hour his genius continued to develop. In "The Magis Flute" and the "Requiem" is the presentiment that hidden springs are on the point of bursting forth."

"Mozart's "Requiem," vital with the spirit of eternity, shows, even in its incompleteness, as perhaps no other work of his does, what incalculable treasures he took with him to his grave. Which parts of this work are Mozart's and which one of his pupil's after his death, has been a point of conjecture for years. The pupil followed so closely his master's footsteps that it is difficult to find the transition from one to the other. From the first chorus, "Requiem Aeternam," to "Rex Tremendae," to the "Recordare," Confutatis," and "Lacrymosa," there is a nobility beyond expression."

The society is presenting the "Requiem", May 7 at 8 o'clock in the Allegany High School auditorium, as its part in the world celebration of the bicentennial of the birth of the composer.

Director Discusses Mozart

Charles I. Sager, director of the Cumberland Choral Society, gave a brief talk on Mozart, preceding the rehearsal of the "Requiem in D. Minor," last evening at the city hall.

He reminded the choral society that Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart," a musician extraordinaire, was equally versatile as a performer and composer; his performances were tremendous and his compositions incomparable. Besides his operas as The Marriage of Figaro, Don Juan and finally The Magic Flute, further proof of Mozart's universatality is in his church music, chamber music and in the concert hall.

"The death of Mozart, before he passed his 35th year is perhaps the greatest loss the musical world has ever suffered. To his last hour his genius continued to develop. In "The Magis Flute" and the "Requiem" is the presentiment that hidden springs are on the point of bursting forth."

"Mozart's "Requiem," vital with the spirit of eternity, shows, even in its incompleteness, as perhaps no other work of his does, what incalculable treasures he took with him to his grave. Which parts of this work are Mozart's and which one of his pupil's after his death, has been a point of conjecture for years. The pupil followed so closely his master's footsteps that it is difficult to find the transition from one to the other. From the first chorus, "Requiem Aeternam," to "Rex Tremendae," to the "Recordare," Confutatis," and "Lacrymosa," there is a nobility beyond expression."

The society is presenting the "Requiem", May 7 at 8 o'clock in the Allegany High School auditorium, as its part in the world celebration of the bicentennial of the birth of the composer.

H. Clifford Spiker Named To Zoning Appeals Board

H. Clifford Spiker, 504 Prince George Street, is the new member of the Board of Zoning Appeals replacing Charles Paul Roeder whose term has expired.

The Mayor and Council approved Spiker's appointment yesterday effective March 1.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz told council that under the Acts of 1933, Chapter 599, members of the board are appointed for three years, but no provision is made for "staggered terms" and all three members of the board complete their terms at the same time. He said the terms should be staggered.

Until further study is made, council did not designate when Spiker's term would expire. Other members are James C. Gardiner, who was first appointed in 1948, and William B. Orndorff who has served since 1949.

Council also authorized a change in plans of the Evitts Creek pumping station and force main in connection with the sewage treatment plant being constructed off Offutt Street. The relocation will cost $59,830 or an estimated $3,000 more than the original bid price, it was pointed out. The change was brought about by a relocation of the proposed Industrial Boulevard.

Buchholtz was authorized to readvertise for bids on a clam shell bucket and a used crane boom excavator. Original bids on the equipment were too high, he said, adding the gear is needed to complete replacement of a sewer on Valley Street which has left an excavation open on that street for a number of months.

Received and turned over to Mayor Roy W. Eves was a letter from J. W. Stein, president of Local 26, Rubber Workers, who said he wanted to meet with council on the proposed automatic gates and crossing lights along the B&O railroad. Stein said he had statistics covering crossing accidents which he wants to discuss with council.

Reclassification of Robert L. Ritchie from laborer to chainman in the Engineering Department was approved. Salary will be $284.50 a month. The change has been approved by the Civil Service Commission and is effective March 1.

Auxiliary Meets Today

Sacred Heart Hospital Auxiliary will meet today at 2 p. m. at the Nurses Home, Decatur Street. The business meeting will be followed by sewing.

Three Injured In Auto Mishap

Three members of an Elk Garden, W. Va. family were injured in an auto accident over the weekend.

Mrs. Josephine Keplinger, of Elk Garden, and her two sons, David, 10, and Robert, 12, are patients in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, after sustaining injuries in a headon accident on Allegheny Front Sunday afternoon.

Trooper Charles Oliver, of the West Virginia State Police Detachment at Keyser, said Mrs. Keplinger and her sons were injured when an automobile driven by Mrs. Catherine Watson, 46, of RD 1, Rivesville, W. Va., crossed the highway and smashed headon into the Keplinger car, driven by Frank Keplinger.

Mrs. Keplinger sustained a lacerated right cheek, and David Keplinger sustained a possible fracture of the right arm.

Mrs. Watson suffered head injuries, a left knee injury, and cuts on the right ankle, left wrist and right arm. Her condition yesterday morning was reported good.

Trooper Oliver said Mrs. Watson's sedan was in a ditch along the highway and, as she pulled out, she lost control of the vehicle, crossed the highway and smashed head on into the Keplinger auto.

Trooper Oliver charged the woman with failing to keep to the right of the highway. Approximately $700 damage was caused to the Keplinger vehicle, authorities said.

Council To Appoint City Historical Group

Plans for appointment of a "Cumberland Historical Committee" received unanimous approval of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The committee, when named, will select a theme from the historical past of the Cumberland area, for a one-week celebration. Should the promotion and commemoration be a success, consideration will be given to making the affair and annual event.

In approving the resolution, council provided that $100 be appropriated from the Contingent Fund to assist the committee in accomplishing its aim.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said last week he had received a number of inquiries concerning the establishment of such a committee, and added it is a direct result of the success of the Bicentennial celebration here last year.

City Departments File Reports For February

A number of month-end reports and routine matters were acted upon by the Mayor and Council yesterday morning.

Property easement purchases approved included: Rosa B. Evans for flood control; Maurice Diggs and Gerard Feeney, attorney for heirs of Patrick Feeney, water line to Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Council okehed payment of $432 to Leroy A. Schooley for services as inspector on the Market Street Bridge between Jan. 26 and Feb. 24; and $12,471.72 to H. D. Case, Inc., of Mt. Airy, for work performed on the bridge between Feb. 1-29.

Payment of $32,301.92 to Cumberland Construction Company as fourth estimate for work performed between Jan. 30 and Feb. 29 on Pittsburgh Plate water line also was authorized.

Another $10,001.70 to Hazelwood Construction Company represents work performed between November 30 and February 29 on alterations at the Lake Gordon filter plant.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said the department made 889 arrests and fines totaled $1,582 last month. The Fire Department responded to 35 calls but damage was minor.

Tax Collector George E. Davis reported the following collections: general, $11,770.06; general improvement bonds, $1,049.46; 1931 sewer bonds, $685.97; and water rents, $39,383.79; total, $52,889.28.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery said receipts at his office amounted to $1,385.50 including $868.65 from bingo and recreation admission tax on bingo and $513.85 from the Sunday movie tax.

Acting parking meter inspector Louis Downey said collections the week of Feb. 19-26 decreased $114.61.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said his department read 4,400 meters; installed 16 new meters, installed 486 feet of four inch main, renewed 161 feet of one-inch main; received three applications for taps and five for meters last month.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz reported 37 paved streets, 6 paved alleys and 12 catch basins cleaned; holes filled on 15 streets with blacktop; on 19 with concrete and on 40 streets and alleys with shale and crushed stone. Renewed was 125 feet of curb on Baker Street and the deck of the bridge on Laing Avenue was rebuilt. A number of trees were cut down. His department also opened up 14 sewers and renewed 11 others.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said his department issued eight building permits valued at $60,800 and issued three sewer permits.

Esso Standard Oil Company was granted permission to install four 3,000 gallon gasoline storage tanks and one 1,000 gallons slop oil tank at its new station site, corner Frederick and Linden Streets.

Prior to the meeting, council agreed to send a wire urging Governor McKeldin to sign a bill aimed at keeping foreign-owned breweries out of Maryland.

The first commercial phonograph record changer, forerunner of the juke box, was invented by Karl Schwartz of Elkhart Lake, Wis.

City Arranges Meeting On Freno Damage Issue

An attorney for Stephen Freno, 465 Warren Street, wrote the Mayor and Council yesterday that damages in the amount of several thousands of dollars had been caused to the Freno property by the Frederick Street Improvement project.

Peter J. Carpenti, the attorney, told council he would suggest a meeting prior to his filing of a suit for damages looking to an adjustment or settlement. He said he would also bring up the subject of moving back the Freno house in lieu of any or all damages.

The Mayor and Council, by a 4-1 vote, recently rejected a $4,900 expenditure to bring the Freno house in line with other residential properties in the Frederick Street area. This action, however, did not block the matter from further consideration.

Lists 10 Items

In his letter to council, Carpenti listed 10 items of damage for which he claimed compensation due.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said plans are already being made for a meeting with Carpenti, Freno, S. T. Brotemarkle Company, and the State Roads Commission to look into the matter. A check will be made to see if all allegations made by Freno are correct, he said.

Council referred the letter to Finan, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz to arrange for further discussion.

Buchholtz contended the damages are between Freno, the contractor and the insurance company and expressed the opinion, as he did formerly, that the city has no liability in the matter.

Other Activity

In other activity, council accepted a report from City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson on the city's contribution to the Bicentennial celebration.

Gibson said the Bicentennial Corporation had charged items in the amount of $1,300 to the city and this with the $6,200 in cash refunded, constitutes the advance of $7,500 made for the celebration. Acceptance of the report is evidence of the full return of the city's contribution, it was said.

Council also approved a contribution to Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, in a two-part transaction. It approved a $300 grant for the 1956 fund campaign to come from the theatre tax fund. An additional $700 is provided for the bloodmobile program if needed to insure its continuation. Should the blood program be discontinued, the $700 contribution will be void. The total of $1,000 involved is the same amount as made available last year, Finance Commissioner John J. Long said.

Truck Driver Hurt As Pistol Discharges

A 30-year-old Gary, Ind., man was injured Sunday on North Centre Street when the pistol he was cleaning accidentally discharged.

Attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital said Thomas A. Tucker was treated for powder burns of the right hand.

City Police, who investigated, said Tucker was injured when his .32 pistol discharged as he was sitting in a truck on North Centre Street.

LaVale Area Homes Get City Water

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer yesterday said personnel of the Allegany County Health Department will begin chlorinating the lines of the Braddock Farms Water Association this afternoon, and that residents of that area will be supplied with city water as soon as the work is completed.

The city water, according to J. Byron Dowling, chief sanitarian, should be available to the approximately 50 families serviced by the Braddock Farms Association late today.

The water, Dowling explained, will be supplied through the LaVale Sanitary Commission under an agreement worked out last month at a meeting of the groups involved.

The Braddock Farms water supply was condemned as being unsanitary following an inspection of the lines February 2. Samples taken disclosed organisms indicating sewage contamination and the presence of harmful bacteria. The reservoir of the company was also in bad condition, Dowling's report stated.

Since the condemnation, the health department has been daily chlorinating the Braddock Farms water supply. This will be unnecessary after the city water is turned in the lines, Dowling pointed out.

Hubert Booth of London invented the vacuum cleaner around 1901.

Plans for appointment of a "Cumberland Historical Committee" received unanimous approval of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The committee, when named, will select a theme from the historical past of the Cumberland area, for a one-week celebration. Should the promotion and commemoration be a success, consideration will be given to making the affair and annual event.

In approving the resolution, council provided that $100 be appropriated from the Contingent Fund to assist the committee in accomplishing its aim.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said last week he had received a number of inquiries concerning the establishment of such a committee, and added it is a direct result of the success of the Bicentennial celebration here last year.

City Departments File Reports For February

A number of month-end reports and routine matters were acted upon by the Mayor and Council yesterday morning.

Property easement purchases approved included: Rosa B. Evans for flood control; Maurice Diggs and Gerard Feeney, attorney for heirs of Patrick Feeney, water line to Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Council okehed payment of $432 to Leroy A. Schooley for services as inspector on the Market Street Bridge between Jan. 26 and Feb. 24; and $12,471.72 to H. D. Case, Inc., of Mt. Airy, for work performed on the bridge between Feb. 1-29.

Payment of $32,301.92 to Cumberland Construction Company as fourth estimate for work performed between Jan. 30 and Feb. 29 on Pittsburgh Plate water line also was authorized.

Another $10,001.70 to Hazelwood Construction Company represents work performed between November 30 and February 29 on alterations at the Lake Gordon filter plant.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said the department made 889 arrests and fines totaled $1,582 last month. The Fire Department responded to 35 calls but damage was minor.

Tax Collector George E. Davis reported the following collections: general, $11,770.06; general improvement bonds, $1,049.46; 1931 sewer bonds, $685.97; and water rents, $39,383.79; total, $52,889.28.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery said receipts at his office amounted to $1,385.50 including $868.65 from bingo and recreation admission tax on bingo and $513.85 from the Sunday movie tax.

Acting parking meter inspector Louis Downey said collections the week of Feb. 19-26 decreased $114.61.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said his department read 4,400 meters; installed 16 new meters, installed 486 feet of four inch main, renewed 161 feet of one-inch main; received three applications for taps and five for meters last month.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz reported 37 paved streets, 6 paved alleys and 12 catch basins cleaned; holes filled on 15 streets with blacktop; on 19 with concrete and on 40 streets and alleys with shale and crushed stone. Renewed was 125 feet of curb on Baker Street and the deck of the bridge on Laing Avenue was rebuilt. A number of trees were cut down. His department also opened up 14 sewers and renewed 11 others.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said his department issued eight building permits valued at $60,800 and issued three sewer permits.

Prior to the meeting, council agreed to send a wire urging Governor McKeldin to sign a bill aimed at keeping foreign-owned breweries out of Maryland.

The first commercial phonograph record changer, forerunner of the juke box, was invented by Karl Schwartz of Elkhart Lake, Wis.

City Arranges Meeting On Freno Damage Issue

An attorney for Stephen Freno, 465 Warren Street, wrote the Mayor and Council yesterday that damages in the amount of several thousands of dollars had been caused to the Freno property by the Frederick Street Improvement project.

Peter J. Carpenti, the attorney, told council he would suggest a meeting prior to his filing of a suit for damages looking to an adjustment or settlement. He said he would also bring up the subject of moving back the Freno house in lieu of any or all damages.

The Mayor and Council, by a 4-1 vote, recently rejected a $4,900 expenditure to bring the Freno house in line with other residential properties in the Frederick Street area. This action, however, did not block the matter from further consideration.

Lists 10 Items

In his letter to council, Carpenti listed 10 items of damage for which he claimed compensation due.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said plans are already being made for a meeting with Carpenti, Freno, S. T. Brotemarkle Company, and the State Roads Commission to look into the matter. A check will be made to see if all allegations made by Freno are correct, he said.

Council referred the letter to Finan, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz to arrange for further discussion.

Buchholtz contended the damages are between Freno, the contractor and the insurance company and expressed the opinion, as he did formerly, that the city has no liability in the matter.

Other Activity

In other activity, council accepted a report from City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson on the city's contribution to the Bicentennial celebration.

Gibson said the Bicentennial Corporation had charged items in the amount of $1,300 to the city and this with the $6,200 in cash refunded, constitutes the advance of $7,500 made for the celebration. Acceptance of the report is evidence of the full return of the city's contribution, it was said.

Council also approved a contribution to Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, in a two-part transaction. It approved a $300 grant for the 1956 fund campaign to come from the theatre tax fund. An additional $700 is provided for the bloodmobile program if needed to insure its continuation. Should the blood program be discontinued, the $700 contribution will be void. The total of $1,000 involved is the same amount as made available last year, Finance Commissioner John J. Long said.

Truck Driver Hurt As Pistol Discharges

A 30-year-old Gary, Ind., man was injured Sunday on North Centre Street when the pistol he was cleaning accidentally discharged.

City Police, who investigated, said Tucker was injured when his .32 pistol discharged as he was sitting in a truck on North Centre Street.

Eleven local men will leave for induction into the Armed Forces on Thursday, according to P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator for the local Selective Service Boards.

Fahey said the men will leave from the Post Office Building at 6:30 a. m. by Greyhound bus for Fairmont. The bus will stop in Frostburg to pick up another group of inductees.

Hubert Booth of London invented the vacuum cleaner around 1901.

LaVale Area Homes Get City Water

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer yesterday said personnel of the Allegany County Health Department will begin chlorinating the lines of the Braddock Farms Water Association this afternoon, and that residents of that area will be supplied with city water as soon as the work is completed.

The city water, according to J. Byron Dowling, chief sanitarian, should be available to the approximately 50 families serviced by the Braddock Farms Association late today.

The water, Dowling explained, will be supplied through the LaVale Sanitary Commission under an agreement worked out last month at a meeting of the groups involved.

The Braddock Farms water supply was condemned as being unsanitary following an inspection of the lines February 2. Samples taken disclosed organisms indicating sewage contamination and the presence of harmful bacteria. The reservoir of the company was also in bad condition, Dowling's report stated.

Since the condemnation, the health department has been daily chlorinating the Braddock Farms water supply. This will be unnecessary after the city water is turned in the lines, Dowling pointed out.

Hunters Get Suspended Fine Here

Three Accused Of Spotlighting

Three men, arrested early Saturday morning and charged with hunting without a license and spotlighting, were given suspended fines of $100 and costs yesterday morning in a hearing before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

They are Johnie C. Lucy, of Oklahoma City, Okla., a member of the Air Force, Gerald Slider, of Town Creek, also in the Air Force, and Fred A. Bible of Flintstone.

Lucy was visiting with Slider. The three men were arrested about 2 a. m. Saturday along Town Creek Road near Pumpkin Center, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

Minke said that the three men were in a car and in their possession were two pistols and a high powered spotlight.

The pistols and spotlight were confiscated, Minke added. Arresting officers were District Wardens Joseph J. Keating, Francis H. Ruge and Lawrence C. Fiorita.

James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney, prosecuted and William L. Wilson Jr., was defense attorney.

The magistrate said the defense contended the weapons, one was an Air Force pistol, were not the type which would be used to kill deer.

But the law, he said, clearly states it is a violation to have in one's possession any firearm or implement which could kill a deer.

He said the men reported they were out hunting "possums" that had been killing chickens at the home of Slider's father.

Magistrate Mason pointed out game wardens have had complaints of spotlighting in the Town Creek area, but that two of the arrested men returned the day before after a year's service in Greenland, and could not have been the men who caused the complaints.

Amcelle Employe Injured At Work

An Amcelle plant employe is a patient in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted on Sunday night with injuries sustained while he was at work.

He is John E. Robinette, of 217 Greene Street, who is reported in "good" condition. Robinette, a spinner, suffered a fractured right leg and he reportedly fell while at work at the local plant. The accident occurred about 10 p. m. Sunday.

It was only in 1931 that Congress made The Star Spangled Banner the national anthem of the United States.

The more regularly you care for your skin, the better chance you have to avoid unnecessary, premature lines and wrinkles.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Wrinkle Worries

"What causes wrinkles to appear suddenly around the eyes, mouth and forehead? My husband has none, but mine seem to be appearing all at once," a reader writes.

It may seem to you that wrinkles arrive all at once, but actually the process is a gradual one. Every time you furrow your brow, frown, or pucker your lips you invite wrinkles. A common cause of facial droop and wrinkles often occurs over something that is usually overlooked . . . the loss of side or back teeth. When this happens, and the replacement is not taken care of, the tendency is to chew on the side that has a full complement of teeth. This side then does double duty which keeps the muscles fully toned. The unused side suffers.

Breaking the habit of grimacing or frowning is not easy. However, when you expect to be alone for any period of time, place a plaster over the danger spots. Then, as you start to wrinkle your brow, the plaster will gently tug at your skin and act as a reminder.

To waylay these unwanted lines and to soften and smooth your skin, it is wise to use a dry-skin cream or oil for a systematic massage each day. Apply a lubricant and use the pads on the third and fourth fingers to "wipe" lines away. For horizontal lines across the brow, start at the top of the bridge of the nose and move upward to the hairline . . . using both hands. For the vertical furrows (still using both hands), massage gently from the center outward. Move the fingers a fraction apart and repeat the stroke. Do for 5 minutes.

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?"—Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! This "P.S." gives you complete information on handling lines to your own best advantage. Santee Counsel May Cite Avery

Contempt Action Threatens Brundage

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—The attorney for Wes Santee threatened contempt of court action against Avery Brundage today for a statement attributed to the president of the International Olympic Committee.

The attorney, Charles P. Grimes, also said he planned to try to get Congress to investigate operations of the IOC and the Amateur Athletic Union, with whom Santee is staging a running fight over a lifetime suspension.

"If Mr. Brundage was quoted correctly, then he was in clear contempt of court," said Grimes. "I warn him he had better stay out of the jurisdiction of New York courts or I'll try to have him cited.

Brundage was quoted at his Santa Barbara, Calif., home as saying that if he were an amateur runner he would not compete against Santee despite a New York Supreme Court injunction temporarily staying an AAU ban on the crack American miler.

The IOC president could not be reached immediately for comment on Grimes' statement.

Santee, whose 4:00.5 mile is the fastest ever run by an American, was handed a suspension Feb. 19 by the executive committee of the AAU, which charged him with taking money over permissible expenses for participation in several track meets last year.

Last Thursday Grimes, arguing the AAU acted without proper jurisdiction, obtained an injunction from State Supreme Court Justice James McNally, forbidding the AAU from enforcing the suspension until the case could be heard March 9.

The AAU appealed the McNally decision to the appellate division of the Supreme Court, which refused to lift the injunction. So Santee ran in the Columbian Mile of the Knights of Columbus Games, beating Ed Shea and Ed Kirk in the mediocre clocking of 4:13.8.

All members of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus are requested to meet at the Silcox Funeral Home, Tuesday evening, March 6 at 8:15 PM. The rosary will be recited at that time for the happy repose of the soul of our late brother,

Santee Counsel May Cite Avery

Contempt Action Threatens Brundage

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—The attorney for Wes Santee threatened contempt of court action against Avery Brundage today for a statement attributed to the president of the International Olympic Committee.

The attorney, Charles P. Grimes, also said he planned to try to get Congress to investigate operations of the IOC and the Amateur Athletic Union, with whom Santee is staging a running fight over a lifetime suspension.

"If Mr. Brundage was quoted correctly, then he was in clear contempt of court," said Grimes. "I warn him he had better stay out of the jurisdiction of New York courts or I'll try to have him cited.

Brundage was quoted at his Santa Barbara, Calif., home as saying that if he were an amateur runner he would not compete against Santee despite a New York Supreme Court injunction temporarily staying an AAU ban on the crack American miler.

The IOC president could not be reached immediately for comment on Grimes' statement.

Santee, whose 4:00.5 mile is the fastest ever run by an American, was handed a suspension Feb. 19 by the executive committee of the AAU, which charged him with taking money over permissible expenses for participation in several track meets last year.

Last Thursday Grimes, arguing the AAU acted without proper jurisdiction, obtained an injunction from State Supreme Court Justice James McNally, forbidding the AAU from enforcing the suspension until the case could be heard March 9.

The AAU appealed the McNally decision to the appellate division of the Supreme Court, which refused to lift the injunction. So Santee ran in the Columbian Mile of the Knights of Columbus Games, beating Ed Shea and Ed Kirk in the mediocre clocking of 4:13.8.

Changes In Price Support Formula

Even if the Senate, in the vote scheduled for Thursday, gives inflexible farm price supports too thin a margin to override a Presidential veto, that wouldn't preclude some changes in the present system acceptable to the administration as a compromise. Certainly the system has been changed frequently since it went into operation in 1938.

Under the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933 the Commodity Credit Corporation made non-recourse loans to farmers accepting controls over production. After the 1933 act was invalidated by the Supreme Court (six to three) on January 6, 1936, the 1938 AAA act made government support mandatory for storable crops at from 52 to 75 per cent of parity prices.

Congress in May 1941 put the support level for basic crops up to 85 per cent. This later was extended to 14 non-basic commodities. The figure went to 90 per cent for most crops, 92½ per cent for cotton, in October 1942 to stimulate the high production needed in war-time.

Legislation of 1948 provided for flexible support levels at from 90 to 75 per cent of parity, to begin in 1952, but the effective date of the new levels was several times extended. They finally went into effect in 1955, after Congress in 1954 had cushioned the drop by making them 90 to 82½ per cent for the first year of the changeover.

Big Gas-Oil Contributions To Ike's Campaign Helped Bring On Gas Veto

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Hits And Errors—Jacob Michael, Zionist owner of the SS James Monroe, carrying 18 tanks to Saudi Arabia, has now admitted publicly that his family does own the vessel. Earlier he had steadfastly denied this to me. Congratulations. He is now trying to do something about transferring the ship to another port. . . . William H. Evans Jr., of Hyattsville, Md., who, according to this column of September 20-21, was trying to sell 1,800 British sten guns and 140 German machine guns to the Egyptian embassy, has now been indicted on the charge of possessing munitions. . . . The inside story of how Henry Ford required his Ford dealers to contribute to the Eisenhower campaign was first reported in this column three years ago — October 21 and October 27, 1952. Last month, the story of Ford political collections was told under oath before Senator Monroney's committee investigating auto dealers.... Chalk up an error for this column in reporting some details of the Eisenhower cabinet meeting which recommended a veto of the gas bill. Secretary of Defense Wilson was not present, as reported. He was in Miami, but sent word that he favored a veto. Also Postmaster General Summerfield did not speak out for a veto as reported. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Attorney General Brownell, as previously reported, were the chief advocates of a veto. . . . Another factor which influenced the veto which I failed to report was that his own campaign had received important contributions from the gas-oil men. This helped to put him on record against the gas lobby in no uncertain terms. It was wise strategy, because already it has leaked out that the Kecks of Superior Oil contributed to Citizens for Eisenhower. The full story is involved but highly interesting.

The Gas Story

Among those who first urged Ike to run for president were Sid Richardson and Clint Murchison of Texas, two of the wealthiest oil-gas men in the world. They went to Paris when he was in command of SHAPE, literally camped out there, begging him to run. Later they picked up some of the pre-convention campaign expenses Ike incurred in getting ready to run.

They have not only been heavy contributors but good friends. This was why Eisenhower telephoned them in advance to tell them he was sorry but he had to veto the gas bill.

On top of Richardson and Murchsion, scores of other oil-gas men dumped hundreds of thousands of dollars, probably well over a million, into Ike's campaign. They carried Texas and Oklahoma, normally Democratic. Of course they "liked Ike." But they also understood from Jack Porter, Ike's No. 1 money-raiser in Texas, that he would undo Harry Truman's veto of the gas bill.

So shortly after the election, careful plans were made to put across a new gas bill.

Characteristically, Eisenhower appointed a cabinet committee to study the matter. Official chairman was Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming, but actually the committee was run by Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. Other members were Attorney General Brownell, Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson, Secretary of the Interior McKay, Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell.

Oilmen At White House

Under Humphrey's influence the committee called in the oil industry to write the recommendations. These men were not paid by the government, but remained on the payrolls of their oil companies while drafting their recommendations for the White House. Needless to say, they came up with proposals benefiting the oil industry by many millions of dollars. Their recommendations were not only stronger than the gas bill voted by the Senate, but were accepted hook, line and sinker by Secretary Humphrey.

For example, Ike's veto message called for a rewrite of the gas bill, offering more protection for the consumers. Yet the final proposals submitted to the President by his cabinet committee offered less protection for the consumers than the Senate bill. The truth is that the cabinet committee made no attempt to get the consumer side of the story at all, despite repeated urging from Sen. Paul Douglas (D., Ill.). It accepted the oil industry's proposals without qualification.

In the end, the cabinet committee recommended gas legislation much stronger than the Senate finally passed.

Humphrey In Reverse

No one knew better than Humphrey that oilmen had sat right inside the White House as government consultants and laid out the kind of gas legislation the industry wanted. It is interesting therefore, that Humphrey — the man who prepared the final report proposing to give the oil industry exactly what it wanted — led in urging the President to veto the gas bill.

By that time Senator Case of South Dakota had revealed the $2,500 offered to influence his vote. There followed private indications which the Justice Department received from its U. S. attorney, Donald R. Ross, in Nebraska, that similar offers had been made in Nebraska and other states. Thus the White House knew well before the public how far-reaching were the gas lobby's operations.

It was also known that if a Senate committee got poking into oil-gas contributions. It might reach out in all directions — including the oil-gas men who contributed so heavily to Eisenhower.

All of this made it just good common political horse sense to put the President vigorously on the side of the public and against the arrogance of the gas lobby.

Subtle Pressure To Drop Nixon Is Used On Ike

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Efforts are being made in the most subtle fashion to persuade President Eisenhower to desert Vice President Nixon and agree to someone else for second place on the ticket. Some of the same people who tried to convince Mr. Eisenhower to abandon his running mate in the midst of the 1952 campaign are active again in the plot. They know little or nothing about national politics. They don't realize they could split the Republican party wide open and imperil its chances of victory this year.

For there's only one way to defeat Mr. Eisenhower—and that's to develop an emotional issue such as wrecked the Republican party in 1912 and gave the Democrats the presidency on a platter.

If economic conditions are favorable the party in power usually wins but when there's a deep-seated emotionalism among the voters, which causes any substantial segment to protest, then defeat is inevitable irrespective of all other considerations.

Nixon A Symbol

The Republican party has already had one experience with stay-at-home voters. This was in the 1954 congressional campaign in certain states. Governor Harriman, Democrat, owed his victory and Senator Ives, Republican, lost the gubernatorial race because disaffected Republicans stayed at home in key counties in New York State.

Throughout the nation in several pivotal states it is the regular Republicans on whose enthusiasm the party nominees must depend. It is going to be hard enough to bring that faction into line and only the yeoman efforts of the indefatigable Senator Knowland of California will be able to accomplish that result. If Nixon isn't on the ticket, this task will be doubly difficult because Nixon symbolizes the fight against the Communists in government. For he helped to expose Alger Hiss and hasn't been forgiven by the "liberals" for that service to his country.

While Vice President Nixon and Senator Knowland haven't seen eye to eye in California politics, it is unlikely that Mr. Knowland would be stirred to enthusiasm if his fellow Californian with whom he maintains a close personal friendship is ditched through misrepresentations by the very same crowd who have been fighting Knowland and trying at times to oust him from the leadership of his party in the Senate.

This correspondent well remembers the maneuvering that went on in the California delegation just before Ike was nominated in 1952. At that time the then Senator Nixon was leading the fight for Eisenhower support and Senator Knowland was leading the battle for Taft votes. The California delegation was the center of a real struggle. Immediately after the balloting which nominated Eisenhower, this writer said to Mr. Nixon:

Cleavage Too Deep

"There is talk of nominating Senator Taft for vice president so as to bring harmony to the party. What do you think of it?"

"I would be for it," said Senator Nixon. "You can tell that to anybody."

But the cleavage was too deep and some of the managers of the Eisenhower pre-convention campaign said it wouldn't do.

The significant thing is that Mr. Nixon from that day on has devoted himself to healing the breach in the party. He had the confidence of the late Senator Taft. Mr. Nixon certainly gave no comfort in either the 1952 or 1954 campaign to those who were "soft" on the anti-Communist issue.

The biggest problem that faces the Eisenhower ticket is getting disaffected Republican voters to the polls. This will mean a precinct-by-precinct organization and an effective campaign. Already the President has announced that he will not go "barnstorming" and would make few appearances in person before the voters, leaving his campaign efforts largely to radio, television and printed speeches.

Who then will do the active campaigning? If Vice President Nixon were the nominee for second place once more he could take on in debate the presidential nominee of the other party. The present controversy may provide the build-up in public interest just as it gave Mr. Nixon a television audience of many millions when he was attacked in the 1952 campaign. Strangely enough, though Mr. Nixon explained every detail of his campaign fund, Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for president in 1952 has to this day never explained two of the four campaign funds which he had while governor of Illinois.

Effective Compaigner

Vice President Nixon is an excellent debater and an effective campaigner. He would draw big crowds and attract large television audiences. He is one of the ablest men in public life today and knows the issues better than any man who could be selected as running mate to President Eisenhower. He has been openly "smeared" by Democrats and clandestinely by a group on the Republican side who think that whatever pleases the Stevenson point of view will get Republican votes. It's an illusion which has never panned out—for the independent voters are not a collection of intellectual "liberals" but merely a group that shifts from party to party depending on the vital issues. Candidates in a personality sense are important but their ability to expound the issues is even more important.

Unless the Republican party can get all of its regular vote to the polls and retain the Democrats who shifted in 1952 on the "Communism, Korea and Corruption" issues, it will be a closer race than most people today, even in the Eisenhower camp, are ready to believe.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Honest Graft

Ever since I can remember anything, I have been hearing about the purification of politics. Down where I lived as a boy, Tim Sullivan was the local satrap, and he and his associates lived by what in those days was called "honest graft," namely, a reasonable corruption which all citizens, except the very best, expected that the politicians would practise. The very best citizens did not believe in "honest graft," except when they wanted something of the politicians. Then it became a worthy cause, a progressive endeavor, etc.

Now I notice, after half a century or more, that we are still purifying the electoral system. The immediate cause seems to be that an inexperienced lobbyist handed $2,500 to a senator's representative. The story does not ring true for several reasons. Why, for instance, did not Senator Francis Case howl immediately upon the commission of the foul deed that his virtue was being corrupted? Why did he wait a few days, holding on to the 25 one hundred bills, paid in cash, not by check? Why did he not within a minute of his knowledge of the horror, notify the president of the Senate that his honor had been impugned, his morals assailed, his incorruptibility negated?

I do not know the answers to these questions but such money has been passed from hand to hand and the reformers have been collecting as well as the corruptionists. I should like to know, and I presume most everybody would just for the fun of it, how much the Texas oil men—to mention four of them—put into the 1952 campaign to elect a president of the United states. And I should like to know how much of it was by check and how much by cash.

If all the rumors were provable facts, both parties would be without candidates for any office in all probability because politicians do not regard under the table contributions as morally wrong. In fact, they say that without that kind of money, no one can be elected.

There are many suggestions for purification. Most of the schemes probably could work if television were free, as it was until this year in England. It is the frightful cost of radio and television which requires the parties and their candidates to raise so much money. And television costs are likely to become increasingly expensive as the polticial shows become more spectacular. The day may yet come when a political act on television will last an hour, consisting of a strip-tease, a couple of comedians, and the candidate sandwiched in between, reading lines prepared by Phil Silvers' gag-writers who used to be Milton Berle's gag-writers and who can throw them in the aisles for either party. These shows might be so good that they would be underwritten by a gargle, in which case passing money under the table would not be necessary.

George Washington Plunkett, the philosopher who invented the term, "honest graft," lived too early. In those days, the politician took comparatively little, gave some service for it, and kept most of what they took. Today, the take is in larger denominations, no real service is required, and it all goes for expenses. Few politicians die rich anymore compared to those of a generation ago who were able to earn enough out of defeat to leave their family a competence.

It will be recalled that when Senator Borah, a truly great reformer, died, it was felt that he had devoted himself to his country so unstintingly that a collection should be made; but when the box was opened, packages of dollars appeared heretofore unaccounted for and nothing has been said about it since. It must have been campaign expenses.

I do not disparage anybody nor do I question the morals of those who possess them. But it looks like a big noise is being made and that little will be proved and that the 1956 campaign will cost more than ever and that some of it will be passed under the table as of yore not because men are dishonest but because the cost of getting elected to a comparatively low-salaried, high-cost job is too expensive.

The real way to lick this is to put a total ceiling on campaign costs and then arrest anyone who spends a nickel over the ceiling.

Storm Warning

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The vast majority of Americans must be a bit bewildered by the headlines announcing a crisis in Transjordan. A local king, it seems, has summarily dismissed a peculiar British character with the peculiar appellation of Glubb Pasha from command of the local army.

"But why the devil should I care?" one common-sensible citizen rather peevishly asked these reporters. "I don't even know where Transjordan is."

Yet American interests and even the American future are both rather directly involved in this ugly little crisis in a small and remote nation of the Middle East. So it is well to try to be clear about what has really happened, and then to examine what it really may mean.

Increasing Nationalism

What has really happened, in brief, is that three relatively novel pressures have utterly upset the established order in Transjordan. The first of these pressures, and probably the most important, is generally familiar. It is the increasing nationalism that makes it increasingly intolerable, for all the ex-colonial peoples, to have Westerners in key positions in their countries.

Because of this new nationalism, which one sees all over Asia, Gen. Glubb's position at the head of the Transjordan army was already an anachronism. Yet the anachronism might have lasted a lot longer if it had not been for the two other pressures.

The second pressure was not really a pressure, in our sense of the word, as much as it was a temptation. The Saudi Arabian government is rich beyond the dream of avarice, by Middle Eastern standards, with American oil royalties. The Saudi Arabians have used a substantial share of their oil royalties to subsidize the politicians and the press in neighboring countries. These subsidies have had a great effect in Transjordan, which is both small and poor.

Subsidized By British

In Transjordan, moreover, the government itself has long been subsidized by the British. The whole bill for the Arab Legion, the force that Glubb Pasha headed until last Thursday, was formerly paid by the British taaxpayers. Saudi Arabia and Egypt—really meaning Saudi Arabia, which has the cash to spare—have recently been offering to pay the bill that Britain has always paid. King Hussein of Transjordan's abrupt dismissal of Glubb Pasha means that his government has transferred from the British to the Saudi Arabian payroll.

As for the third pressure involved in the Transjordan crisis, it is simply the new Soviet political offensive in the Middle East. On the one hand, the Communist infiltration of the masses in Transjordan is much further advanced than most people suppose. When the British tried to bring Transjordan into the Baghdad Pact the Communists led the riots that defeated the British attempt. This Communist influence has no doubt softened up King Hussein, so that he is willing to do business with his family's Saudi Arabian enemies.

On the other hand, Communist agents disguised as Arab nationalists also have far-reaching influence at the court of King Saud of Saudi Arabia. But after reviewing all these pressures on Transjordan, you may still ask where we come into this mess.

The answer is fairly simple. In the first place the money that King Saud is dispensing is American money. The Arabian-American Oil Company pays him his oil royalties; and Aranco has allowed the Saudi Arabian ruler to anticipate his royalties for an enormous sum.

Furthermore, the British influence in Transjordan, symbolized by Gen. Glubb, was the last, essential, ghostly survival of the British imperial position in the Middle East. It was, if you like, a kind of visible guarantee of British control of the little Arab sheikhdoms to the south of Transjordan, such as Bahrein and Kuweit. It also reinforced the western links of the much larger neighboring state of Iraq, the key member of the Baghdad Pact.

Major Incident

If anything unlucky happens to Kuweit, Bahrein, and Iraq, it will not only break the Baghdad Pact. Above all it will affect the golden flow of oil from these areas to Britain and Western Europe. Without the oil, Britain will go bankrupt there and then. The Western European economies, even if they do not go totally bankrupt, will come to a dead halt for want of Middle Eastern petroleum. The jugular vein of Western Europe and Britain, in truth, is the oil source of the Middle East.

In short, the future of America's principal NATO partners is in play in the Middle Eastern power game, in which the Transjordan crisis is a major incident. The power game is all the more important to America, because we are also in pawn to our British and European partners. For they control the overseas air bases on which the striking power of the American strategic air command wholly depends.

What has happened in Transjordan can even eventually affect the sacred concept of massive retaliation. To this extent we are involved.

Self-Medication For Pruritis Should Be Avoided

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Itching about the rectum (pruritis ani) is an annoying affliction. There are hundreds of remedies but the majority have little effect because they do not take the cause into consideration. A skin disorder may lead to itching about the anal opening, as the skin in this area is no different from the skin in other parts of the body.

Irritation may stem from a fungous or a bacterial infection. Now and then irritation is associated with hemorrhoids or other lesions of the rectum, including an amebic infection that has escaped detection. Itching continues so long as inflammation exists. The sufferer who scratches vigorously may make matters worse by traumatizing the area.

Allergy may be responsible for rectal itching. Many persons have noted that the symptom begins or is aggravated by eating certain foods, such as milk, eggs, fruit juices, strawberries, shellfish, and chocolate. No one knows why one individual with food sensitivity develops pruritis whereas others start wheezing or break out in hives or eczema.

Digestive disturbances, including diarrhea, may be to blame. Food materials pass through the intestinal tract so rapidly they are still mixed with the ferments and other strong chemicals normally used for digestive purposes. These liquid stools have a scalding effect on the anal canal. Burning occurs when diarrhea is severe, and itching, when there is less irritation.

Pruritis also may represent a hangover from overindulgence in alcoholic beverages and foods such as nuts and popcorn. This explains why rectal specialists do a flourishing business after the holidays and among those returning from vacations, fishing trips, and conventions.

Nervousness is suspected as the origin of rectal itching when there is no visible cause. These individuals are bothered more when they are upset or jittery or fail to get a good night's rest. They are comfortable when business is good and miserable when sales fall off.

Uncleanliness and too much moisture make their contribution. When soap is not removed by proper rinsing the delicate tissues in this region are irritated. This long list of causes of pruritis ani suggests the obvious: Correcting the cause.

Such an approach is more logical than applying, one after another, the hundreds of ointments advertised for this purpose. In fact, self-medication should be avoided, especially with products containing anesthetics. The tissues may become sensitized to these compounds and if this occurs, further applications will precipitate or aggravate itching.

"I know," agreed the waiter grimly, "in Scotland."

After the 1933 act was invalidated by the Supreme Court (six to three) on January 6, 1936, the 1938 AAA act made government support mandatory for storable crops at from 52 to 75 per cent of parity prices.

Congress in May 1941 put the support level for basic crops up to 85 per cent. This later was extended to 14 non-basic commodities. The figure went to 90 per cent for most crops, 92½ per cent for cotton, in October 1942 to stimulate the high production needed in war-time.

Legislation of 1948 provided for flexible support levels at from 90 to 75 per cent of parity, to begin in 1952, but the effective date of the new levels was several times extended. They finally went into effect in 1955, after Congress in 1954 had cushioned the drop by making them 90 to 82½ per cent for the first year of the changeover.

Charting The Party Course

These Days

Honest Graft

Ever since I can remember anything, I have been hearing about the purification of politics. Down where I lived as a boy, Tim Sullivan was the local satrap, and he and his associates lived by what in those days was called "honest graft," namely, a reasonable corruption which all citizens, except the very best, expected that the politicians would practise. The very best citizens did not believe in "honest graft," except when they wanted something of the politicians. Then it became a worthy cause, a progressive endeavor, etc.

Now I notice, after half a century or more, that we are still purifying the electoral system. The immediate cause seems to be that an inexperienced lobbyist handed $2,500 to a senator's representative. The story does not ring true for several reasons. Why, for instance, did not Senator Francis Case howl immediately upon the commission of the foul deed that his virtue was being corrupted? Why did he wait a few days, holding on to the 25 one hundred bills, paid in cash, not by check? Why did he not within a minute of his knowledge of the horror, notify the president of the Senate that his honor had been impugned, his morals assailed, his incorruptibility negated?

I do not know the answers to these questions but such money has been passed from hand to hand and the reformers have been collecting as well as the corruptionists. I should like to know, and I presume most everybody would just for the fun of it, how much the Texas oil men—to mention four of them—put into the 1952 campaign to elect a president of the United States. And I should like to know how much of it was by check and how much by cash.

If all the rumors were provable facts, both parties would be without candidates for any office in all probability because politicians do not regard under the table contributions as morally wrong. In fact, they say that without that kind of money, no one can be elected.

There are many suggestions for purification. Most of the schemes probably could work if television were free, as it was until this year in England. It is the frightful cost of radio and television which requires the parties and their candidates to raise so much money. And television costs are likely to become increasingly expensive as the polticial shows become more spectacular. The day may yet come when a political act on television will last an hour, consisting of a strip-tease, a couple of comedians, and the candidate sandwiched in between, reading lines prepared by Phil Silvers' gag-writers who used to be Milton Berle's gag-writers and who can throw them in the aisles for either party. These shows might be so good that they would be underwritten by a gargle, in which case passing money under the table would not be necessary.

George Washington Plunkett, the philosopher who invented the term, "honest graft," lived too early. In those days, the politician took comparatively little, gave some service for it, and kept most of what they took. Today, the take is in larger denominations, no real service is required, and it all goes for expenses. Few politicians die rich anymore compared to those of a generation ago who were able to earn enough out of defeat to leave their family a competence.

It will be recalled that when Senator Borah, a truly great reformer, died, it was felt that he had devoted himself to his country so unstintingly that a collection should be made; but when the box was opened, packages of dollars appeared heretofore unaccounted for and nothing has been said about it since. It must have been campaign expenses.

I do not disparage anybody nor do I question the morals of those who possess them. But it looks like a big noise is being made and that little will be proved and that the 1956 campaign will cost more than ever and that some of it will be passed under the table as of yore not because men are dishonest but because the cost of getting elected to a comparatively low-salaried, high-cost job is too expensive.

The real way to lick this is to put a total ceiling on campaign costs and then arrest anyone who spends a nickel over the ceiling.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Hits And Errors—Jacob Michael, Zionist owner of the SS James Monroe, carrying 18 tanks to Saudi Arabia, has now admitted publicly that his family does own the vessel. Earlier he had steadfastly denied this to me. Congratulations. He is now trying to do something about transferring the ship to another port. . . . William H. Evans Jr., of Hyattsville, Md., who, according to this column of September 20-21, was trying to sell 1,800 British sten guns and 140 German machine guns to the Egyptian embassy, has now been indicted on the charge of possessing munitions. . . . The inside story of how Henry Ford required his Ford dealers to contribute to the Eisenhower campaign was first reported in this column three years ago — October 21 and October 27, 1952. Last month, the story of Ford political collections was told under oath before Senator Monroney's committee investigating auto dealers.... Chalk up an error for this column in reporting some details of the Eisenhower cabinet meeting which recommended a veto of the gas bill. Secretary of Defense Wilson was not present, as reported. He was in Miami, but sent word that he favored a veto. Also Postmaster General Summerfield did not speak out for a veto as reported. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Attorney General Brownell, as previously reported, were the chief advocates of a veto. . . . Another factor which influenced the veto which I failed to report was that his own campaign had received important contributions from the gas-oil men. This helped to put him on record against the gas lobby in no uncertain terms. It was wise strategy, because already it has leaked out that the Kecks of Superior Oil contributed to Citizens for Eisenhower. The full story is involved but highly interesting.

The Gas Story

Among those who first urged Ike to run for president were Sid Richardson and Clint Murchison of Texas, two of the wealthiest oil-gas men in the world. They went to Paris when he was in command of SHAPE, literally camped out there, begging him to run. Later they picked up some of the pre-convention campaign expenses Ike incurred in getting ready to run.

They have not only been heavy contributors but good friends. This was why Eisenhower telephoned them in advance to tell them he was sorry but he had to veto the gas bill.

On top of Richardson and Murchsion, scores of other oil-gas men dumped hundreds of thousands of dollars, probably well over a million, into Ike's campaign. They carried Texas and Oklahoma, normally Democratic. Of course they "liked Ike." But they also understood from Jack Porter, Ike's No. 1 money-raiser in Texas, that he would undo Harry Truman's veto of the gas bill.

So shortly after the election, careful plans were made to put across a new gas bill.

Characteristically, Eisenhower appointed a cabinet committee to study the matter. Official chairman was Defense Mobilizer Arthur Flemming, but actually the committee was run by Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. Other members were Attorney General Brownell, Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson, Secretary of the Interior McKay, Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell.

Oilmen At White House

Under Humphrey's influence the committee called in the oil industry to write the recommendations. These men were not paid by the government, but remained on the payrolls of their oil companies while drafting their recommendations for the White House. Needless to say, they came up with proposals benefiting the oil industry by many millions of dollars. Their recommendations were not only stronger than the gas bill voted by the Senate, but were accepted hook, line and sinker by Secretary Humphrey.

For example, Ike's veto message called for a rewrite of the gas bill, offering more protection for the consumers. Yet the final proposals submitted to the President by his cabinet committee offered less protection for the consumers than the Senate bill. The truth is that the cabinet committee made no attempt to get the consumer side of the story at all, despite repeated urging from Sen. Paul Douglas (D., Ill.). It accepted the oil industry's proposals without qualification.

In the end, the cabinet committee recommended gas legislation much stronger than the Senate finally passed.

Humphrey In Reverse

No one knew better than Humphrey that oilmen had sat right inside the White House as government consultants and laid out the kind of gas legislation the industry wanted. It is interesting therefore, that Humphrey — the man who prepared the final report proposing to give the oil industry exactly what it wanted — led in urging the President to veto the gas bill.

By that time Senator Case of South Dakota had revealed the $2,500 offered to influence his vote. There followed private indications which the Justice Department received from its U. S. attorney, Donald R. Ross, in Nebraska, that similar offers had been made in Nebraska and other states. Thus the White House knew well before the public how far-reaching were the gas lobby's operations.

It was also known that if a Senate committee got poking into oil-gas contributions, it might reach out in all directions — including the oil-gas men who contributed so heavily to Eisenhower.

All of this made it just good common political horse sense to put the President vigorously on the side of the public and against the arrogance of the gas lobby.

Subtle Pressure To Drop Nixon Is Used On Ike

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Efforts are being made in the most subtle fashion to persuade President Eisenhower to desert Vice President Nixon and agree to someone else for second place on the ticket. Some of the same people who tried to convince Mr. Eisenhower to abandon his running mate in the midst of the 1952 campaign are active again in the plot. They know little or nothing about national politics. They don't realize they could split the Republican party wide open and imperil its chances of victory this year.

For there's only one way to defeat Mr. Eisenhower—and that's to develop an emotional issue such as wrecked the Republican party in 1912 and gave the Democrats the presidency on a platter.

If economic conditions are favorable the party in power usually wins but when there's a deep-seated emotionalism among the voters, which causes any substantial segment to protest, then defeat is inevitable irrespective of all other considerations.

Nixon A Symbol

The Republican party has already had one experience with stay-at-home voters. This was in the 1954 congressional campaign in certain states. Governor Harriman, Democrat, owed his victory and Senator Ives, Republican, lost the gubernatorial race because disaffected Republicans stayed at home in key counties in New York State.

Throughout the nation in several pivotal states it is the regular Republicans on whose enthusiasm the party nominees must depend. It is going to be hard enough to bring that faction into line and only the yeoman efforts of the indefatigable Senator Knowland of California will be able to accomplish that result. If Nixon isn't on the ticket, this task will be doubly difficult because Nixon symbolizes the fight against the Communists in government. For he helped to expose Alger Hiss and hasn't been forgiven by the "liberals" for that service to his country.

While Vice President Nixon and Senator Knowland haven't seen eye to eye in California politics, it is unlikely that Mr. Knowland would be stirred to enthusiasm if his fellow Californian with whom he maintains a close personal friendship is ditched through misrepresentations by the very same crowd who have been fighting Knowland and trying at times to oust him from the leadership of his party in the Senate.

This correspondent well remembers the maneuvering that went on in the California delegation just before Ike was nominated in 1952. At that time the then Senator Nixon was leading the fight for Eisenhower support and Senator Knowland was leading the battle for Taft votes. The California delegation was the center of a real struggle. Immediately after the balloting which nominated Eisenhower, this writer said to Mr. Nixon:

Cleavage Too Deep

"There is talk of nominating Senator Taft for vice president so as to bring harmony to the party. What do you think of it?"

"I would be for it," said Senator Nixon. "You can tell that to anybody."

But the cleavage was too deep and some of the managers of the Eisenhower pre-convention campaign said it wouldn't do.

The significant thing is that Mr. Nixon from that day on has devoted himself to healing the breach in the party. He had the confidence of the late Senator Taft. Mr. Nixon certainly gave no comfort in either the 1952 or 1954 campaign to those who were "soft" on the anti-Communist issue.

The biggest problem that faces the Eisenhower ticket is getting disaffected Republican voters to the polls. This will mean a precinct-by-precinct organization and an effective campaign. Already the President has announced that he will not go "barnstorming" and would make few appearances in person before the voters, leaving his campaign efforts largely to radio, television and printed speeches.

Who then will do the active campaigning? If Vice President Nixon were the nominee for second place once more he could take on in debate the presidential nominee of the other party. The present controversy may provide the build-up in public interest just as it gave Mr. Nixon a television audience of many millions when he was attacked in the 1952 campaign. Strangely enough, though Mr. Nixon explained every detail of his campaign fund, Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for president in 1952 has to this day never explained two of the four campaign funds which he had while governor of Illinois.

Effective Compaigner

Vice President Nixon is an excellent debater and an effective campaigner. He would draw big crowds and attract large television audiences. He is one of the ablest men in public life today and knows the issues better than any man who could be selected as running mate to President Eisenhower. He has been openly "smeared" by Democrats and clandestinely by a group on the Republican side who think that whatever pleases the Stevenson point of view will get Republican votes. It's an illusion which has never panned out—for the independent voters are not a collection of intellectual "liberals" but merely a group that shifts from party to party depending on the vital issues. Candidates in a personality sense are important but their ability to expound the issues is even more important.

Unless the Republican party can get all of its regular vote to the polls and retain the Democrats who shifted in 1952 on the "Communism, Korea and Corruption" issues, it will be a closer race than most people today, even in the Eisenhower camp, are ready to believe.

Storm Warning

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The vast majority of Americans must be a bit bewildered by the headlines announcing a crisis in Transjordan. A local king, it seems, has summarily dismissed a peculiar British character with the peculiar appellation of Glubb Pasha from command of the local army.

"But why the devil should I care?" one common-sensible citizen rather peevishly asked these reporters. "I don't even know where Transjordan is."

Yet American interests and even the American future are both rather directly involved in this ugly little crisis in a small and remote nation of the Middle East. So it is well to try to be clear about what has really happened, and then to examine what it really may mean.

Increasing Nationalism

What has really happened, in brief, is that three relatively novel pressures have utterly upset the established order in Transjordan. The first of these pressures, and probably the most important, is generally familiar. It is the increasing nationalism that makes it increasingly intolerable, for all the ex-colonial peoples, to have Westerners in key positions in their countries.

Because of this new nationalism, which one sees all over Asia, Gen. Glubb's position at the head of the Transjordan army was already an anachronism. Yet the anachronism might have lasted a lot longer if it had not been for the two other pressures.

The second pressure was not really a pressure, in our sense of the word, as much as it was a temptation. The Saudi Arabian government is rich beyond the dream of avarice, by Middle Eastern standards, with American oil royalties. The Saudi Arabians have used a substantial share of their oil royalties to subsidize the politicians and the press in neighboring countries. These subsidies have had a great effect in Transjordan, which is both small and poor.

Subsidized By British

In Transjordan, moreover, the government itself has long been subsidized by the British. The whole bill for the Arab Legion, the force that Glubb Pasha headed until last Thursday, was formerly paid by the British taxpayers. Saudi Arabia and Egypt—really meaning Saudi Arabia, which has the cash to spare—have recently been offering to pay the bill that Britain has always paid. King Hussein of Transjordan's abrupt dismissal of Glubb Pasha means that his government has transferred from the British to the Saudi Arabian payroll.

As for the third pressure involved in the Transjordan crisis, it is simply the new Soviet political offensive in the Middle East. On the one hand, the Communist infiltration of the masses in Transjordan is much further advanced than most people suppose. When the British tried to bring Transjordan into the Baghdad Pact the Communists led the riots that defeated the British attempt. This Communist influence has no doubt softened up King Hussein, so that he is willing to do business with his family's Saudi Arabian enemies.

On the other hand, Communist agents disguised as Arab nationalists also have far-reaching influence at the court of King Saud of Saudi Arabia. But after reviewing all these pressures on Transjordan, you may still ask where we come into this mess.

The answer is fairly simple. In the first place the money that King Saud is dispensing is American money. The Arabian-American Oil Company pays him his oil royalties; and Aranco has allowed the Saudi Arabian ruler to anticipate his royalties for an enormous sum.

Furthermore, the British influence in Transjordan, symbolized by Gen. Glubb, was the last, essential, ghostly survival of the British imperial position in the Middle East. It was, if you like, a kind of visible guarantee of British control of the little Arab sheikhdoms to the south of Transjordan, such as Bahrein and Kuweit. It also reinforced the western links of the much larger neighboring state of Iraq, the key member of the Baghdad Pact.

Major Incident

If anything unlucky happens to Kuweit, Bahrein, and Iraq, it will not only break the Baghdad Pact. Above all it will affect the golden flow of oil from these areas to Britain and Western Europe. Without the oil, Britain will go bankrupt there and then. The Western European economies, even if they do not go totally bankrupt, will come to a dead halt for want of Middle Eastern petroleum. The jugular vein of Western Europe and Britain, in truth, is the oil source of the Middle East.

In short, the future of America's principal NATO partners is in play in the Middle Eastern power game, in which the Transjordan crisis is a major incident. The power game is all the more important to America, because we are also in pawn to our British and European partners. For they control the overseas air bases on which the striking power of the American strategic air command wholly depends.

What has happened in Transjordan can even eventually affect the sacred concept of massive retaliation. To this extent we are involved.

Self-Medication For Pruritis Should Be Avoided

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Itching about the rectum (pruritis ani) is an annoying affliction. There are hundreds of remedies but the majority have little effect because they do not take the cause into consideration. A skin disorder may lead to itching about the anal opening, as the skin in this area is no different from the skin in other parts of the body.

Irritation may stem from a fungous or a bacterial infection. Now and then irritation is associated with hemorrhoids or other lesions of the rectum, including an amebic infection that has escaped detection. Itching continues so long as inflammation exists. The sufferer who scratches vigorously may make matters worse by traumatizing the area.

Allergy may be responsible for rectal itching. Many persons have noted that the symptom begins or is aggravated by eating certain foods, such as milk, eggs, fruit juices, strawberries, shellfish, and chocolate. No one knows why one individual with food sensitivity develops pruritis whereas others start wheezing or break out in hives or eczema.

Digestive disturbances, including diarrhea, may be to blame. Food materials pass through the intestinal tract so rapidly they are still mixed with the ferments and other strong chemicals normally used for digestive purposes. These liquid stools have a scalding effect on the anal canal. Burning occurs when diarrhea is severe, and itching, when there is less irritation.

Pruritis also may represent a hangover from overindulgence in alcoholic beverages and foods such as nuts and popcorn. This explains why rectal specialists do a flourishing business after the holidays and among those returning from vacations, fishing trips, and conventions.

Nervousness is suspected as the origin of rectal itching when there is no visible cause. These individuals are bothered more when they are upset or jittery or fail to get a good night's rest. They are comfortable when business is good and miserable when sales fall off.

Uncleanliness and too much moisture make their contribution. When soap is not removed by proper rinsing the delicate tissues in this region are irritated. This long list of causes of pruritis ani suggests the obvious: Correcting the cause.

Such an approach is more logical than applying, one after another, the hundreds of ointments advertised for this purpose. In fact, self-medication should be avoided, especially with products containing anesthetics. The tissues may become sensitized to these compounds and if this occurs, further applications will precipitate or aggravate itching.

An ostentatious fellow had given a big dinner party, throwing his weight all over the place, but then tried to effect an exit without tipping the waiter. That worthy, however, had tabbed him correctly, so he deliberately said, in front of the fellow's most important guest, "Haven't you overlooked the gratuity, sir?"

Two Beckley, W. Va., referees, Paul Vennari and Harold Hagy, will officiate the games at Fairmont College.

DeMarco Scores TKO In 9th Over Smith

BOSTON, March 5 (AP)—Tony DeMarco, No. 1 welterweight contender, weathered a first round knockdown to score a ninth round technical knockout over bleeding lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith tonight in an unmerciful flurry at Boston Garden. The time was 45 seconds of the ninth round.

DeMarco weighed 145½, Smith 142.

DeMarco, appearing somewhat rusty and unable to follow up for the kill several times earlier when he had Smith sagging in the nontitle bout, finally rendered the 135-pound king almost helpless at the end of the eighth and finished the job in the ninth.

Dons Retain No. 1 Ranking In Cage Poll

N.C. State, Dayton In Runner-Up Spots

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

If the San Francisco Dons are to start their defense of the National Collegiate basketball championship with anything less than the No. 1 national ranking, this week will have to take care of them.

Picked for the No. 1 spot in the pre-season balloting, the Dons maintained their position today in the 13th and semi-final Associated Press ranking poll of the 1955-56 season. The final votes will be cast next week, after everything has been completed but the national tournaments, and there's every indication San Francisco still will be on top.

Dons Setting Record

The Dons, setting a record with every victory, racked up their 24th victory of the season and their 50th in a row over a two-year stretch last Saturday. Their final regular season game is scheduled tonight against St. Mary's.

Meanwhile, the South's two major conference tournaments and the climactic games of the other conference races sent some favorites tumbling, elevated others and brought San Francisco's principal rivals for national honors into a tight cluster far behind the Dons.

The voting of 131 sports writers and broadcasters resulted in 73 first-place votes for San Francisco, 24 for Alabama's Southeastern Conference champions and a scattering of firsts for other teams. But the tabulation on the usual basis of 10 points for each first place votes, 9 for second, etc., carried North Carolina State into second place and left Dayton in third place and Alabama fourth.

Illinois, holder of the second spot for the past few weeks, tumbled to seventh after losing to Iowa in a key game in the Big Ten race.

San Francisco polled 1,162 out of a possible 1,311 points. North Carolina State, winner of the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament, drew 776 points for second place. Dayton had 743 points, Alabama 720 and Iowa 717. Behind these five came Louisville, Illinois, Southern Methodist, Kentucky and UCLA to complete the top 10.

West Virginia, missing from the rankings for several weeks, collected enough points to be ranked 14th after an impressive victory in the Southern Conference Tournament.

The top 10 teams with first place votes in parentheses and won-lost records through Saturday (points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

1.	San Francisco (73)	24-0	1,162
2.	No. Carolina State (5)	24-3	776
3.	Dayton (1)	23-3	743
4.	Alabama (24)	20-3	720
5.	Iowa (7)	16-5	717
6.	Louisville (6)	23-3	553
7.	Illinois	18-3	427
8.	SMU (2)	22-2	319
9.	Kentucky (2)	19-5	228
10.	UCLA	19-5	191
	Second ten:
11.	Vanderbilt	19-4	168
12.	Holy Cross (3)	22-4	133
13.	Temple	21-3	127
14.	West Virginia (1)	21-8	125
15.	North Carolina	18-5	105
16.	Oklahoma City (3)	18-6	103
17.	Houston	19-5	71
18.	Wake Forest	19-9	51
19.	Duke	19-7	49
20.	Utah (1)	21-5	43

Gavilan, Ballarin Bout Again Delayed

PARIS, March 5 (AP)—The bout between Kid Gavilan of Cuba and Germinal Ballarin of France, originally scheduled for Feb. 23, today was postponed for a second time due to Gavilan's illness.

At the time of the original postponement, to March 8, there were some newspaper hints that a poor box office during the extended cold wave had contributed to Gavilan's grippe.

Today the former world welterweight titleholder was taken to a hospital where a physician diagnosed his trouble as tonsilitis. The bout now is not expected to be held before the third week of March.

Berkeley Springs Joins PVC; Track Added As Major Sport

All-Stars Are Named; Piedmont Is Honored; Marker Is New Prexy

The Potomac Valley Conference became a 16-school circuit with the admission of Berkeley Springs High School to membership at the annual spring dinner meeting last night at the Old Homestead Hotel, Burlington, W. Va.

Berkeley Springs' application for membership was signed by Linn Sheets, principal, and Gerard Calhoun, football and basketball mentor. Calhoun, accompanied by Allen Goldstrom, baseball mentor, attended the meeting. The Indians from Morgan county now play five football and six basketball games with conference teams. Berkeley also will complete in the P.V.C. track meet and baseball circuit.

Lions Retire Trophy

Piedmont High School, coached by William "Huck" Miers, was declared official 1956 conference basketball champion, and received the Cumberland Times-News Trophy and $20 with which to purchase the P.V.C. trophy. The Lions retired the Times-News trophy by winning their third championship in four years. Moorefield won in 1951, Keyser 1952, Ridgeley 1955 and Piedmont in 1953, 1954 and 1956. Piedmont finished its season with a 12-2 mark and Keyser High was the runner-up with an 11-3 record.

Players of five schools were named to the all-conference first team selected by the 14 basketball mentors, namely; William Miers, Piedmont; John R. Shelton, Keyser; Guy Propst, Circleville; Paul Kalbaugh, Elk Garden; Chester Payne, Ridgeley; Jonathan Paugh, Moorefield; Jesse Riggleman, Petersburg; Charles Vance, Wardensville; Clyde Green, Romney; Robert Hartman, Franklin; Cliff Towles, Capon Bridge; Quentin Sayers, Fort Ashby; Wendell Mathias, of Mathias, and Malcolm Norwood, of the West Virginia School for the Deaf, Romney.

All-Stars Are Named

Players named on the first team were:

Scott Ward, Keyser; Bill Bauserman, Moorefield; Clay Smith, Piedmont; Charles Buemi, West Virginia School for the Deaf, and Kenny Hartman, Ridgeley. Ward paced the voting with 33 points with Bauserman second with 30 and Clay Smith and Buemi 22 points each.

The second team was composed of Eddie Orndorff, Piedmont; Tom Rawlings, Elk Garden; John Yankey, Petersburg; Sam Riley, Romney, and John Hershberger, Elk Garden.

Those named on the third team were Dewayne Raines, Circleville; Eddie Linn, Fort Ashby; Eugene Smith, West Virginia School for the Deaf; Chester Merriman, Wardensville, and "Rick" Kephart, Keyser.

Vote Trophy For Track

Track and field was officially recognized as a P.V.C. sport and the conference voted a $10 trophy to the school winning the annual meet. Wesley Abrams, Romney High School coach, proposed that the conference adopt track as a major sport. It was indicated that Fort Hill Stadium in Cumberland will be sought as the site for this year's meet.

A proposal that a $10 across-the-board membership fee be charged all schools in the conference was offered by Frederick "Tack" Clark and adopted by a vote of 8-5.

Parker Black, principal of Keyser High School, submitted a new plan for selection of all-conference basketball teams and the idea was favored by 11 schools. A committee headed by Black will accept selections from three sources, namely, all-opponents, chosen by the players; coaches' selections and those submitted by the conference statistician. Candidates then will be voted on at the annual November meeting.

Southern High School of Oakland announced it was seeking three more baseball games to attain the conference minimum of eight games for the 1956 season.

A proposal to split the conference into two divisions failed because of lack of interest.

Marker New President

J. William Marker, principal of Fort Ashby High School, who served as vice president for the past year, presided in the absence of John B. Twigg, of Romney, and was elected president for the ensuing year. Carl H. Everly, vice principal of Southern High School, Oakland, was elected vice president, and James W. Goldsworthy, vice principal of Keyser High School, was elected secretary-treasurer.

One Berth Open In 12-Team NIT Cage Tourney

Okla. A&M, Lafayette, St. Joseph's Accept

[By The Associated Press]

Only one berth remained open in the 12-team National Invitation Basketball Tournament today as Oklahoma A&M and two Pennsylvania teams—St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Lafayette—accepted bids yesterday.

The NCAA championship tournament also neared completion with but four spots still unfilled in the nation-wide, 25-team field. Completion of conference title races in the Big Ten, Big Seven and Ohio Valley will fill three of the vacancies while the Southeastern Conference was conducting a membership vote to determine its representative.

The final NIT berth may be filled by either Brigham Young, the Skyline Conference runnerup, or Wagner, a small New York college team with an 18-3 record.

Oklahoma A&M, making its fourth NIT appearance after third place finishes in 1938 and 1940 and a fourth place showing in 1944, has a 17-8 record with one game remaining.

First NIT For St. Joseph's

This will be the first NIT for St. Joseph's (20-4), but the second for Lafayette (20-5), which lost to Niagara in the 1955 first round. The two Pennsylvania clubs meet tonight with Lafayette already holding a decision over St. Joseph's this season.

The rest of the NIT field lists defending champion Duquesne, Dayton, Louisville, Marquette, Xavier (Ohio), Niagara, Seton Hall and St. Francis of Brooklyn. The tourney runs March 17 through March 24 at Madison Square Garden.

The NCAA, which begins sectional eliminations March 12 with the national championship final set for Evanston, Ill., March 23, looks like this:

The Southeast Conference is voting on whether to send its champion, Alabama, into the tournament or use the runnerup, Kentucky, since Alabama's five regulars are ineligible under NCAA rules which forbid four-year men to compete.

A poll is being taken among conference directors and Bernie Moore, conference commissioner, said he expects an announcement today.

Iowa Needs Victory

Iowa needed a victory over Indiana last night to take the Big Ten crown, and a berth in the NCAA. Illinois still had a chance in case of an Iowa loss.

Kansas State can qualify as the Big Seven champion by beating Kansas tonight. A loss could eventually produce a four-way tie among K-State, Missouri, Iowa State and Kansas.

The other NCAA berth goes to the winner of the Ohio Valley title. Western Kentucky and Tennessee clash in the first game of a three-way playoff Wednesday with the winner meeting Morehead (Ky) for the crown.

Meanwhile, the lineup for the NCAA preliminaries at Madison Square Garden was announced.

On Monday March 12 Temple and Holy Cross will play in the first game with North Carolina State and Canisius meeting in the second. On the next evening Connecticut and Manhattan meet in the opener with West Virginia presumably playing Dartmouth, the Ivy League champion, in the second.

Merrys Gain Game In Happy League

The Merrys gained a game on league-leading Jollys in matches last week in the Hap-O-Happy Bowling League rolled on the Savoy alleys.

The second place team defeated Smilings, 3-0, while Jollys won 2-1 from Happys. In the other match Cheerfuls defeated Friendlys, 3-0.

High scorers were Walburga Schute, 167-410, for Cheerfuls; Shirley Short, 126-382, Friendlys; Lib Rorick, 315 for Jollys; Gertie Wilkes, 109-292, Happys; Annie Dawson 106 and Lucille Davidson, 280 for Merrys; Sara Dentinger, 102-270 for Smilings. The standings:

Keyser Meets Shinnston In Region 3-A Playoffs Friday

Tourney Set At Fairmont College Gym

Morgantown Opens Against Fairmont East On Thursday

Keyser High's Golden Tornado will meet Shinnston's Spartans in the second game of the semi-finals of the Region 3, West Virginia Class A basketball tournament at Fairmont College Friday. Game time will be 8 p. m.

In the opening game of regional play Morgantown High's Mohigans will do battle with Fairmont East Side High on Thursday at 8 o'clock. The semi-final games will be single-game affairs each night with no preliminary or consolation contests. The finals between the two winners is set Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Play First Tournament

The Tornado's opponent will be vying in a regional tournament for the first time in the history of the Shinnston school. Coach Warder Powell's Spartans gained the distinction with a 59-56 triumph over Fairmont West Side High School in the Section 9-A finals last week.

Shinnston, which lost its final game of the year to Clarksburg Victory High last Friday, 66-63, finished the season with an overall mark of nine victories and 11 losses. The Spartan's top scorer is 6'8" center Dick Ewing.

Coach John Shelton's Keyserites will take a seven-game winning streak into the Friday night fray with Shinnston including Section 11-A wins over Romney, 69-44, and Charles Town, 81-40, at Keyser last week.

Seek 19th Triumph

In the Morgantown High-Fairmont East clash on Thursday the Mohigans will be gunning for their 19th triumph in 20 games. Morgantown already holds two regular season victories over Fairmont East, 76-52 and 73-65.

Coach Clyde Roberts' Mohigans reached the Region 3 playoffs with an easy 75-31 walloping of Mannington High in the Section 12-A finals. Fairmont East, with a 9-11 season mark, edged University High of Morgantown, 63-61, to gain the regional playoffs.

Two Beckley, W. Va., referees, Paul Vennari and Harold Hagy, will officiate the games at Fairmont College.

DeMarco Scores TKO In 9th Over Smith

BOSTON, March 5 (AP)—Tony DeMarco, No. 1 welterweight contender, weathered a first round knockdown to score a ninth round technical knockout over bleeding lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith tonight in an unmerciful flurry at Boston Garden. The time was 45 seconds of the ninth round.

DeMarco weighed 145½, Smith 142.

DeMarco, appearing somewhat rusty and unable to follow up for the kill several times earlier when he had Smith sagging in the nontitle bout, finally rendered the 135-pound king almost helpless at the end of the eighth and finished the job in the ninth.

Dons Retain No. 1 Ranking In Cage Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
The Associated Press

If the San Francisco Dons are to start their defense of the National Collegiate basketball championship with anything less than the No. 1 national ranking, this week will have to take care of them.

Picked for the No. 1 spot in the pre-season balloting, the Dons maintained their position today in the 13th and semi-final Associated Press ranking poll of the 1955-56 season. The final votes will be cast next week, after everything has been completed but the national tournaments, and there's every indication San Francisco still will be on top.

Dons Setting Record

The Dons, setting a record with every victory, racked up their 24th victory of the season and their 50th in a row over a two-year stretch last Saturday. Their final regular season game is scheduled tonight against St. Mary's.

Meanwhile, the South's two major conference tournaments and the climactic games of the other conference races sent some favorites tumbling, elevated others and brought San Francisco's principal rivals for national honors into a tight cluster far behind the Dons.

The voting of 131 sports writers and broadcasters resulted in 73 first-place votes for San Francisco, 24 for Alabama's Southeastern Conference champions and a scattering of firsts for other teams. But the tabulation on the usual basis of 10 points for each first place votes, 9 for second, etc., carried North Carolina State into second place and left Dayton in third place and Alabama fourth.

Illinois, holder of the second spot for the past few weeks, tumbled to seventh after losing to Iowa in a key game in the Big Ten race.

San Francisco polled 1,162 out of a possible 1,311 points. North Carolina State, winner of the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament, drew 776 points for second place. Dayton had 743 points, Alabama 720 and Iowa 717. Behind these five came Louisville, Illinois, Southern Methodist, Kentucky and UCLA to complete the top 10.

Gavilan, Ballarin Bout Again Delayed

PARIS, March 5 (AP)—The bout between Kid Gavilan of Cuba and Germinal Ballarin of France, originally scheduled for Feb. 23, today was postponed for a second time due to Gavilan's illness.

At the time of the original postponement, to March 8, there were some newspaper hints that a poor box office during the extended cold wave had contributed to Gavilan's grippe.

Today the former world welterweight titleholder was taken to a hospital where a physician diagnosed his trouble as tonsilitis. The bout now is not expected to be held before the third week of March.

Berkeley Springs Joins PVC; Track Added As Major Sport

All-Stars Are Named; Piedmont Is Honored; Marker Is New Prexy

The Potomac Valley Conference became a 16-school circuit with the admission of Berkeley Springs High School to membership at the annual spring dinner meeting last night at the Old Homestead Hotel, Burlington, W. Va.

Berkeley Springs' application for membership was signed by Linn Sheets, principal, and Gerard Calhoun, football and basketball mentor. Calhoun, accompanied by Allen Goldstrom, baseball mentor, attended the meeting. The Indians from Morgan county now play five football and six basketball games with conference teams. Berkeley also will complete in the P.V.C. track meet and baseball circuit.

Lions Retire Trophy

Piedmont High School, coached by William "Huck" Miers, was declared official 1956 conference basketball champion, and received the Cumberland Times-News Trophy and $20 with which to purchase the P.V.C. trophy. The Lions retired the Times-News trophy by winning their third championship in four years. Moorefield won in 1951, Keyser 1952, Ridgeley 1955 and Piedmont in 1953, 1954 and 1956. Piedmont finished its season with a 12-2 mark and Keyser High was the runner-up with an 11-3 record.

Players of five schools were named to the all-conference first team selected by the 14 basketball mentors, namely; William Miers, Piedmont; John R. Shelton, Keyser; Guy Propst, Circleville; Paul Kalbaugh, Elk Garden; Chester Payne, Ridgeley; Jonathan Paugh, Moorefield; Jesse Riggleman, Petersburg; Charles Vance, Wardensville; Clyde Green, Romney; Robert Hartman, Franklin; Cliff Towles, Capon Bridge; Quentin Sayers, Fort Ashby; Wendell Mathias, of Mathias, and Malcolm Norwood, of the West Virginia School for the Deaf, Romney.

All-Stars Are Named

Players named on the first team were:

Scott Ward, Keyser; Bill Bauserman, Moorefield; Clay Smith, Piedmont; Charles Buemi, West Virginia School for the Deaf, and Kenny Hartman, Ridgeley. Ward paced the voting with 33 points with Bauserman second with 30 and Clay Smith and Buemi 22 points each.

The second team was composed of Eddie Orndorff, Piedmont; Tom Rawlings, Elk Garden; John Yankey, Petersburg; Sam Riley, Romney, and John Hershberger, Elk Garden.

Those named on the third team were Dewayne Raines, Circleville; Eddie Linn, Fort Ashby; Eugene Smith, West Virginia School for the Deaf; Chester Merriman, Wardensville, and "Rick" Kephart, Keyser.

Vote Trophy For Track

Track and field was officially recognized as a P.V.C. sport and the conference voted a $10 trophy to the school winning the annual meet. Wesley Abrams, Romney High School coach, proposed that the conference adopt track as a major sport. It was indicated that Fort Hill Stadium in Cumberland will be sought as the site for this year's meet.

A proposal that a $10 across-the-board membership fee be charged all schools in the conference was offered by Frederick "Tack" Clark and adopted by a vote of 8-5.

Parker Black, principal of Keyser High School, submitted a new plan for selection of all-conference basketball teams and the idea was favored by 11 schools. A committee headed by Black will accept selections from three sources, namely, all-opponents, chosen by the players; coaches' selections and those submitted by the conference statistician. Candidates then will be voted on at the annual November meeting.

Southern High School of Oakland announced it was seeking three more baseball games to attain the conference minimum of eight games for the 1956 season.

A proposal to split the conference into two divisions failed because of lack of interest.

Marker New President

J. William Marker, principal of Fort Ashby High School, who served as vice president for the past year, presided in the absence of John B. Twigg, of Romney, and was elected president for the ensuing year. Carl H. Everly, vice principal of Southern High School, Oakland, was elected vice president, and James W. Goldsworthy, vice principal of Keyser High School, was elected secretary-treasurer.

One Berth Open In 12-Team NIT Cage Tourney

Okla. A&M, Lafayette, St. Joseph's Accept

[By The Associated Press]

Only one berth remained open in the 12-team National Invitation Basketball Tournament today as Oklahoma A&M and two Pennsylvania teams—St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Lafayette—accepted bids yesterday.

The NCAA championship tournament also neared completion with but four spots still unfilled in the nation-wide, 25-team field. Completion of conference title races in the Big Ten, Big Seven and Ohio Valley will fill three of the vacancies while the Southeastern Conference was conducting a membership vote to determine its representative.

The final NIT berth may be filled by either Brigham Young, the Skyline Conference runnerup, or Wagner, a small New York college team with an 18-3 record.

Oklahoma A&M, making its fourth NIT appearance after third place finishes in 1938 and 1940 and a fourth place showing in 1944, has a 17-8 record with one game remaining.

First NIT For St. Joseph's

This will be the first NIT for St. Joseph's (20-4), but the second for Lafayette (20-5), which lost to Niagara in the 1955 first round. The two Pennsylvania clubs meet tonight with Lafayette already holding a decision over St. Joseph's this season.

The rest of the NIT field lists defending champion Duquesne, Dayton, Louisville, Marquette, Xavier (Ohio), Niagara, Seton Hall and St. Francis of Brooklyn. The tourney runs March 17 through March 24 at Madison Square Garden.

The NCAA, which begins sectional eliminations March 12 with the national championship final set for Evanston, Ill., March 23, looks like this:

The Southeast Conference is voting on whether to send its champion, Alabama, into the tournament or use the runnerup, Kentucky, since Alabama's five regulars are ineligible under NCAA rules which forbid four-year men to compete.

A poll is being taken among conference directors and Bernie Moore, conference commissioner, said he expects an announcement today.

Iowa Needs Victory

Iowa needed a victory over Indiana last night to take the Big Ten crown, and a berth in the NCAA. Illinois still had a chance in case of an Iowa loss.

Kansas State can qualify as the Big Seven champion by beating Kansas tonight. A loss could eventually produce a four-way tie among K-State, Missouri, Iowa State and Kansas.

The other NCAA berth goes to the winner of the Ohio Valley title. Western Kentucky and Tennessee clash in the first game of a three-way playoff Wednesday with the winner meeting Morehead (Ky) for the crown.

Meanwhile, the lineup for the NCAA preliminaries at Madison Square Garden was announced.

On Monday March 12 Temple and Holy Cross will play in the first game with North Carolina State and Canisius meeting in the second. On the next evening Connecticut and Manhattan meet in the opener with West Virginia presumably playing Dartmouth, the Ivy League champion, in the second.

High scorers were Walburga Schute, 167-410, for Cheerfuls; Shirley Short, 126-382, Friendlys; Lib Rorick, 315 for Jollys; Gertie Wilkes, 109-292, Happys; Annie Dawson 106 and Lucille Davidson, 280 for Merrys; Sara Dentinger, 102-270 for Smilings. The standings:

NEW YORK, March 5—(INS)—Looking for a house to buy? Or an apartment? We've got just th man for you to see. Man name Previews, Inc. All you need i money and a yen for a lot c space. Previews, Inc. will do th rest. It is an international rea estate clearing house.

Going to her serene highness's wedding to the Prince? Then what you want will be that $35,000 apartment for sale in Monaco. "Within a five-minute walk of Prince Rainier's palace." Previews, Inc., can't guarantee, however, that the Prince will let the tenant drop in at odd hours of the day and night.

There's a nice little place for sale near Oldcastle, County Meath, in some of Ireland's best hunting country. "In an enchanting natural park stands this magnificent regency residence . . . 78 acres. 85,000 pounds." Should be snapped up before morning. If so, how about Raymond Loewy's super-modern place at St. Tropez Var France. "Views of the Mediterranean. Price on request."

And then there's that peachy air-conditioned restaurant going begging for $250,000 in St. Johns, Newfoundland. "Liquor license obtainable." Too far? How about the 11-room colonial built in Concord, N. H., in 1779? Take it all for $30,000. Or the dude ranch on Lake Kezar, Center Lovell, Maine. Yours for $125,000. Personally, however, I'd prefer "Chapel Green," a home near Fredericksburg, Va., "built by a relative of George Washington just after the signing of a peace treaty with the Indians." 33 acres. $25,000.

"Cherokee", which looks like a setting for "Gone With The Wind" before the O'Haras went to seed, is for sale on its 900-acre plantation on the Combahee River, Colleton County, S. C. 13-acre lake, 500 acres in rice fields. Wrap it up and take it away for $160,000. Or if that's too big for you, snap up "The Pink House" (1745)—"On Quantin cobbled Chalmers Street, Charleston, S. C. A livable collector's piece" 3-room triplex. (The three rooms are arranged one to each floor.) $17,000.

Previews, Inc., of 49 E. 53rd Street, NYC, has put it all in a fat, slick-paper magazine, filled with illustrations. Makes wonderful reading as you sit in a hall bedroom and dream of life outside the granite canyons of Manhattan.

A nice lady named Audrey Cairo who lives in Rego Park, N. Y., tired of reading "left my bed and board" notices in her newspaper, triumphantly sends me an item from the personal column of the Long Island Daily Press:

MARY BRADLEY RUSSELL
Today, 40 years ago, you became
My bride. All thru the years, since that
Memorable day, you have taken care of me,
In sickness and in health, in good times
And in lean times. Also, you presented
Me with two wonderful daughters whom you
Raised, in your likeness, to be God-fearing,
Good and pure women. I thank God for sparing
You to me all these years and pray that
He will let you be my helpmate for
Many, many more years.
I love you my darling
William Russell.

Bet Old Bill has been eating high off the hog of late.

A year or so ago a famed foreign correspondent, Charles R. Ferlin, one of the founders of the Overseas Press Club of America, was referred to as "the late" in Editor and Publisher. The item shook him out of a long period of hibernation. He returned to Pittsburgh, was remarried to his wife and now is editor and publisher of "Pittsburgh Aviation," a magazine serving that busy crossroads in our commercial air set-up. He has been made a life member of the great club he helped found and which regarded him as not of this world.

It was a premature obit which may rank with Mark Twain's.

Yankees Hustle, Ed Lopat Says

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — What makes the New York basketball Yankees great?

Eddie Lopat, the ex-Yankee pitcher and now manager of the Richmond Virginians of the International League, can answer the question.

"I think I found out what made the Yankees the first few days of spring training the first year I was with the team (1948)," Eddie says. "I heard veterans, fellows like Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich, telling kids who might be thinking of taking it easy for a minute or two, 'Remember, you're Yankees now. Keep working. You can't let up. You can't let the Yankees down.'

"Casey Stengel and the coaches didn't have to say a word. I could see then the Yankees were the Yankees because of pride, and yes, tradition. Fellows like Henrich and DiMaggio were right. You couldn't let the Yankees down."

Lopat, the master of pitching a ball at various speeds, won 166 games in 12 years in the American League. He started with the Chicago White Sox in 1944. In seven full seasons with the Yankees he won 109 games and appeared in five World Series. He won four Series games and lost one.

Last season the Yankees traded him to Baltimore but he was released by the Orioles after the season ended.

The Hillsdale, N. J., resident, now 38, started as a first baseman with Greensburg, Pa., in 1937.

Red Murff, 33 Years Old, Could Be Rookie Of Year

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

BRADENTON, Fla. — Born on April Fool's Day, Red Murff was branded a bit foolish to be starting a baseball career at 27, but he knew what he was doing. Proof: —last year he won 27 games for Dallas in the Texas league and wound up as the "minor league player of the year."

John Robert (Red) Murff, at 33, is a not-so-raw rookie in the Milwaukee Braves' camp here. The Braves thought enough of his minor league record to purchase his contract from Dallas for $40,000 and he's going to get every chance in the world, according to Manager Charlie Grimm, "to make the starting varsity."

"Being bought by Milwaukee, a big league team, was the finest thing that ever happened to me," Red told us in a camp interview. "To think they'd buy a 33-year-old rookie was great news. Of course, I kinda expected it with the record I had and I wanted to make the big league so bad."

Red not only led the league in victories, but also in innings pitched, complete games, earned-run average and shutouts.

"I was bothered a bit by my appendix," Red explained with a toothy grin, "and I lost my catcher, Ray Murray, near the end of the season. He was our run-maker and when he was gone I lost four out of the last six games I pitched, all by one run."

Proudest of all his achievements, in addition to his fine record last year and in the six years he's been in baseball, are his four daughters, ranging in age from 20 months to 13 years.

Red is the son of a farmer. His dad, Louis Murf, played some semi-pro ball as a first baseman.

Red comes from a large family. There were four brothers and five sisters. He played a little football and basketball at Rosebud high at Rosebud, Tex., but he was a little guy then, weighing only 130 pounds. Today he weighs in at 192 and stands 6 feet 3 inches tall.

In the Cubs' chain at first Red pitcher for Baton Rouge in 1950, his first season, and won 17 and lost four. It was Texas City in 1951 and there he had 19 and 14, including a no-hitter.

In 1952 he was with Tyler and there he won 23 and lost 13. The next year he was purchased by Dallas and prior to the season, pitched an exhibition against the St. Louis Cardinals. He gave up but three hits, all by Stan Musial.

He has been with Dallas since, winning 17 in 1953; 10 in 1954 and the big 27 last year.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 5 (INS) — A happy Tony Curtis telephoned me with two pieces of good news. First and foremost, Janet Leigh is much better and although she has to rest and spend much time in bed, he has every reason to believe that she's going to be all right.

The other is that he's made a deal with Burt Lancaster and Harold Hecht to take his own Curtleigh Productions to them for a series of pictures.

"Because Janet hasn't been well," Tony told me, "we postponed 'The Foolish Immortal,' the Paul Gallico story, to give her a chance to get really strong. So I will star solo in 'The Sweet Smell of Success,' a Cosmopolitan story by Ernest Lehman."

My young friend Patti Paige, who is the rage of TV, tells me via the long distance telephone that she is coming to Los Angeles after she finishes her engagement in Las Vegas March 13.

Patti has several offers from studios, which is not surprising, and she will make a picture. She's gone from a size 12 to size 8 and looks sensational.

Patti says that Charles O'Curran, the boyfriend in her life, has written a whole new act for her, and after she finishes at Las Vegas she goes to Reno. But between engagements she'll keep a few appointments in Hollywood about a film.

As well as getting the chance to watch his beloved New York Giants work out in spring training, it's a sentimental journey Jeff Chandler is making to Phoenix with his wife Marge. It was just a year ago that the Chandlers called off divorce plans and decided to give their marriage another chance, and the reconciliation took place in Phoenix.

On March 20, Jeff is due in Chicago to handle the press conference for the opening of the Suzan Ball memorial cancer fund drive. Jeff is very active in this very worthy cause and he plans to make other appearances in other cities for this charity.

Linda Darnell is serious about her stage fling. She writes me: "I'm scared stiff about 'Tea and Sympathy' (which she plays in Florida) — but this marvelous magic world of the live theatre is one of the high spots of my whole life."

Changing the subject to something else very close to her heart, Linda told me about plans for the first girls' town, which will be in Italy.

Linda says, "Monsignor Carroll-Abbing of the Boys' Town of Italy and Mrs. George Skouras start soon their nationwide drive for funds for Boys' Town of Italy and will at that time tell about our little project for Girls' Town of Italy. Any help you can give us will be deeply appreciated."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

After a week in New York Terry Moore goes to Miami to visit her bridegroom Eugene McGrath's parents.

Russ Tamblyn and his bride, back from their honeymoon, are moving into a West Hollywood apartment.

Frank Ross of Ciro's Mary Kaye Trio, is expecting to become a father any minute. He took a "time run" from Ciro's to St. John's Hospital to see how long it would take.

Best known for his novel, "I Can Get It For You Wholesale," Jerry Weidman is in town on business.

J. Carrol Naish is getting all the sun he can, because in two months he's off for London to star in "The Lawyer's Dilemma."

Jean Simmons, who has been ailing with virus, had her last portrait sitting for "Hilda Crane," then she goes into reitrement to await the arrival of her baby in August.

Liz Taylor and Mike Wilding have been having a ball in Las Vegas. They like it so well they're staying a week longer than they expected.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, March 5—(INS)—Looking for a house to buy? Or an apartment? We've got just the man for you to see. Man name Previews, Inc. All you need is money and a yen for a lot of space. Previews, Inc. will do the rest. It is an international real estate clearing house.

Going to her serene highness's wedding to the Prince? Then what you want will be that $35,000 apartment for sale in Monaco. "Within a five-minute walk of Prince Rainier's palace," Previews, Inc., can't guarantee, however, that the Prince will let the tenant drop in at odd hours of the day and night.

There's a nice little place for sale near Oldcastle, County Meath, in some of Ireland's best hunting country. "In an enchanting natural park stands this magnificent regency residence . . . 78 acres. 85,000 pounds." Should be snapped up before morning. If so, how about Raymond Loewy's super-modern place at St. Tropez Var France. "Views of the Mediterranean. Price on request."

And then there's that peachy air-conditioned restaurant going begging for $250,000 in St. Johns, Newfoundland. "Liquor license obtainable." Too far? How about the 11-room colonial built in Concord, N. H., in 1779? Take it all for $30,000. Or the dude ranch on Lake Kezar, Center Lovell, Maine. Yours for $125,000. Personally, however, I'd prefer "Chapel Green," a home near Fredericksburg, Va., "built by a relative of George Washington just after the signing of a peace treaty with the Indians." 33 acres. $25,000.

"Cherokee", which looks like a setting for "Gone With The Wind" before the O'Haras went to seed, is for sale on its 900-acre plantation on the Combahee River, Colleton County, S. C. 13-acre lake, 500 acres in rice fields. Wrap it up and take it away for $160,000. Or if that's too big for you, snap up "The Pink House" (1745)—"On Quantin cobbled Chalmers Street, Charleston, S. C. A livable collector's piece" 3-room triplex. (The three rooms are arranged one to each floor.) $17,000.

Previews, Inc., of 49 E. 53rd Street, NYC, has put it all in a fat, slick-paper magazine, filled with illustrations. Makes wonderful reading as you sit in a hall bedroom and dream of life outside the granite canyons of Manhattan.

A nice lady named Audrey Cairo who lives in Rego Park, N. Y., tired of reading "left my bed and board" notices in her newspaper, triumphantly sends me an item from the personal column of the Long Island Daily Press:

MARY BRADLEY RUSSELL
Today, 40 years ago, you became
My bride. All thru the years, since that
Memorable day, you have taken care of me,
In sickness and in health, in good times
And in lean times. Also, you presented
Me with two wonderful daughters whom you
Raised, in your likeness, to be God-fearing,
Good and pure women. I thank God for sparing
You to me all these years and pray that
He will let you be my helpmate for
Many, many more years.
I love you my darling
William Russell.

Bet Old Bill has been eating high off the hog of late.

A year or so ago a famed foreign correspondent, Charles R. Ferlin, one of the founders of the Overseas Press Club of America, was referred to as "the late" in Editor and Publisher. The item shook him out of a long period of hibernation. He returned to Pittsburgh, was remarried to his wife and now is editor and publisher of "Pittsburgh Aviation," a magazine serving that busy crossroads in our commercial air set-up. He has been made a life member of the great club he helped found and which regarded him as not of this world.

It was a premature obit which may rank with Mark Twain's.

Yankees Hustle, Ed Lopat Says

Eddie Lopat, the ex-Yankee pitcher and now manager of the Richmond Virginians of the International League, can answer the question.

"I think I found out what made the Yankees the first few days of spring training the first year I was with the team (1948)," Eddie says. "I heard veterans, fellows like Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich, telling kids who might be thinking of taking it easy for a minute or two, 'Remember, you're Yankees now. Keep working. You can't let up. You can't let the Yankees down.'

"Casey Stengel and the coaches didn't have to say a word. I could see then the Yankees were the Yankees because of pride, and yes, tradition. Fellows like Henrich and DiMaggio were right. You couldn't let the Yankees down."

Lopat, the master of pitching a ball at various speeds, won 166 games in 12 years in the American League. He started with the Chicago White Sox in 1944. In seven full seasons with the Yankees he won 109 games and appeared in five World Series. He won four Series games and lost one.

Last season the Yankees traded him to Baltimore but he was released by the Orioles after the season ended.

The Hillsdale, N. J., resident, now 38, started as a first baseman with Greensburg, Pa., in 1937.

Red Murff, 33 Years Old, Could Be Rookie Of Year

Central Press Sports Editor

BRADENTON, Fla. — Born on April Fool's Day, Red Murff was branded a bit foolish to be starting a baseball career at 27, but he knew what he was doing. Proof: —last year he won 27 games for Dallas in the Texas league and wound up as the "minor league player of the year."

John Robert (Red) Murff, at 33, is a not-so-raw rookie in the Milwaukee Braves' camp here. The Braves thought enough of his minor league record to purchase his contract from Dallas for $40,000 and he's going to get every chance in the world, according to Manager Charlie Grimm, "to make the starting varsity."

"Being bought by Milwaukee, a big league team, was the finest thing that ever happened to me," Red told us in a camp interview. "To think they'd buy a 33-year-old rookie was great news. Of course, I kinda expected it with the record I had and I wanted to make the big league so bad."

Red not only led the league in victories, but also in innings pitched, complete games, earned-run average and shutouts.

"I was bothered a bit by my appendix," Red explained with a toothy grin, "and I lost my catcher, Ray Murray, near the end of the season. He was our run-maker and when he was gone I lost four out of the last six games I pitched, all by one run."

Proudest of all his achievements, in addition to his fine record last year and in the six years he's been in baseball, are his four daughters, ranging in age from 20 months to 13 years.

Red is the son of a farmer. His dad, Louis Murf, played some semi-pro ball as a first baseman.

Red comes from a large family. There were four brothers and five sisters. He played a little football and basketball at Rosebud high at Rosebud, Tex., but he was a little guy then, weighing only 130 pounds. Today he weighs in at 192 and stands 6 feet 3 inches tall.

In the Cubs' chain at first Red pitcher for Baton Rouge in 1950, his first season, and won 17 and lost four. It was Texas City in 1951 and there he had 19 and 14, including a no-hitter.

In 1952 he was with Tyler and there he won 23 and lost 13. The next year he was purchased by Dallas and prior to the season, pitched an exhibition against the St. Louis Cardinals. He gave up but three hits, all by Stan Musial.

He has been with Dallas since, winning 17 in 1953; 10 in 1954 and the big 27 last year.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 5 (INS) — A happy Tony Curtis telephoned me with two pieces of good news. First and foremost, Janet Leigh is much better and although she has to rest and spend much time in bed, he has every reason to believe that she's going to be all right.

The other is that he's made a deal with Burt Lancaster and Harold Hecht to take his own Curtleigh Productions to them for a series of pictures.

"Because Janet hasn't been well," Tony told me, "we postponed 'The Foolish Immortal,' the Paul Gallico story, to give her a chance to get really strong. So I will star solo in 'The Sweet Smell of Success,' a Cosmopolitan story by Ernest Lehman."

My young friend Patti Paige, who is the rage of TV, tells me via the long distance telephone that she is coming to Los Angeles after she finishes her engagement in Las Vegas March 13.

Patti has several offers from studios, which is not surprising, and she will make a picture. She's gone from a size 12 to size 8 and looks sensational.

Patti says that Charles O'Curran, the boyfriend in her life, has written a whole new act for her, and after she finishes at Las Vegas she goes to Reno. But between engagements she'll keep a few appointments in Hollywood about a film.

As well as getting the chance to watch his beloved New York Giants work out in spring training, it's a sentimental journey Jeff Chandler is making to Phoenix with his wife Marge. It was just a year ago that the Chandlers called off divorce plans and decided to give their marriage another chance, and the reconciliation took place in Phoenix.

On March 20, Jeff is due in Chicago to handle the press conference for the opening of the Suzan Ball memorial cancer fund drive. Jeff is very active in this very worthy cause and he plans to make other appearances in other cities for this charity.

Linda Darnell is serious about her stage fling. She writes me: "I'm scared stiff about 'Tea and Sympathy' (which she plays in Florida) — but this marvelous magic world of the live theatre is one of the high spots of my whole life."

Changing the subject to something else very close to her heart, Linda told me about plans for the first girls' town, which will be in Italy.

Linda says, "Monsignor Carroll-Abbing of the Boys' Town of Italy and Mrs. George Skouras start soon their nationwide drive for funds for Boys' Town of Italy and will at that time tell about our little project for Girls' Town of Italy. Any help you can give us will be deeply appreciated."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

After a week in New York Terry Moore goes to Miami to visit her bridegroom Eugene McGrath's parents.

Russ Tamblyn and his bride, back from their honeymoon, are moving into a West Hollywood apartment.

Frank Ross of Ciro's Mary Kaye Trio, is expecting to become a father any minute. He took a "time run" from Ciro's to St. John's Hospital to see how long it would take.

Best known for his novel, "I Can Get It For You Wholesale," Jerry Weidman is in town on business.

J. Carrol Naish is getting all the sun he can, because in two months he's off for London to star in "The Lawyer's Dilemma."

Jean Simmons, who has been ailing with virus, had her last portrait sitting for "Hilda Crane," then she goes into reitrement to await the arrival of her baby in August.

Liz Taylor and Mike Wilding have been having a ball in Las Vegas. They like it so well they're staying a week longer than they expected.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Parking Dilemma

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—William J. Dorsey wants to sell his refrigeration business on Third Ave. "I can't stand it any more," he said. "In the past six months I've paid over $400 in parking fines, with more tickets ahead."

Immunization clinics are held every Thursday from 1 to 4 p. m. at the health office here.

Maple Products Exhibit To Highlight Festival

MEYERSDALE — Maple producers of Somerset County are looking forward to the maple products show to be held in conjunction with the ninth annual Somerset County Maple Festival in Meyersdale March 22-25.

County Maple Producers learned at a meeting last year that of the total amount of syrup produced, 80 per cent was marketed in Somerset County. Only 20 per cent was shipped out in bulk form, and of this amount 75-80 per cent was either second, third or fourth grade syrup. Only a small percentage of top grade syrup was sold outside the area.

This year's contest will be held in the D'Este Building at 123 Center Street, Meyersdale. A board of judges has been selected for the event. They are Walter W. Simonds, Pennsylvania State University; John C. Lichliter, Jr., merchant, Salisbury, James Bochy, agricultural extension association, and Paul Anderson, agricultural extension association.

Rules governing the contest are as follows: competing entries shall be produced or made in Somerset County by the exhibitor; no entry fee will be charged and no charge will be made for space for display; no exhibitor may enter more than one exhibit in any single class; all exhibits shall remain the property of the exhibitor, providing same are claimed between 4 and 8 p. m., Sunday, March 25.

No premium will be awarded in any class unless the exhibits are worthy. (The judges may withhold any premium for lack of merit). Exhibits may be entered at the D'Este Building, Thursday, March 22, until 5 p. m. and judging will begin at 5:30 p. m., the same day; exhibitor's name will not be permitted on exhibits until after judging is completed.

Off And On But Mostly Off

Imogene Coca's return after an absence of a good many months was an on-again-off-again affair but on the whole, I'm afraid, rather a melancholy one. There were two reasons for this. One: listless material (with flashes of very good material indeed that were far too intermittent). Two: Coca.

Ordinarily I admire Imogene Coca extravagantly but this was not her night and it wasn't entirely the fault of the stuff she was dishing out. I think I know why she was missing, too. In a recent interview, Sir Laurence Olivier said among other things that he had played all his movie Shakespearean roles on the stage before committing them to celluloid. Then he said something that I found very interesting, largely because it exemplifies a theory I have alway held and frequently expounded. He said that after playing Hamlet on the stage, he would film a few scenes from the play and then study them because there was always a slight hamminess left over from the stage-playing when he was projecting to the second balcony, which he wanted to eliminate from the movie.

Well, sir, Miss Coca has been playing to night-club audiences in Las Vegas while absent from the cameras and, it seems to me, she was still playing to them and not to the cameras. In short, she was projecting all over the place; the gestures were all six inches too long, the smile one inch too wide, and the voice one decibel too loud. Maybe it was a mistake to toss Miss Coca into so pretentious a vehicle as a 90-minute color spectacular after so long an absence from TV. It might have been wiser to have had a little tuneup race first, perhaps a single routine on somebody else's show.

Now as to that material. The idea of doing a satire on television is a very, very good idea—and it still hasn't been done. "Panorama" was supposed to poke a little fun at some of television's more conspicuous idiocies and it did poke a little fun. Just a little. When it did, the show was quite funny. Tony Randall for instance, did a bit as "your distinguished host—Ronald Fairchild," one of these guys who introduces "your story for tonight" (the "your story" gambit is designed, I guess, to pin the blame on us for their lousy stuff). But first the commercial.

"Aah, that is a beer!" declared Randall. "Aah, that is a cigaret!" (I used to know an obstretician who would sidestep the tedious business of praising newborn babies with the words: "Aah, that is a baby!" which, when you examine it, is an exquisitely noncommercial statement.)

This bit, and the opening bit when the screen credits ran on so interminably that the dancers dropped from exhaustion, and parts of the closing sketch, a satire on operetta, were funny because they hewed close to the spirit of true satire. But the satiric spirit was conspicuous chiefly by its absence. Satire, if its any good at all, hurts. The best satire like Kaufman and Hart's "Once in a Lifetime" about the movie business is absolutely outrageous and absolutely devastating.

There was clear evidence throughout "Panorama" of great editorial timidity. Television—or at any rate NBC—is not quite ready to belabor its own weaknesses with anything like the proper gusto and it's just possible it never will be ready. There will be an excellent satire on television written some day but it will probably appear somewhere else like the stage or the movies where there will be no pressure for restraint.

"Panorama" was not only delinquent in the things it did; it was strikingly remiss in the things it didn't do. Television is rich in idiocy crying out to be satirized. This thing barely scratched the surface. The agony shows, for instance — "This Is Your Life," "Welcome Travellers" etc.—overflow with satiric possibilities. I can think of a dozen others.

One bit I thoroughly enjoyed—but not for the reason the producer expected—was "A Salute to Forgotten Songs." The narrator intimated that they were not only forgotten but terrible songs. Forgotten? Terrible? Why, sirrah, I could introduce you to a quartet in Bleeck's that could sing all of 'em without loss of a word. And as for being terrible, why, dadgumit, a song like "Don't Drop a Quarter in the Meter Because I'd Rather Make Love in the Dark" is worth all the rock and roll songs ever written.

Contract Bridge

NO HARD-AND-FAST RULE

IT IS usually desirable to play a hand in a four-card major suit that is supported by four trumps in dummy, but this is not the hard-and-fast rule that certain players try to make it. At times, notrump is definitely superior to the major-suit contract even with four trumps opposite four. Consider this case:

East dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

This deal occurred in a team contest, and the bidding was decidedly different at the two tables. This was the auction at Table 1:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

East opened a club. Declarer (North) won and led a trump to the jack, then returned a low trump to his own king. East won with the ace and shifted to hearts. West continued the suit, and East overruffed declarer with the ten for the setting trick.

The other South had different views:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	2 N T	Pass	3 N T
Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened his fourth-highest heart. East put up the jack and was permitted to hold the trick. The heart six was covered by the eight and taken by West with the nine, but now West's hand was virtually dead. Not wanting to give declarer a heart trick, West shifted to spades. East won and returned the suit. Declarer took this trick in dummy and led a low diamond toward his jack. Whether East put up the queen or ducked, declarer was assured of four diamond tricks, and since he also had three spade winners, he did not need either a heart trick or the club finesse.

But the satiric spirit was conspicuous chiefly by its absence. Satire, if its any good at all, hurts. The best satire like Kaufman and Hart's "Once in a Lifetime" about the movie business is absolutely outrageous and absolutely devastating.

There was clear evidence throughout "Panorama" of great editorial timidity. Television—or at any rate NBC—is not quite ready to belabor its own weaknesses with anything like the proper gusto and it's just possible it never will be ready. There will be an excellent satire on television written some day but it will probably appear somewhere else like the stage or the movies where there will be no pressure for restraint.

"Panorama" was not only delinquent in the things it did; it was strikingly remiss in the things it didn't do. Television is rich in idiocy crying out to be satirized. This thing barely scratched the surface. The agony shows, for instance — "This Is Your Life," "Welcome Travellers" etc.—overflow with satiric possibilities. I can think of a dozen others.

One bit I thoroughly enjoyed—but not for the reason the producer expected—was "A Salute to Forgotten Songs." The narrator intimated that they were not only forgotten but terrible songs. Forgotten? Terrible? Why, sirrah, I could introduce you to a quartet in Bleeck's that could sing all of 'em without loss of a word. And as for being terrible, why, dadgumit, a song like "Don't Drop a Quarter in the Meter Because I'd Rather Make Love in the Dark" is worth all the rock and roll songs ever written.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

NO HARD-AND-FAST RULE

IT IS usually desirable to play a hand in a four-card major suit that is supported by four trumps in dummy, but this is not the hard-and-fast rule that certain players try to make it. At times, notrump is definitely superior to the major-suit contract even with four trumps opposite four. Consider this case:

East dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ K 6 4 2 ♥ 7 2 ♦ A K 9 8 4 ♣ A 7
♠ 9 3 ♥ A Q 9 5 4 ♦ 7 2 ♣ Q 8 3 2	N W E S	♠ A 10 8 ♥ J 6 ♦ Q 10 6 3 ♣ 10 9 5 4
	♠ Q J 7 5 ♥ K 10 8 3 ♦ J 5 ♣ K J 6

This deal occurred in a team contest, and the bidding was decidedly different at the two tables. This was the auction at Table 1:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

East opened a club. Declarer (North) won and led a trump to the jack, then returned a low trump to his own king. East won with the ace and shifted to hearts. West continued the suit, and East overruffed declarer with the ten for the setting trick.

The other South had different views:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	2 N T	Pass	3 N T
Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened his fourth-highest heart. East put up the jack and was permitted to hold the trick. The heart six was covered by the eight and taken by West with the nine, but now West's hand was virtually dead. Not wanting to give declarer a heart trick, West shifted to spades. East won and returned the suit. Declarer took this trick in dummy and led a low diamond toward his jack. Whether East put up the queen or ducked, declarer was assured of four diamond tricks, and since he also had three spade winners, he did not need either a heart trick or the club finesse.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Z P G Z W N P X M K W Q B S Y W L P M Y S A Z , Q W P K U W J C U W G Z W G J W M S F P — K P U P A X .

Bomber Crew Reunites Here

Five of the crew of a Liberator four-engined bomber which landed at the Cumberland Municipal Airport on September 9, 1943, when one of the engines developed trouble, held a reunion here over the weekend.

They were guests of Kenneth G. Jewell, Bedford Road, who was the commanding officer of the "Bakadori" when it landed here. Three members of the original crew, who were with the plane when it landed here, were killed in action.

Those at the reunion with their wives were T/Sgt. George H. Poirrer, stationed at Langley Air Force Base; William M. Wike, Warren, Ohio; and John S. McCloskey, a member of the New York City Police Department. Also members of the Air Force besides Poirrer are Major Walter Milliner and Captain Matthew Foley.

Court Probates Two Men's Wills

Wills of two local business men who died last month have been probated in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Harry J. Walsh, who was co-owner of the Walsh and McCagh Pharmacy, left his entire estate to his wife, Mrs. Nancy E. Walsh. He died February 7 at the age of 46. Mrs. Walsh qualified as executrix of the estate. The will was dated August 19, 1946.

Also probated was the will of Michael L. Stegmaier, a retired merchant, who died February 6. Executrices of his estate are his wife, Mrs. M. Sophia Stegmaier, and a daughter, Mrs. Helen E. Beckner.

Stegmaier left $500 to SS. Peter and Paul's Catholic Church and gave his wife a life interest in the rest of the estate. Upon her death, the estate is to be shared equally by his five children, Margaret G. Ridgley, Helen E. Beckner, Devota C. Stegmaier, Maurice M. Stegmaier and James G. Stegmaier. The will was dated January 7, 1930.

Another New Record High Posted By Stock Market

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP) — The stock market hit another new record high today in a performance that matched Friday's rally to historic levels.

Gains today were extensive and pushed on to around 5 points at the best. Gains of 1 to 3 points were numerous. Losses weren't very frequent but they went to around 2 points.

Railroads started the ball rolling and had strong help from the nonferrous metals. The Interstate Commerce Commission Friday granted the nation's carriers a 6 per cent freight rate increase, and there was a rush to buy rails at the opening of the stock market today.

Steels gave early help but faded into a mixed position at the close. Motors were mixed as well, and the aircrafts showed a lot of losses. Chemicals, too, were mixed. Gains were shown by the oils, radio-televisions, utilities, and many individual issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.40, the same as on Friday and closed at $183.00, highest on record. On Sept. 23 the average hit a peak of $181.50 just before it slumped when the President became ill. It recovered quickly, however, and on Dec. 5 and 6 it again stood at $181.50.

Buyers fixed their attention on rising stocks. There wasn't a single loser in the list of 15 most active issues.

City Rec Board

when the time comes and know what we are going to move on."

It was pointed out the original intent of the rec bond issue was to acquire additional recreation areas.

Mayor Eves reported the Recreation Board has not made a decision, adding there are so many things it wants and needs that "they are having ~~quite a~~ time deciding, too."

Noting that the board faces a job over cost, Eves said when it comes to getting options on property everybody wants information. He also cited the speculation possibility.

Long said he didn't know about that but when some one asked a question about it, he wanted to give them "an intelligent answer."

Eves replied, "You can. Just tell them you don't know."

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said he felt the same way as Long and voiced the opinion the Mayor and Council should meet with the Recreation Board from time to time since there is a considerable amount of money involved.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said he understood that getting options will give an idea of what the cost of purchasing the area would be. He said that a report may be available in the near future.

Bomber Crew Reunites Here

Five of the crew of a Liberator four-engined bomber which landed at the Cumberland Municipal Airport on September 9, 1943, when one of the engines developed trouble, held a reunion here over the weekend.

They were guests of Kenneth G. Jewell, Bedford Road, who was the commanding officer of the "Bakadori" when it landed here. Three members of the original crew, who were with the plane when it landed here, were killed in action.

Those at the reunion with their wives were T/Sgt. George H. Poirrer, stationed at Langley Air Force Base; William M. Wike, Warren, Ohio; and John S. McCloskey, a member of the New York City Police Department. Also members of the Air Force besides Poirrer are Major Walter Milliner and Captain Matthew Foley.

Court Probates Two Men's Wills

Wills of two local business men who died last month have been probated in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Harry J. Walsh, who was co-owner of the Walsh and McCagh Pharmacy, left his entire estate to his wife, Mrs. Nancy E. Walsh. He died February 7 at the age of 46. Mrs. Walsh qualified as executrix of the estate. The will was dated August 19, 1946.

Also probated was the will of Michael L. Stegmaier, a retired merchant, who died February 6. Executrices of his estate are his wife, Mrs. M. Sophia Stegmaier, and a daughter, Mrs. Helen E. Beckner.

Stegmaier left $500 to SS. Peter and Paul's Catholic Church and gave his wife a life interest in the rest of the estate. Upon her death, the estate is to be shared equally by his five children, Margaret G. Ridgley, Helen E. Beckner, Devota C. Stegmaier, Maurice M. Stegmaier and James G. Stegmaier. The will was dated January 7, 1930.

Another New Record High Posted By Stock Market

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP) — The stock market hit another new record high today in a performance that matched Friday's rally to historic levels.

Gains today were extensive and pushed on to around 5 points at the best. Gains of 1 to 3 points were numerous. Losses weren't very frequent but they went to around 2 points.

Railroads started the ball rolling and had strong help from the nonferrous metals. The Interstate Commerce Commission Friday granted the nation's carriers a 6 per cent freight rate increase, and there was a rush to buy rails at the opening of the stock market today.

Steels gave early help but faded into a mixed position at the close. Motors were mixed as well, and the aircrafts showed a lot of losses. Chemicals, too, were mixed. Gains were shown by the oils, radio-televisions, utilities, and many individual issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.40, the same as on Friday and closed at $183.00, highest on record. On Sept. 23 the average hit a peak of $181.50 just before it slumped when the President became ill. It recovered quickly, however, and on Dec. 5 and 6 it again stood at $181.50.

Buyers fixed their attention on rising stocks. There wasn't a single loser in the list of 15 most active issues.

when the time comes and know what we are going to move on."

It was pointed out the original intent of the rec bond issue was to acquire additional recreation areas.

Mayor Eves reported the Recreation Board has not made a decision, adding there are so many things it wants and needs that "they are having quite a time deciding, too."

Noting that the board faces a job over cost, Eves said when it comes to getting options on property everybody wants information. He also cited the speculation possibility.

Long said he didn't know about that but when some one asked a question about it, he wanted to give them "an intelligent answer."

Eves replied, "You can. Just tell them you don't know."

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said he felt the same way as Long and voiced the opinion the Mayor and Council should meet with the Recreation Board from time to time since there is a considerable amount of money involved.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said he understood that getting options will give an idea of what the cost of purchasing the area would be. He said that a report may be available in the near future.

D. John Markey Will Not Seek Seat In Senate

Others Withdraw From Contests

ANNAPOLIS, March 5 (AP)—The battle lines for Maryland's May 7 primary tightened today as the midnight hour for withdrawing from the ballot drew near.

D. John Markey announced from Frederick he would withdraw before the deadline as a candidate for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Another GOP senatorial candidate, Harold John Redgrave of Clarksburg, also withdrew, leaving incumbent John Marshall Butler with only Earl E. (Skip) Knepper of Clearspring and Henry J. Laque Jr. of Linthicum in the field against him.

Markey, retired Army general who was narrowly beaten by Herbert R. O'Conor in the 1946 election and came close to winning the nomination from Butler in 1950, was injured in an automobile accident last fall. He said today the severity of those injuries makes it impossible to carry on a campaign.

And the 6th District Democratic congressional field was cut down when Victor A. Leisner of Rockville withdrew in favor of John R. Foley of Kensington, citing party unity.

This left Foley, J. Grahame Walker of Bethesda and Robert W. Cremins of Chevy Chase to compete for a berth against Republican incumbent DeWitt S. Hyde in November.

Work Started On Lonaconing Safety Walk

Council Conducts Routine Session

Work was started yesterday by the State Roads Commission on a much discussed sidewalk project in Lonaconing.

Mayor Virgil Alexander told the Town Council at last night's regular meeting that the project is finally underway and after the sidewalk on the bridge is completed pedestrians will have a safe area in which to walk.

Some time ago, the town made a check of the number of persons walking across this bridge on State Route 36 in the eastern section of the town, after several had narrowly been missed by autos. It was found that several hundred persons going to and from school, church and other activities used the bridge daily.

SRC Petitioned

The State Roads Commission was petitioned repeatedly to install a proper sidewalk or walk area. After numerous letters, telephone calls and personal contacts, the work was started yesterday, the mayor reported. He explained that the state will pay for the sidewalk and the town will pay for the approaches.

In other action at the Lonaconing council meeting, discussion on a traffic light at Douglas Avenue and Main Street was tabled until the next meeting. The Street Department was ordered to repaint all red and yellow curbs. A donation of $10 was voted for the Red Cross.

A protest was filed by police and several residents about the location and the manner of erection, of SRC "school warning" signs placed near Central School. The council ordered an investigation and is asking the SRC for a conference.

Council approved a request of the Board of Election Supervisors to conduct a registration of new voters in the Council Hall on April 4, 5, 6 and 7.

Will File Suits

Town Attorney James Getty was ordered to file suit against two property owners who failed to comply with town orders to repair sidewalks. The work was done by the town and the property owners billed. The bills have not been paid and council ordered legal action.

The council ordered the purchase of five 50-foot lengths of fire home. Five sections have been worn out or damaged by the street department and must be replaced. Part of the hose had been borrowed from the Good Will Fire Company, council was informed.

Building permits were issued to two property owners. James A. Burt plans to build a new house on Dutch Row, and Rev. C. H. Gosborn, who has purchased a property on Castle Hill, wants to add a porch and do some remodeling.

A contract was made with Clinton Russell to make some extensive and badly needed repairs to the town's truck.

Meets On Thursday

Allegany County Chapter, Dale Carnegie International, will meet on Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the George Williams Room, Central YMCA, according to John Vocke president.

The "Triumphal March" from "Sigurd Jorsalfar" by Grieg will be the first number by the orchestra. Miss Carole E. Reith, music teacher at Oldtown High School, will conduct this selection.

Then with William D. Simpson, Bruce High School music teacher, conducting, the orchestra will play "Song of Jupiter" by Handel-Anderson. An old favorite, the "Light Cavalry Overture," with Joseph Derry, Valley High School teacher, directing, will then be presented.

Miss Patricia Kerns of Allegany High School is scheduled for a violin solo, "Allegro Brillant" by W. Ten Have. She will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Patricia Ann Smith, another Allegany student.

"Espana Cani, Paso-Doble" by Marquina, and "Fairest of the Fair" by Sousa will be played by the 143-piece band under the direction of Robert O. Nutter, Fort Hill High School music teacher, as the final selections.

Keyser Youth Remains Critical

An 18-year-old Keyser boy remains in critical condition at Potomac Valley Hospital after he stole an automobile, gave West Virginia state police a chase, and crashed the vehicle into a tree.

Hospital attaches yesterday said Herman P. Miller, 18, is still unconscious and remains "very critical."

He was admitted shortly after 1 a. m. Sunday after being pulled from the wrecked auto by Cpl. Evan Moody of the Keyser detachment of the West Virginia State Police.

City Rec Board Plans Decision On Playfield

Subject Discussed At Council Meeting

Mayor Roy W. Eves announced yesterday that the City Recreation Board expects to reach a definite decision soon on a proposal to acquire Southview Addition, South Cumberland, for a community recreation center.

The board, he said, hopes to be ready to issue a definite recommendation at a meeting called March 13 at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall.

Mayor Eves yesterday afternoon called a special meeting of the Recreation Board after the use of a $150,000 bond issue came up in the morning council meeting.

Attending were representatives of the board, headed by Chief Judge George Henderson; Mayor Eves, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, was asked to sit in on the meeting. Mayor Eves said, in view of the fact there has been some discussion of locating a new school in the vicinity of Southview Addition.

To Give Decision

No decisions were reached at the informal meeting, the Mayor said, but the board hopes to be ready to report to the City Council after the March 13 meeting.

Southview Addition contains about 21 acres of land, located south of Jane Frazier Village.

At present, $143,361.07 remains in the fund, according to Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

How the money is to be spent has been under discussion for some time.

The playfield, located in South End, was one of the recommendations of a National Recreation Association survey here.

Other proposals call for $50,000 of the fund be used to purchase the State Armory as a community recreation center, and for other funds to be used to improve existing playgrounds.

Mayor Eves said it is the feeling of the rec board that Southview Addition should come first.

Long Asks Decision

Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday "it is time for the Cumberland Recreation Board to tell its plans to the people," in connection with the expenditure of the recreation bond issue.

Long spoke out at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council and urged that council meet with the board to find out just what is to be done.

He stated that all of the reported plans cannot be covered by the $150,000 available, and he wants to know whether it is to go for acquisition of South View Addition property or the Armory, Stitcher Field, Ridgedale improvements "or what?"

Long continued that "people are asking questions," and added "we ought to be ready to move

City Misses Blood Quota By Two Pints

Westernport Visit Set For Today

Cumberland came within two pints of its 150 pint blood quota for March yesterday, when 148 pints of blood were collected. The quota would have been met, but 17 persons who offered blood were rejected because of colds or other disability.

A total of 135 people kept their appointments and 30 volunteer walk-ins appeared. There were 13 first time donors yesterday.

Four persons, regular donors, earned their membership to the Two Gallon Club yesterday. They are Robert A. Mathews, 619 Piedmont Avenue; Mrs. Joseph Jenkins, Potomac Park; Rudolph Kompanek, 342 Reservoir Avenue, and John A. Davis, 633 Elm Street.

Twelve names were added to the Gallon Club roster as each gave his or her eighth pint. The list includes Gilbert T. Bohn, LaVale; Billy V. Shirk, Williams Road; Miss Christine Alderton, RFD No. 2; Kenneth C. Wills, 515 Beall Street; Allan C. Onderdonk, 642 Lincoln Street; Lorenzo Chambers Jr., RFD No. 1; Ernest J. Fauss Jr., 913 Brentwood Street; Mrs. Paul Glessner, 604 Hill Street; Joseph Wilhelm, Mt. Savage; Orville G. Rhodes, 9 Roberts Street; James T. Flannagan, 22 Frost Avenue, Frostburg, and Mrs. Harry Vogel, 106 North Allegany Street.

The next visit of the bloodmobile unit to the Eagles Home here will be Monday, April 2.

Today, the unit will collect blood at Westernport, where the collection is being set up this afternoon from noon until 6 p. m. at Victory Post American Legion home. Quota for that area is also 150 pints.

The blood collection and blood bank program here is conducted by the Red Cross, and provides blood for local hospitals, the Armed Forces and the civilian blood bank. Under this program, hospitals cannot charge for the donated blood, but make a nominal charge for administration only.

Md. Holy Name Will Convene

Plans for the State Convention of the Holy Name Society which will be held here on April 29, will be discussed on Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in St. Patrick's Hall, Mt. Savage, during a meeting of the Western Maryland Section of the society.

James Coyle, president of the section, last night announced that committees are expected to be named at the Sunday meeting.

Approximately 1,500 members from throughout Maryland are expected to attend the convention which will be held at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Oldtown Road.

Spiritual director of the section is Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church.

Taxpayers Urged To File Returns Before Deadline

Another appeal for taxpayers to file their U. S. income tax returns was released by C. I. Fox, district director of Internal Revenue in Baltimore.

Fox said that only about 600,000 taxpayers have filed out of approximately 1,650,000 due in Maryland by April 16. Processing the balance of the returns throws a tremendous work load on the office if taxpayers wait until the last minute.

The final date for filing is April 16 because the normal deadline of April 15 falls on Sunday. Fox asks taxpayers not to wait until the final day.

Becomes First Class Girl Scout

Johnson Heights PTA Girl Scout Troop Marks 24th Anniversary At Ceremony

Girl Scout Troop No. 13, sponsored by the Johnson Heights Parent Teacher Association, marked its 24th birthday yesterday at its regular weekly meeting, and entertained mothers, scout committee members and other guests.

The affair was featured by a Court of Awards and a number of scouts received badges with one being advanced to first class scout.

Troop 13 has the distinction of being the oldest continually chartered and active troop in the council which has always had the same sponsor and same meeting place.

Registered In 1932

The troop was first registered March 9, 1932 and the first leader was Mrs. Franklin L. Spear, no longer a resident of the city. Mrs. Ray H. Lapp, 716 East Oldtown Road, was one of the first committee members. At that time, her sister-in-law, Miss Emily Lapp, was executive director. Another sister-in-law, Miss Irene Lapp, is now treasurer of the Girl Scout Established Camp Committee.

Miss Pauline Fisher of the City Health Department, who later entered the Army to become a WAC, was leader of the troop from 1934 to 1941. One of the first committee women was Mrs. Lee Witherup, now executive secretary of Allegany County Red Cross Chapter.

Mrs. J. Elmer Minnicks, 717 Hill Top Drive, was assistant leader from 1940 to 1946. Mrs. Alonzo Plummer came into the troop as a committee member in 1948 and she is today the chairman of the troop committee.

Mrs. Charles B. Hornbrook, Winifred Road, was troop leader from 1947 to 1954 when she resigned. Mrs. A. J. Cioni, 703 Bedford Street, treasurer of Cumberland Council Girl Scouts was assistant leader from 1948-1950.

Troop 13 now has as its leader Mrs. Marion H. Poling, 614 Memorial Avenue, wife of Dr. Robert K. Poling, local dentist.

Continuous Record

Troop 13 has a long and continuous record of service to church, home, school and community, in addition to a good record of girls trained in right living as taught by the Girl Scout program. They are leaders in many scout projects and last year sold more Girl Scout cookies than any other troop, thus sending more of their girls to camp. In 1935 they established a record for cookie sales, won a Council campership and Jewell Burns, the scout with the best sales record, was presented a ring.

But their efforts are generally directed to making favors and gifts for hospitals, taking part in civic and community enterprises, and generally boosting their troop, their school and their community.

At yesterday's Court of Awards, Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive director, presented Mary Ann Lewis, 711 Glenmore Street, with her first class scout award. Mary Ann has been a Scout eight years, two of which were in a Brownie troop. She has completed all the tests necessary during that time to become a first class Girl Scout, and the honor was bestowed upon her at a troop formation by Miss Hurlburt.

A number of badges were presented by Miss Hurlburt and the troop leader, Mrs. Poling.

Among them were, second class scout awards to Susie Bender, Janet McGregor, Joy Meeks, Joan Sheldon and Jackie Reuschel. Cooking Badges to Karen Ullery, Susie Bender, Jonelle Miller, Joy Meeks, Joan Sheldon, Charlene Sibley, Jane Berry, Janet McGregor, Sue Dickinson and Sandra Calhoun.

Dog and cat badges to Sandra Sonner and Joy Matthews.

Good grooming badges to Judy Menges, Joan Roland, Bobbie Hinkle, Barbara Linn, Sharon Blume, Joy Matthews, Diane Lewis, Sandra Sonner, Jackie Reuschel, Peggy Dill, Jo Ann Berry and Linda McMichael.

Mary Ann Lewies was presented a tree badge. Judy Menges and Diane Lewis received homemakers badges.

Outdoor cooking badges went to Diane Lewis and Mary Ann Lewis.

A swimming badge was awarded to Mary Ann Lewis who also became a first class scout and a seamstress badge was presented to Joan Roland.

Mercury Hits High For Year

In downtown Cumberland the unofficial temperature at 3:30 p. m. was 74 degrees and by 9:30 p. m. the mercury had dipped to a comfortable 56 degrees.

The spring-like weather apparently is going to be short lived, according to the weatherman, who forecast partly cloudy skies today with scattered showers or thunderstorms likely.

The high temperature in the western portion is expected to be about 60 degrees. Residents of Cumberland and area shed their topcoats yesterday although the breeze was a bit blustery.

Scoutmaster's Course Planned This Weekend

Allee And Johnson Will Head Staff

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will sponsor a basic scoutmaster's course at Camp Potomac this weekend, according to Dean K. S. McKee, Keyser, council training chairman.

At least 30 adult scouters are expected to attend the course which will begin Saturday at 2 p. m. and close Sunday at 2 p. m.

Veteran Scouters William Allee, Cumberland, and Leonard Johnson, Lonaconing, will head the instruction staff.

They have recruited a staff of veteran scouters to assist in the discussions and demonstrations on troop organization, leadership, program planning, troop meetings and on how to help individual scouts grow in scouting.

Allee and Leonard last summer received special training in a Wood Badge Course and report the training program will be of value to those responsible for the operation of a troop.

The course is open to all scouters, 18 or over. Scouters will sleep in the cabins at camp and all meals will be served in the dining hall.

McKee said reservations should be returned to the council office by Friday.

VFW Meet Postponed

Members of Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW, will nominate officers during a meeting scheduled tomorrow at 8 p. m. The meeting, originally planned this evening, has been postponed until tomorrow.

Fires In Area Keep Forestry Personnel Busy

Several Blazes Get Out Of Control

Forestry department personnel and volunteer firemen of the area were kept busy yesterday afternoon fighting a number of brush and woods fires which were fanned by gusty winds.

At least three, according to William H. Johnson, district forester, were caused when fires built by housewives got out of control and burned over large tracts of land.

All of the fires were reported under control last night, Johnson added. Volunteer firemen from Cresaptown and forestry department personnel were called about 2 p. m. to the Pinto area in the vicinity of McKenzie Tunnel.

Woodland Blaze

As a result of the blaze some three quarters of an acre of woodland and one and a half acres of grass were burned over. Shortly after the flames were brought under control the volunteers went to a fire which burned out of control along U. S. Route 220 near Pinto.

Some four acres of woodland and four acres of grass were scorched, Johnson said. Aiding in fighting the blaze were Brook Bodkin, senior forest supervisor, and Forest Guard George Brown, who was also on the scene of the other blaze.

Another fire occurred about 2:20 p. m. yesterday near Ocean when a housewife was burning debris and the flames got out of control burning over two acres of grass and woodland.

Midland volunteer firemen and Harlan Upole, Savage River forest superintendent, fought the flames and brought them under control.

Short Circuit

Over on Martins Mountain, a short circuit in a distribution line of the Potomac Edison Company was blamed for a fire which badly burned a utility pole and brush in the immediate area.

Johnson said the fire occurred in the Consolidated Orchards. Forest Guard William Slider was on the scene and a crew from Potomac Edison was sent out to repair the damage to the company property.

A number of false alarms were also received yesterday as residents were burning debris and the burning operation was properly supervised.

Johnson pointed out that a rash of grass fires also hit Garrett County as well as Frederick and Washington during the afternoon.

Residents are reminded that the controlled burning season extends through the months of March, April and May.

D. John Markey Will Not Seek Seat In Senate

Others Withdraw From Contests

ANNAPOLIS, March 5 (AP)—The battle lines for Maryland's May 7 primary tightened today as the midnight hour for withdrawing from the ballot drew near.

D. John Markey announced from Frederick he would withdraw before the deadline as a candidate for the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate.

Another GOP senatorial candidate, Harold John Redgrave of Clarksburg, also withdrew, leaving incumbent John Marshall Butler with only Earl E. (Skip) Knepper of Clearspring and Henry J. Laque Jr. of Linthicum in the field against him.

Markey, retired Army general who was narrowly beaten by Herbert R. O'Conor in the 1946 election and came close to winning the nomination from Butler in 1950, was injured in an automobile accident last fall. He said today the severity of those injuries makes it impossible to carry on a campaign.

And the 6th District Democratic congressional field was cut down when Victor A. Leisner of Rockville withdrew in favor of John R. Foley of Kensington, citing party unity.

This left Foley, J. Grahame Walker of Bethesda and Robert W. Cremins of Chevy Chase to compete for a berth against Republican incumbent DeWitt S. Hyde in November.

Work Started On Lonaconing Safety Walk

Council Conducts Routine Session

Work was started yesterday by the State Roads Commission on a much discussed sidewalk project in Lonaconing.

Mayor Virgil Alexander told the Town Council at last night's regular meeting that the project is finally underway and after the sidewalk on the bridge is completed pedestrians will have a safe area in which to walk.

Some time ago, the town made a check of the number of persons walking across this bridge on State Route 36 in the eastern section of the town, after several had narrowly been missed by autos. It was found that several hundred persons going to and from school, church and other activities used the bridge daily.

SRC Petitioned

The State Roads Commission was petitioned repeatedly to install a proper sidewalk or walk area. After numerous letters, telephone calls and personal contacts, the work was started yesterday, the mayor reported. He explained that the state will pay for the sidewalk and the town will pay for the approaches.

In other action at the Lonaconing council meeting, discussion on a traffic light at Douglas Avenue and Main Street was tabled until the next meeting. The Street Department was ordered to repaint all red and yellow curbs. A donation of $10 was voted for the Red Cross.

A protest was filed by police and several residents about the location and the manner of erection, of SRC "school warning" signs placed near Central School. The council ordered an investigation and is asking the SRC for a conference.

Council approved a request of the Board of Election Supervisors to conduct a registration of new voters in the Council Hall on April 4, 5, 6 and 7.

Will File Suits

Town Attorney James Getty was ordered to file suit against two property owners who failed to comply with town orders to repair sidewalks. The work was done by the town and the property owners billed. The bills have not been paid and council ordered legal action.

The council ordered the purchase of five 50-foot lengths of fire home. Five sections have been worn out or damaged by the street department and must be replaced. Part of the hose had been borrowed from the Good Will Fire Company, council was informed.

Building permits were issued to two property owners. James A. Burt plans to build a new house on Dutch Row, and Rev. C. H. Goshorn, who has purchased a property on Castle Hill, wants to add a porch and do some remodeling.

A contract was made with Clinton Russell to make some extensive and badly needed repairs to the town's truck.

Meets On Thursday

Allegany County Chapter, Dale Carnegie International, will meet on Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the George Williams Room, Central YMCA, according to John Vocke president.

Plans for the State Convention of the Holy Name Society which will be held here on April 29, will be discussed on Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in St. Patrick's Hall, Mt. Savage, during a meeting of the Western Maryland Section of the society.

James Coyle, president of the section, last night announced that committees are expected to be named at the Sunday meeting.

Approximately 1,500 members from throughout Maryland are expected to attend the convention which will be held at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Oldtown Road.

Spiritual director of the section is Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church.

Taxpayers Urged To File Returns Before Deadline

Another appeal for taxpayers to file their U. S. income tax returns was released by C. I. Fox, district director of Internal Revenue in Baltimore.

Fox said that only about 600,000 taxpayers have filed out of approximately 1,650,000 due in Maryland by April 16. Processing the balance of the returns throws a tremendous work load on the office if taxpayers wait until the last minute.

The final date for filing is April 16 because the normal deadline of April 15 falls on Sunday. Fox asks taxpayers not to wait until the final day.

Mary Ann Lewis, 711 Glenmore Street, a student at Fort Hill High School, is shown here yesterday afternoon at a meeting of Girl Scout Troop No. 13 in Johnson Heights School, receiving her first class Girl Scout award, the highest presented at an anniversary troop court of awards. The presentation is being made by Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive. At the extreme right is Mrs. Robert K. Poling troop leader, while looking on is Mrs. Alonzo Plummer, chairman of the troop committee. The troop, oldest in continuous service, is sponsored by the Johnson Heights PTA.

Johnson Heights PTA Girl Scout Troop Marks 24th Anniversary At Ceremony

Girl Scout Troop No. 13, sponsored by the Johnson Heights Parent Teacher Association, marked its 24th birthday yesterday at its regular weekly meeting, and entertained mothers, scout committee members and other guests.

The affair was featured by a Court of Awards and a number of scouts received badges with one being advanced to first class scout.

Troop 13 has the distinction of being the oldest continually chartered and active troop in the council which has always had the same sponsor and same meeting place.

Registered In 1932

The troop was first registered March 9, 1932 and the first leader was Mrs. Franklin L. Spear, no longer a resident of the city. Mrs. Ray H. Lapp, 716 East Oldtown Road, was one of the first committee members. At that time, her sister-in-law, Miss Emily Lapp, was executive director. Another sister-in-law, Miss Irene Lapp, is now treasurer of the Girl Scout Established Camp Committee.

Miss Pauline Fisher of the City Health Department, who later entered the Army to become a WAC, was leader of the troop from 1934 to 1941. One of the first committee women was Mrs. Lee Witherup, now executive secretary of Allegany County Red Cross Chapter.

Mrs. J. Elmer Minnicks, 717 Hill Top Drive, was assistant leader from 1940 to 1946. Mrs. Alonzo Plummer came into the troop as a committee member in 1948 and she is today the chairman of the troop committee.

Mrs. Charles B. Hornbrook, Winifred Road, was troop leader from 1947 to 1954 when she resigned. Mrs. A. J. Cioni, 703 Bedford Street, treasurer of Cumberland Council Girl Scouts was assistant leader from 1948-1950.

Troop 13 now has as its leader Mrs. Marion H. Poling, 614 Memorial Avenue, wife of Dr. Robert K. Poling, local dentist.

Continuous Record

Troop 13 has a long and continuous record of service to church, home, school and community, in addition to a good record of girls trained in right living as taught by the Girl Scout program. They are leaders in many scout projects and last year sold more Girl Scout cookies than any other troop, thus sending more of their girls to camp. In 1935 they established a record for cookie sales, won a Council campership and Jewell Burns, the scout with the best sales record, was presented a ring.

But their efforts are generally directed to making favors and gifts for hospitals, taking part in civic and community enterprises, and generally boosting their troop, their school and their community.

At yesterday's Court of Awards, Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive director, presented Mary Ann Lewis, 711 Glenmore Street, with her first class scout award. Mary Ann has been a Scout eight years, two of which were in a Brownie troop. She has completed all the tests necessary during that time to become a first class Girl Scout, and the honor was bestowed upon her at a troop formation by Miss Hurlburt.

A number of badges were presented by Miss Hurlburt and the troop leader, Mrs. Poling.

Among them were, second class scout awards to Susie Bender, Janet McGregor, Joy Meeks, Joan Sheldon and Jackie Reuschel. Cooking Badges to Karen Ullery, Susie Bender, Jonelle Miller, Joy Meeks, Joan Sheldon, Charlene Sibley, Jane Berry, Janet McGregor, Sue Dickinson and Sandra Calhoun.

Dog and cat badges to Sandra Sonner and Joy Matthews.

Good grooming badges to Judy Menges, Joan Roland, Bobbie Hinkle, Barbara Linn, Sharon Blume, Joy Matthews, Diane Lewis, Sandra Sonner, Jackie Reuschel, Peggy Dill, Jo Ann Berry and Linda McMichael.

Mary Ann Lewies was presented a tree badge. Judy Menges and Diane Lewis received homemakers badges.

Outdoor cooking badges went to Diane Lewis and Mary Ann Lewis.

A swimming badge was awarded to Mary Ann Lewis who also became a first class scout and a seamstress badge was presented to Joan Roland.

Mercury Hits High For Year

The temperature soared to a balmy 72 degrees in Cumberland yesterday, the highest recorded reading so far this year.

Robert R. Golden, official weather observer at Constitution Park, pointed out that yesterday's high temperature was not a record.

In downtown Cumberland the unofficial temperature at 3:30 p. m. was 74 degrees and by 9:30 p. m. the mercury had dipped to a comfortable 56 degrees.

The spring-like weather apparently is going to be short lived, according to the weatherman, who forecast partly cloudy skies today with scattered showers or thunderstorms likely.

The high temperature in the western portion is expected to be about 60 degrees. Residents of Cumberland and area shed their topcoats yesterday although the breeze was a bit blustery.

Scoutmaster's Course Planned This Weekend

Allee And Johnson Will Head Staff

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will sponsor a basic scoutmaster's course at Camp Potomac this weekend, according to Dean K. S. McKee, Keyser, council training chairman.

At least 30 adult scouters are expected to attend the course which will begin Saturday at 2 p. m. and close Sunday at 2 p. m.

Veteran Scouters William Allee, Cumberland, and Leonard Johnson, Lonaconing, will head the instruction staff.

They have recruited a staff of veteran scouters to assist in the discussions and demonstrations on troop organization, leadership, program planning, troop meetings and on how to help individual scouts grow in scouting.

Allee and Leonard last summer received special training in a Wood Badge Course and report the training program will be of value to those responsible for the operation of a troop.

The course is open to all scouters, 18 or over. Scouters will sleep in the cabins at camp and all meals will be served in the dining hall.

McKee said reservations should be returned to the council office by Friday.

VFW Meet Postponed

Fires In Area Keep Forestry Personnel Busy

Several Blazes Get Out Of Control

Forestry department personnel and volunteer firemen of the area were kept busy yesterday afternoon fighting a number of brush and woods fires which were fanned by gusty winds.

At least three, according to William H. Johnson, district forester, were caused when fires built by housewives got out of control and burned over large tracts of land.

All of the fires were reported under control last night, Johnson added. Volunteer firemen from Cresaptown and forestry department personnel were called about 2 p. m. to the Pinto area in the vicinity of McKenzie Tunnel.

Woodland Blaze

As a result of the blaze some three quarters of an acre of woodland and one and a half acres of grass were burned over. Shortly after the flames were brought under control the volunteers went to a fire which burned out of control along U. S. Route 220 near Pinto.

Some four acres of woodland and four acres of grass were scorched, Johnson said. Aiding in fighting the blaze were Brook Bodkin, senior forest supervisor, and Forest Guard George Brown, who was also on the scene of the other blaze.

Another fire occurred about 2:20 p. m. yesterday near Ocean when a housewife was burning debris and the flames got out of control burning over two acres of grass and woodland.

Midland volunteer firemen and Harlan Upole, Savage River forest superintendent, fought the flames and brought them under control.

Short Circuit

Over on Martins Mountain, a short circuit in a distribution line of the Potomac Edison Company was blamed for a fire which badly burned a utility pole and brush in the immediate area.

Johnson said the fire occurred in the Consolidated Orchards. Forest Guard William Slider was on the scene and a crew from Potomac Edison was sent out to repair the damage to the company property.

A number of false alarms were also received yesterday as residents were burning debris and the burning operation was properly supervised.

Johnson pointed out that a rash of grass fires also hit Garrett County as well as Frederick and Washington during the afternoon.

Residents are reminded that the controlled burning season extends through the months of March, April and May.
